Darwin's Baby.
1,100 Per Cent Profit.
Lost 20 Wives, Etc.
Warnings to Middle Age.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

SIR HORACE DARWIN is dead, aged 77.

Seventy-six years ago his father, the great Darwin, was experimenting with little Horace, to prove his theory of man's descent from inferior animals.

He observed that babies cling to hair or whiskers. That's because our monkeylike ancestors as babies clung to their mothers' fur.

Darwin observed that a baby a few days old had great strength in its little fingers. That's because the baby monkey held on to its mother with four little hands, while the mother jumped from tree to tree, at least Darwin says so.

MAKE the right investment in the United States, real estate or securities, and take care of the investment, it will take care of you.

Ask Mr. Thomas McCarter, able head of the New Jersey Public Service Corporation.

Six thousand six hundred dollars invested in this corporation six years ago is worth today $67,320, a return of 1,100 per cent on your money.

Some real estate does even better. It depends on the judgment of the buyer and patience in waiting.

But buy TO KEEP, don't gamble.

CHANG TSUNG-CHANG, Chinese warrior, until lately dictator of Shantung province, went to war, as you read here, leaving behind 28 wives and concubines.

Beaten in battle, he returns and finds only eight of the 28 ladies left, three wives and five concubines. He is hunting for the other 20, lacking wisdom that lets well enough alone.

A WELL-KNOWN merchant, 55 years old, played a "hard, fast" game of tennis, beating players half his age, went home, told his wife about it, and was dead a little later.

Tennis or any other violent game is dangerous to every man past 40.

HOWARD M. ANDERSON, typesetter, 70 years old, very strong, says, "Take a cold bath every morning. I get up at 5, can do cartwheels and handsprings."

Mr. Anderson might do double back somersaults and still it would be foolish for a man of 70, or any age past 30, to take a cold bath in the morning before exercising..

Your nervous system should not be shocked violently, but saved to give warnings and information. A cold bath in the morning in many cases is a short cut to the grave.

DRUMSHAMBO, a little Irish village in County Leitrim, has 300 population and 17 licensed drinking places, one public house for every 18 of the population, and too many.

New York, with 6,000,000 population, has, according to police estimate, only 25,000 speakeasies, one for 240 of population.

THE week in Wall Street opened cheerfully for those that know enough not to sell short. Steel went to a new high price for all time, more than $160 a share, AFTER a distribution of 40 per cent of free stock.

That price renders pensive some that sold the original Steel stock at $15 a share and up in the old days.

RUSSELL SAGE used to say, "Young man, everybody has a chance at least once in his lifetime to buy Western Union at $50. Buy it when your chance comes."

The chance isn't likely to come again. Western Union, in spite of radio and telephone, sells now above $150.

A THOUGHTFUL correspondent, writing from Geneva, says the League of Nations worries about United States domination of world affairs.

The League of Nations needn't. If other nations mind their business, and we mind ours, everything can go smoothly.

We are richer than some other nations, have greater resources. That doesn't hurt the other nations.

What hurts them is getting into wars, murdering each other and ruining themselves.

A drunkard after a fight doesn't attribute his troubles to his peaceful neighbor.

THE American business man, paying 7½ or 9 per cent interest on money, wonders if he is dreaming when he reads this headline in the financial news: "Paris Money Still Easy; 3¼ Per Cent Continues for Discounts; Bank Rate to Hold at 3½ Per Cent."

IF you want to fly, you can insure your life at small expense.

When Fulton ran his little steamboat, manufactured with iron, from Allaire, N. J., the people waited on the Hudson's banks to see him blown into the air.

He probably could not have got insurance. Now all insurance covers steamboats, railroads, and automobiles, and soon will cover airplanes.

NOTHING could be more childish in a campaign affecting the welfare of 100,000,000 people than whisperings and answering whispers.

People want to know what the candidates have done and what they purpose to do.

CALLED IN GRAFT PROBE

These three Republican chairmen of downtown wards were among the first witnesses called today as the county grand jury opened its probe of the charges of graft and collusion laid at the doors of city officials by John J. Verona. They are (left to right) Thomas Flanigan, First Ward; Owen McManus, Second Ward, and Alderman Verona, also chairman, Third Ward, "fired" yesterday by Mayor Kline.

BUS RIDES NICKEL IN FRISCO

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

San Francisco adds to the evidence of the unfairness of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company in charging a 25-cent fare for a 10-cent service. Both the Municipal Street Railway Company and the Market Street Railway Company operate busses in that city. The fare is five cents, with free transfers to street cars.

The principal use for busses in San Francisco is for feeders to the street car lines. Busses supplement the service at the ends of the lines where traffic does not yet justify the extension of tracks. The bus lines serve districts comparable to Mt. Lebanon here without burdening the residents with excessive fares.

But the Pittsburgh Railways Company is serving new territory with the ultimatum, "Walk to the end of the street car line or pay a quarter to stand on a luxurious bus."

10-MINUTE INTERVALS

During the heavy traffic periods San Francisco busses are operated at 10-minute intervals, with more spacing at other times. The service is evidently satisfactory to patrons. Few complaints have been recorded. All busses operate within the city limits or immediately adjacent areas in which the two systems operate.

In fairness to lines in other cities charging a 10-cent fare, it must be admitted that the municipal busses operated at a loss in the year ended June 30, 1928. Total revenue was $139,363, and the net operating loss was $88,021.

According to Chief Clerk Scott of the bus department, if a 10-cent fare were charged, this system would return a satisfactory profit. It is estimated that there would be little if any decline in patronage, with almost double the revenue.

The Market Street Railway may be considered as a sister company to the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company. The Standard Power and Light Company, one of the Byllesby organizations, has a large stock interest in Market Street Railway. This company also controls the Philadelphia Company, which in turn controls the Pittsburgh Railways Company, owner of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company.

S. H. GARDNER

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner carried Verona's charges before the court, instigating the grand jury probe.

JUDGE DREW

Judge James B. Drew, after hearing Attorney Gardner, ordered the grand jury to be called and the probe made.

Smith Raps Oil Deals

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 25.—Gov. Smith turned eastward today in high hopes that the great goal of his western venture—the winning of the old LaFollette independent vote of 1924 in the Northwest—has been achieved.

The Governor himself made no claims, but he appeared confident. His confidence was based primarily upon assurances of old LaFollette lieutenants, including Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who ran with "Fighting Bob," that his speeches on farm relief, the power trust, and his slashing attacks on religious intolerance and the Republican record of the last seven years, have solidified the Progressive vote of the Northwest behind his candidacy.

TEARS INTO G. O. P.

Last night, in Helena, Gov. Smith, in characteristic fashion, paid his respects to the Republican record of the last seven years. Before an audience of 5,000 applauding Montanans, he tore into that record with ungloved hands.

The subject of his address was "Party Responsibility" and his text was an excerpt from one of Secretary Hoover's recent addresses to the effect that the Republicans have every reason to be satisfied with the seven years' record.

Step by step, Gov. Smith went through the oil scandals, the Veterans' Bureau scandals, the alien property scandal, the application of the Sinclair bonds to the Republican campaign deficit, and at each step he asked sarcastically if that

Pike, Elk Head for Smith

While Herbert Hoover is running well ahead of Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the rural and least populated counties of Pennsylvania in the straw vote canvass of the state by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, a few such counties appear to be headed for the Smith column.

For instance, in Pike county, with its many beautiful estates along the Delaware River, Smith has been given a lead in the returns to date. Its neighbor, Monroe county, likewise facing New Jersey across the Delaware River, is giving aid and comfort to the Smith cause.

ELK LEANS TO SMITH

Another county in which Smith has a lead is Elk county, upstate. There has always been a strong Democratic element in this county. For years it has steadily awarded its representatives in the State Legislature both Democratic and Republican nominations.

As the constant flow of returns in the poll is maintained, indications as to the trend towards the opposing candidates become clearer. For each county apparently headed for the Smith column there are a number definitely committed to Hoover on the face of the returns.

HOOVER GAINS

Hoover makes another gain in the returns for the day, with 1,711 votes against 964 for Smith. The Hoover vote in Erie, Scranton and Philadelphia fell a few short of the Smith vote. Smith ran well behind in the rural counties.

The totals in the Pennsylvania poll, conducted in connection with the canvass of the United States by the Hearst papers, are: Hoover, 27,212, 20,626 men and 6,586 women. Smith, 18,563, 13,482 men and 5,081 women. This vote in 1924 was divided as follows: Coolidge, 32,137, 24,191 men and 7,946 women; Davis, 4,600, 3,751 men and 849 women; La Follette, 3,014.

IDEAS, NOT GRAMMAR, WIN ZAIN AD PRIZES OF $15,000

Soon the whole city will be talking about the Zain Ad-Test which the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is conducting in co-operation with a group of local business concerns. The Ad-Test is a captivating game in which $15,000 in cash and merchandize prizes are given.

If you have not entered yet, do so at once, for the earlier you get into the game the better will be your chances of winning a prize.

The first prize of $1,000 in cash will be awarded for the best ad written during the campaign. A prize of $100 in cash will be awarded during each of six periods for the best ad submitted during that period.

More than 195 prizes will be given each period, five by each of the co-operating concerns for the five best ads about its products or services. The campaign lasts seven weeks.

An opportunity is offered you to get in "on the ground floor." Don't think you have to be skilled in advertisement writing to have a chance.

PROFESSIONAL ADVERTISING WRITERS AND NEWSPAPER EMPLOYES ARE BARRED.

All you need is common sense. You are not expected to know anything about what the advertising men call "making up a layout"; you are not expected to know anything about type or the other technical details. If you can write a simple letter, you can write an ad that may win a prize in the Zain Ad-Test.

Remember, you don't have to have any training or experience whatever

ONE-MAN-CAR STRIKE LOOMS

EMPLOYES THREATEN BOLT AT "RISKS"

Employes of the Pittsburgh Railways Company probably will refuse to operate one-man cars under the present conditions, T. J. McGrath, of the employes' union, today told Council at a public hearing on the traffic situation.

McGrath and other speakers representing the union charged that the one-man cars, together with the faster schedules insisted upon by the company, menaced the safety of the passengers and the public.

One of the charges made by the men was that the company has reduced the running time through the Mt. Washington tunnel, where a four-minute schedule has been in effect since the fatal accident in 1927, to a hazardous degree.

FORESEES WRECKS

W. H. Gallagher, one of the union representatives, said that if the present schedules are adhered to, he "expected to see a car upset on the Eighteenth street hill." He also charged that, in an effort to speed up schedules, testers employed by the company run across South Side intersections with the red lights against them. F. Renziehausen, another union representative, said that unless some action is taken "there will be a probe made by the coroner."

In addition to being unsafe, the one-man cars slow up traffic generally, the trainmen charged. Since they have been put into use, it has been necessary to loop many cars away from the downtown section, thus reducing the service, according to McGrath and Joseph Thomas, business manager of the union.

"By the first of the month nearly all of the cars entering the downtown section will be one-man cars," said Thomas.

The union men charged that due to the inability of the one man in charge of the car to watch all of the detail, hundreds of fares are lost daily.

RAP SCHEDULE-TESTERS

They were especially bitter against the schedule-testers employed by the company, charging that these men took chances to make a schedule which the company then insisted the other employes should meet.

"They may be schedule-testers, but I call them speed kings," said John W. Luce, and Renziehausen said: "I've used my hands on one or two of them."

"The employes feel that they cannot go much further under the present system of operation," said McGrath. "I am not saying that as a threat. The employes probably will take the stand that they will not operate one-man cars under prevailing schedules."

William White, J. E. Murphy, M. J. O'Connor and A. H. Logue were other spokesmen for the union. The last named said that instead of increasing the number of cars when the one-man system went into effect, the number is being decreased. Six cars, he said, have been taken off the Frankstown avenue route alone, with a resulting loss in revenue.

W. T. Rossell, general manager of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was the first spokesman in behalf of the corporation. He denied that the one-man car is a menace, stating that a one-man car is a little safer than a two-man car, according to the company records. The loss of fares charged by the men, Rossell said, is not shown in the company records. Cars, he said, always have been turned away from the downtown section because of some unforeseen traffic delay that makes such a move advisable. Schedules always are being changed, the management endeavoring constantly to improve them.

Graft Before Grand Jury

Opening a probe, ordered by Judge James B. Drew on the petition of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, into charges by John J. Verona that the city administration is honeycombed with graft and in league with Pittsburgh's vice lords, the Allegheny county grand jury today called as its first witness this same Verona.

Verona.

The Third Ward alderman and Hill political boss, dismissed yesterday by Mayor Charles H. Kline as a police magistrate, spent 45 minutes before the inquisitors—from 11:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m.

[The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in an editoriaal last week urged Gardner to make a grand jury investigation of the Verona charges immediately after the lattter's accusations had been aired.]

At the close of what apparently had been a searching examination by District Attorney Gardner, the alderman appeared at the door of the grand jury room mopping the perspiration from his brow. He was dismissed temporarily as a witness to try several petty cases before his aldermanic court.

Here's Case Of People Vs. Graft

These direct charges have been made against the city administration of Mayor Charles H. Kline by Alderman Verona:

Booze joints and gambling dens are flourishing on the Hill under police protection.

Slot machines are placed with the sanction of the administration.

Kline's administration leaders collected $7,500 a week graft from Al Forney's slot machines.

They collected $5,000 a week from Jakey Klein.

Jimmy Smith paid $500 a week for protection for many months.

Every official in the city's administration knows what is going on, and dives are being protected by the highest officials of the city.

Flanigan.

Verona was called to substantiate his charges that the entire administration, from Mayor Kline down, has knowledge of wide-spread corruption in the police bureau and that graft has been paid to police for vice, gambling and liquor privileges.

FLANIGAN HEARD

At the opening of the afternoon session the grand jury heard Alderman Thomas Flanigan, of the First ward. In the waiting room, ready to be summoned before the inquisitors, were Owen McManus, ward chairman, and James McManus, constable, of the Second ward.

Judge Drew ordered the grand jury investigation this morning upon petition of District Attorney Gardner. The court charged the jurors to call upon officials, "high and low," to sift the charges made by Verona, which the court char-

KLINE HIT BY VERONA

In a letter to Mayor Charles H. Kline, former Police Magistrate John J. Verona today replied to the Mayor's letter of dismissal, in the first statement the ex-magistrate has issued since he hurled graft charges at the Kline administration last week.

Verona's answer concerns merely the trouble which has come to a head during the past month or two between the magistrate and new police heads appointed in the last shakeup. It cites a number of reasons for this trouble and many instances of friction between the newly appointed officers and himself as magistrate.

No further charges of corruption and graft are made.

LETTER'S TEXT

The letter follows:

My Dear Mayor Kline:

I have your letter of even date in which you remove me as magistrate of the City of Pittsburgh. It would be futile for me to protest your action, as it is your privilege to dismiss magistrates at will, whether it be because of contemporary events entirely unassociated with the duties of a magistrate, whether because of so-called political situations or even for a mere whimsy.

If you had merely dismissed me in one sentence, your letter would have brought forth no reply from me, but when you add to your executive action an argument in the attempt to justify that action before the public, I feel compelled to acquaint the public with the utter feebleness of the reasons advanced by you. Which reasons, incidentally, boil down to one, namely, that on a certain Saturday two police officers were arrested. The facts of this case are extremely simple:

On Saturday, September 15, 1928, not "late," but at 2:30 in the afternoon, my constable proceeded with a warrant to arrest James Hoey because of an information sworn to by a resident, not of my ward, but of the Fifth Ward. This information was brought by Oliver Lewis, who, under oath, declared that while he was standing outside of No. 2 Police Station, disturbing no one, he was accosted by James Hoey, who asked him what he was doing, and then ordered him from the premises, and without any provocation whatsoever struck this Lewis in the mouth with such force as to knock out two of his teeth.

ALLEGES BRUTALITY

This brutality was witnessed by several persons and it was my duty to issue the warrant for Mostly cloudy and slightly cooler tonight and Wednesday; probably light showers this afternoon.

COLD SNAP TO BRING FROST

The chilly weather prevalent in Pittsburgh is likely to continue for two or three days, according to Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

He reports a frost is expected tomorrow night. The temperature tonight is likely to be around 40 degrees and will be lower tomorrow night. The forecaster reports freezing temperatures in the Northwest and this condition is influencing the weather here.

SNOW AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Snow fell in Chicago today. The first snow of the season, accompanied by hail which changed to rain, fell in the downtown section of Chicago at noon.

The snow is part of a cold wave which has swept the city for the last few days, bringing the coldest weather for this time of the year in the history of the Weather Bureau. No relief from the untimely cold was promised for several days.

Hoey Held In $1,000 Bail

Police Inspector James M. Hoey and Lieut. John Schnurr waived hearings before Alderman John J. Verona today; one patrolman was held for court on charges of aggravated assault and battery; five members of the city detective homicide squad were held on charges of interference with an officer and one patrolman was discharged.

Hoey, Schnurr and Patrolman Joseph Lavery were held for court under $1,000 bail each. Patrolman Joseph Leith, jointly accused with Lavery in connection with the alleged beating up of J. Persky, of 1842 Fifth avenue, were discharged.

Hoey is charged with aggravated assault and battery. The charges were preferred by Oliver Lewis, Negro, of 2482 Wadsworth avenue, who alleges that while standing near Center Avenue Police Station, he was attacked by the inspector.

Schnurr's accusser is Jack Burkowski, alias Burke. The homicide squad, consisting of Lieut. David Corbett, Frank Nowicki, M. Kenelly, Robert Burke and William Reese, are charged with interfering with constables sent to serve a warrant on Inspector Hoey at the Center Avenue Police Station recently when the inspector locked himself in a cell to avoid service of the paper. They are alleged to have locked up the constables, permitting Hoey to make his escape.

SPARE NO ONE! JURY TOLD

In his charge to the grand jury laying before it the accusations made against city officials and police, by former Magistrate J. J. Verona, Judge James B. Drew said:

Members of the grand jury:

The grand jury is a great channel of communication between those who make and administer the law, and those for whom the laws are made and administered.

In the press of business in this great country, it is rare, in the absence of some event of great public importance which the court deems it necessary the grand jury should consider, for the court to do more than deliver a brief charge as to the duties of the grand jury. I have already, in that way, when you first started upon your duties, instructed you. However, the court may at any time during your period of service, deliver a supplementary charge to you upon any particular matter or upon any special matter which the district attorney may be prepared to send before you or may direct you to investigate any matters of grave importance to the public welfare. This is done by the court upon its own motion or at the request of the grand jury or upon motion of the district attorney.

CITES OPINION

Judge King, of Pennsylvania, in 1845, in a celebrated opinion (Lloyd and Carpenter, 5 Clark, Pa. 188) said, speaking of extraordinary modes of criminal procedure which may be pursued:

PHILA. GRAFT PROBE SNARES LEGISLATOR

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—With two police captains under arrest charged with extortion, bribery and conspiracy to accept bribes from saloonkeepers, and a Republican organization ward leader sought on a fugitive warrant on similar charges, District Attorney Monaghan today promised further sensational developments in the grand jury investigation of bootleggers and their "racket."

Capt. Charles W. Schoenleber, commander of an uptown police station, is the latest police official to be arrested. He was held under $15,000 bail for court after Joseph L. Ehrenreich, a lawyer, had testified that he had paid him $1,240 a month for the last six months as his share of the $12,195 alleged to have been collected from a score of saloonkeepers at the direction of Matthew J. Patterson, Republican leader of the Nineteenth Ward, and a member of the State House of Representatives.

Patterson disappeared from his home yesterday a few minutes before detectives arrived to arrest him. Assistant District Attorney Schofield told Judge Lewis during Schoenleber's hearing the ward leader had left in an automobile for parts unknown, and that he would now be sought on a fugitive warrant.

A number of saloonkeepers testified that they had paid $110 a month each for police protection from March 1 until August 15.

was what Secretary Hoover was satisfied with.

"Is the record, the real record of the last seven and a half years known to the Republican candidate?" he asked.

"Why, there is not a single man in this country knows it better than he does. He sat in the cabinet while all this was going on, and you can search the record from one end to the other, you can examine it in minutest detail and you will fail to find a single word of condemnation on his part."

"On the contrary, in his speech of acceptance, let us see what he said about the last seven years

"The record of these seven and a half years constitutes a period of rare courage and leadership and constructive action. Never has a political party been able to look back upon a similar period with more satisfaction.

"That is what he said. Does he actually want the American people to believe that this record means moral courage or constructive leadership? Does Hoover want the American people to believe that he really looks back over that record with satisfaction.

"CAN'T PASS IT ON"

"Now, it won't do for them to pass that on to the chairman of the Republican National Committee. Hoover is the only man who can answer that.

"I believe it would be, exceedingly harmful to the country; exceedingly harmful to the morals of the youth of the country, if in the face of that record the American people on the sixth of November were to put the stamp of their approval upon it."

Gov. Smith was much heartened by the announcement of Senator John J. Blaine (Rep.) of Wisconsin, that he would neither support nor vote for Hoover, although he declined to comment.

Senator Wheeler, however, declared that the Blaine statement "makes Wisconsin safe for Smith, and it will be very helpful in Minnesota and North Dakota."

"These progressives," Wheeler said, "are steadily coming out for Smith, and I feel quite sure he is going to carry Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and in all probability South Dakota."

In all of the states mentioned by Wheeler, the combined LaFollette-Davis vote in 1924 far exceeded that of President Coolidge; hence, if the Senator's claim that the old LaFollette vote is going for Smith stands up, there would appear to be some justification for Democratic confidence.

Gov. Smith's program today called for a long journey through Montana eastward, with stops at Butte, Bozeman, Livingston and Billings. Tonight he will enter North Dakota and will stop at Mandan, Bismarck, Jamestown, Valley City and Fargo tomorrow. The Governor's next major speech will be at St. Paul, Thursday night.

Fifth Ward's "Jimmie" Smith Not Involved

Friends of "Jimmy" Smith, ward chairman of the Fifth Ward and secretary of the Civil Service Commission, have asked the Sun-Telegraph to note in fairness to the Civil Service Commission Secretary that his name has not been linked with the charges made by Alderman John Verona about police-protected graft.

GRAFT JURY INSTRUCTED ON VERONA CHARGES

juries to and direct the investigation of matters of general public import, which, from their nature and operation, in the entire community, justify such intervention. The action of the court on such occasion rather bears on things than persons; the object being the suppression of general and public evils, afflicting in their influence and operation, communities rather than individuals and ,therefore, more properly the subject of general than special complaint, such as great riots that shame the social fabric; general public nuisances affecting the public's health and comfort; multiplied and flagrant vices tending to debauch and corrupt the public morals and the like. In such cases the courts may properly, in aid of inquiries directed by them, summon, swear and send before the grand jury such witnesses as they may deem necessary to a full investigation of the evils intimated, in order to enable the grand jury to present the offense and the offenders. But this course is never adopted in the case of ordinary crimes, charged against individuals, because it would involve, to a certain extent, the expression of opinion by anticipation on facts subsequently to come before the courts for direct judgment and because such cases present none of those urgent necessities which authorize a departure from the ordinary course of justice. In directing any such investigation the court acts under their official responsibilities and must answer for any steps taken, not justified by the proper exercise of a sound judicial discussion."

The district attorney has officially, and in line with his duty, brought to the attention of the court certain charges of a serious and criminal nature alleged to have been made by John J. Veroona, alderman of the Third Ward, Pittsburgh, and until yesterday a police magistrate of Pittsburgh, against the present city administration, charging wholesale graft and corruption by high officials and public officers of the city in that they protect and receive revenue from the distribution and sale of liquors forbidden by law.

The alleged charges of Verona are definite and specific and constitute a sweeping charge of organized vice for profit against paid servants of the people, sworn to a faithful performance of public duties.

Such charges cannot be permitted to go unanswered. If true, vice is rampant in Pittsburgh, the morals of our people, men, women and children, are being hourly corrupted, and a class of parasites, masquerading as law enforcing officers, are going unwhipped of justice while enriching themselves by the filth derived from their low and criminal trade. If these charges are not true, a dastardly slander has been let loose upon the reputation of honest officials and public officers, and it must be removed as quickly as possible so that the confidence of our people, if now shaken, will be restored in the men honored with opportunities to serve them. Only the grand jury can make a thorough legal investigation of these charges and "a true presentment make."

We therefore direct you to set aside all other public business and at once enter upon a thorough investigation of these grave charges. You may call before you any one in the jurisdiction of this court and under oath examine him concerning the subject matter of your inquiry. If any such person refuses to testify without sufficient excuse, the court will commit him to jail for contempt. All the power of the law will back your investigation.

I have instructed District Attorney Gardner to personally conduct this investigation. It is his duty as well as his privilege to aid you in the examination of witnesses and to give you such general instructions as you may require. In addition, you may at any time ask the advice and assistance of the court.

You may and you should summon before you officers of the city government from the highest to the lowest and others whom you may have reason to believe possess information proper for your actions, and examine them fully. When you have conducted your inquiry, or from time to time during the course of it, if you prefer, you should reduce your conclusions to writing and return them to the court in the form of a presentment.

In the performance of your duty you are bound to secrecy for the protection of the interests of the public from premature disclosure, and for the protection of parties from the public disclosure of charges which may be ignored in your findings.

The attempt of any one to influence you on matters before the grand jury is a grave offense against public justice which subjects the offenders, on conviction, to a severe penalty. A grand juror corruptly betraying his duty is subject to like penalty.

In conclusion, in our desire to bring the guilty to punishment, if there are any such, we must still take care to guard the innocent from injury; and everyone is deemed to be innocent until the contrary appears by sufficient legal proof. You will therefore carefully weigh the testimony and present no one, unless in your deliberate judgment the evidence before you is sufficient in the absence of any other proof, to justify the conviction of the party accused.

You may now retire to your room, attended by the district attorney, to put aside all other business and begin at once a searching investigation of these grave charges.

Gardner Plea For Probe of Graft Here

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner's petition, upon which the court ordered a grand jury investigation of former Magistrate J. J. Verona's charges, follows:

"That it has come to the attention of your petitioner, by means of newspaper articles and from other sources, that there are numerous violations of the liquor laws, gambling laws, and the laws against disorderly houses and prostitution being committed within the City of Pittsburgh and said county under the protection of police officers and other persons of influence and authority.

"That, if the aforesaid matters be true, it is a matter of great public importance, and there is a pressing necessity for ascertaining the truth of these accusations so that, if true, the persons responsible therefor may be brought to justice.

"That, from the nature of these accusations, your petitioner is unable, through his own efforts, to ascertain the truth or falsity of these charges and learn who the real persons responsible may be.

"WHEREFORE. your petitioner prays your Honorable Court to make an order directing the present Grand July, duly selected for the September Sessions of the Court of Oyer and Terminer and Quarter Sessions of the Peace, to have summoned before it such witnesses as it may require for the purpose of making a full and complete investigation of the aforesaid matter and make full report thereof to this Court."

HOOVER'S SPEAKING DRIVE EXTENDED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Responding to a deluge of requests from party leaders, Herbert Hoover will deliver a number of prepared speeches during the last 10 days of the campaign, en route home to vote, it was learned today.

The Republican nominee will leave Washington about October 26, en route to Stanford University, Cal., to set an example by voting in his own campaign. His advisers have just begun consideration of his itinerary. A score of cities in a dozen states have invited the nominee to visit them.

Hoover probably will speak in Indianapolis, Chicago or St. Louis, Minneapolis or St. Paul, and Denver as the best points for their delivery. The nominee in addition will close his campaign with another speech in San Francisco, either on the Saturday or the Monday preceding the election. This speech will be broadcast.

Some of the Hoover managers have urged him to invade the border states on his way home, with a stop either in Louisville, Ky., or St. Louis.

acterized as a "sweeping indictment of our public police system."

"This is no picnic I've started; the lid's off," declared District Attorney Gardner after presenting a petition to Judge Drew asking for the grand jury probe.

Any attempt to influence the grand jury constitutes a serious offense Judge Drew warned in asking the jurors to retire to their room and begin the inquisition under the direction of District Attorney Gardner.

Gardner's action today followed a series of conferences yesterday and this morning between Judge Drew and the county prosecutor.

The outcome was that Gardner determined to suspend the mass of routine before the grand jury and assign it to the task of getting at the bottom of the Verona charges.

SUBPENAS OUT

Simultaneously with the convening of the grand jury, county detectives were dispatched with subpenas for Aldermen Verona and Flanigan, Owen McManus and James McManus. County Detectives Michael Stabile, William Black and Michael Ford were given the subpenas at 10 o'clock.

The entire force of county detectives was ordered held awaiting the orders of the grand jury, prepared to serve any subpenas or effect any raids ordered by the jurors.

VERONA CALLED IN

Verona was in bed when County Detectives Philip Goldberg and William Black reached his office with a subpena.

On the walk to the courthouse numerous friends greeted Verona, several with this advice, "Don't forget your friends, John."

At 11:13 a. m. Verona, Owen McManus and Alderman Flanigan reached the courthouse with an escort of county detectives and were immediately taken to the grand jury waiting room. James McManus joined them later.

Verona was called in first.

Mopping perspiration from his brow, Verona emerged from the grand jury room at 12:15 a. m., after a 45-minute grilling. He is subject to recall.

The jury then recessed until 1:15 o'clock.

Gardner said he would try to keep Verona before the grand jury for an hour or longer today and probably every other day this week. The district attorney expected to conclude the routine business before the grand jury by Friday, after which he will devote all its time to the investigation of the Verona graft charges.

LONG INVESTIGATION

District Attorney Gardner said it would be his plan to summon three or four witnesses each day. The present grand jury is scheduled on its routine business, but Gardner plans to sandwich the vice-graft witnesses between other cases. For that reason he anticipates the probe will be long drawn out. He could not predict how long it would require for the four men subpenaed today to complete their testimony.

CLERK SHOT BATTLING ROBBER

Shot near the heart while fighting a Negro during a hold-up in a confectionery store at 1211 Hazel street, last night, "Teddy" Andrews, 45, of 2929 Penn avenue, is in a critical condition in the Passavant Hospital.

Police are holding Homer Woods, 38, Negro, of 240 Lombard street, as the robber who shot Andrews.

Andrews, a clerk in the store, told Detectives Walter Kaiser and Frank Dodson and Lieut. Thomas Gross that the Negro entered the store and struck him on the head. Knocked down by the blow, Andrews regained his feet, snatched up a revolver from behind the counter and fired twice.

The thug then seized the gun, shot Andrews, and fled. A short time later Kaiser and Plainclothesman Matthew McGraw arrested Woods at Center avenue and Crawford street. At the hospital the victim identified Woods as the bandit, police say. A revolver which, police say, was used in the shooting, was found in his possession.

The officers searched the store and reported finding a quantity of moonshine.

State Aid Lost; Rule Broken in Fleeing Peril

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—(AP.) When a miner violates an established rule of safety even in making his escape from some other impending danger he is not entitled to compensation for any resultant injuries.

Chairman Houck of the Workmen's Compensation Board has denied compensation to James Gallagher, of Pittston, for such a reason. Gallagher, who was burned about the hands and face in a gas explosion in a mine operated by the Pennsylvania Coal Company, was found to have run past a danger signal in the workings in his effort to escape a fall of coal, and the roof in the section of the colliery where he was working.

The referee held that Gallagher committed a misdemeanor in disregarding the danger signals and Houck upheld the decision of the referee in dismissing Gallagher's appeal.

EXAMINER FOR P. S. C. HEARS BUS CASES

Protests filed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, against the granting of an incorporation charter to Allegheny Valley Motor Coach Company, were aired today before Examiner W. E. Best, Public Service commission. The railroad also filed protests against the bus company's proposed establishment of a service line between New Kensington, Westmoreland county, and Pittsburgh.

The railroad and residents between the terminals maintained that a bus line was not needed. The proposed running schedule or the fore to be charged between New Kensington and Pittsburgh were not discussed.

Examiner Best did not render a decision. The case will be reviewed by the commission.

The Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company's application for additional right and previlidge of operating motor vehicles as a common carrier between Liberty and Fifth avenues, Pittsburgh, and Oakmont borough, also was heard. A decision will be rendered later.

BURKE ESTATE SUIT QUASHED

Thomas Burke, Jr., lost his fight in court today to obtain property at 57-59 Fullerton street, valued at $60,000, part of the estate of his uncle, Martin Burke, reputed bootlegger, mysteriously slain at the door of his South Fairmount avenue home January 14, 1925.

Judge F. P. Patterson dismissed Burke's suit, based on an alleged substitution by Martin Burke of his own name for that of his nephew on a deed for the property. The court held the younger Burke had not proved fraudulent alteration. The suit to recover was against Annie Harkins, beneficiary under the will of Martin Burke. Testimony of handwriting experts was a feature of the trial.

Lebanon township, Allegheny county.

Permission also was sought to operate a group and party service from the borough of Green Tree, Allegheny county. A hearing will be held in Pittsburgh October .

Lynching Attempt Bared

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—An attempt to lynch Lester Berry, 18, and Mrs. Goldie Wheeler, 21, residents of Barton, near here, by a band of "night riders" a week ago last Sunday night, was revealed here today when the Belmont county grand jury returned an indictment against John Egerhardt, also of Barton, charging riotous conspiracy.

While Berry and Mrs. Wheeler were dangling from the tree limbs with their toes tipping the ground, the mask slipped from the alleged leader's face and they were able to recognize him.

When the alleged leader of the mob realized he was recognized, he was said to have given orders that they be cut down. That was done, with the admonition they were to return home and mention the incident to no one under threat of death.

The members of the mob were said to have boasted they were a "night riders' club." There were about 20 in the mob according to testimony given the grand jury.

Instead of obeying the injunction to say nothing of the incident, the victims called the county prosecutor and related their experiences. The matter was promptly placed before the grand jury.

Egerhardt was expected to be arrested today. The minimum sentence if convicted on the riotous conspiracy charge is two years in the state penitentiary.

WOMAN IS SLUGGED, ROBBED

Beaten on the head with a blackjack by a Negro early today, Miss Mary Higgins, 34, employed at the United Presbyterian Orphans Home, 608 West Jefferson street, North Side, was knocked unconscious and robbed of $2.50.

The attack occurred at West Jefferson and Buena Vista streets while she was en route to the home from the movies.

The Negro, who had followed the woman from a street car, sprang at her near an alleyway and seized her by the throat. He tried to tear her purse from her hands, but she screamed. He released the hold on her throat long enough to strike her on the head with the blackjack, knocking her to the pavement. After snatching the purse, he fled.

Miss Higgins was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital and later to her home.

Plan Fla. Gale Toll Census

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—One of the first definite moves toward permanent rehabilitation of the storm-swept area of Southeast Florida will amount to a virtual census conducted by the Red Cross, it has been announced.

More than a week after the disastrous hurricane, reports of chaos which resulted continue to come in. Red Cross officials here have fixed the dead at approximately 2,300, with the announcement that the exact total never would be learned.

Apparently the most crying need of the survivors was an occupation. Their farms were ruined—those in the Lake Okeechobee sector—and those who could go back to work have no seed to plant.

The Red Cross has issued orders to several dealers at Okeechobee City to furnish seed to the farmers who can get to their land.

PLAN REHABILITATION

It was understood that the Red Cross planned to furnish the farmers with sufficient necessities to meet the emergency, then when the census is completed, to rebuild their homes, furnish them and supply farm implements sufficient to meet the needs. Requisition upon national headquarters would be made for sufficient funds with which to permanently rehabilitate the homeless, many of whom are now destitute.

While the outlook in the storm area was far from bright, rays of hope continued to shine through. Adjt. Gen. Vivien Collins has ordered a gradual evacuation of state troops who have been doing patrol duty for the last week. Funds for relief continue to mount and each incoming train brings supplies to fill an urgent need.

REFUGEES WANT TO STAY

Generally the refugees in the farming section do not wish to leave the territory, but prefer to remain.

Relief crews report each day some additional gruesome find of bodies out in the flooded section of the Everglades, overflowed when Lake Okeechobee swept away dikes and carried death and destruction to the unsuspecting populace.

In Jacksonville, Gov. Martin, worn from his experiences during a week's inspection tour of the district, issued a further call for the people of the state to respond even more generously than they have already. Several appeals have reached the Governor asking that he call a special session of the Legislature, but so far he has not made any comment regarding the possibility as a storm measure.

ERROR GIVES LEOPOLD, LOEB PAROLE CHANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—An error in the mittimus under which Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., were sent to the Joliet penitentiary four years ago makes these two slayers of little Bobbie Franks eligible for parole in six more years, Hinton Clabaugh, chairman of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, said today.

Storm Relief Fund Nears $1,500,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Red Cross headquarters has announced that the West Indies hurricane relief fund is near the million and a half mark, the total being $1,437,970. Of this amount $1,074,775 was reported from the eastern area, $236,306 from the midwestern area, $80,236 from the Pacific area and $46,653 was contributed from Porto Rico. The Red Cross is asking a minimum of $5,000,000.

Clabaugh spoke of Loeb and Leopold as "sons of wealth, who are pampered pets in Joliet."

These men, each under life sentence for murder and 99-year sentences for kidnaping, are building up "fine records," Clabaugh said, with a view to seeking parole when, because of the error in the mittimus, they become eligible within six years.

"One is private secretary to the first warden," Clabaugh said. "The other is private secretary to the Protestant chaplain. Yet Leopold is generally believed to have been the brains of the prison outbreak a few months ago, which has cost, so far, several innocent lives and resulted in the hanging of three men."

Loeb and Leopold were the college students, whose crime marked the birth of the "thrill" murder. They were defended by Clarence Darrow, the Chicago criminal lawyer, whose strategy of having them enter pleas of guilty was one of a series of astonishing developments that marked the entire case. Following this, Darrow introduced testimony, the object of which, as he expressed it, was not to keep them from paying for their crime, but to prevent their being hanged. The court in passing the double sentences, recommended that neither should be granted a parole, no matter how long they might serve.

Claybaugh did not explain what the error in the mittimus was.

Hoey's arrest, not because of "spite, reprisal or revenge," as you state, but because an unoffending citizen had been attacked in a savage manner and had sworn to an information to that effect before me in my official capacity as a duly elected alderman. Armed with a warrant, my constable proceeded to No. 2 Police Station to notify James Hoey of the information. The warrant was read to him in a quiet and peaceable manner and opportunity was given Hoey to secure a bond and thus avoid imprisonment. There was no intention on the part of my constable to create any disorder. Hoey asked to use the telephone, and then, in a manner quite beneath the dignity of a police inspector and more befitting the manner of the main actor of a Mack Sennet comedy, he grabbed the cell sergeant and pulled him into a cell with him and locked the door. The Mayor evidently misunderstands this episode or he would not have accused me of putting Police Inspector Hoey in jail. The fact is that Inspector Hoey locked his own self in jail, and any question regarding improper imprisonment should be taken up with him and not with me.

The dignity and majesty which should go with law were further shattered on that Saturday afternoon by Inspector Hoey. Not content with resisting arrest in a manner that would do credit to Charlie Chaplin, Inspector Hoey then called the homicide squad, although no one had been killed and there was no indication that anyone would suffer death. The homicide squad came and arrested my two deputy constables on a charge of disorderly conduct, although there had been no disorder, and, in the meantime, Hoey released himself from his self-imposed imprisonment and fled.

BLACK JACKING CHARGED

The other officer arrested on that Saturday was Lieut. John Schnurr, who has been acting as captain, but whose promotion has never been officially announced because the administration feared the public might seriously object to the promotion of this well-known disturber. Schnurr had severely beaten up one John Burkowski with a blackjack. Burkowski swore to an information against Schnurr on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. I realize that it is a serious matter to bring a charge against a police officer, but citizens whose bodies and skulls are beaten with blackjacks in the hands of officers secure no relief from these blows because the assailant wears a uniform. Lieut. Schnurr is no novice at this business of violence. Already he has been indicted for murder, although in fairness to him, let it be said he was acquitted. It was Lieut. Schnurr who managed the so-called "West Virginia raid" on the Greis Hotel, where he committed such wanton, fearful and unspeakable and unnecessary destruction of property that the taxpayers of the City of Pittsburgh were required to pay to the proprietor of the Greis Hotel $6,500. You say in your letter to me, Mayor, that the police department is a great yearly expense to the people. It certainly is with a man like Lieut. Schnurr in its employ.

Realizing Schnurr's violent proclivities, and wishing to avoid trouble, I took the precaution of calling upon the Sheriff of Allegheny county, who furnished me with seven deputies. These seven deputy sheriffs and three deputy constables proceeded to serve the warrant of arrest on Lieut. Schnurr at No. 1 Police Station. It happened to be on a Saturday. It might have been any other day. I have no control over the calendar. There was no premeditated intent on my part to keep him in jail over Saturday night. He was given plenty of opportunity to get bond. When the warrant was read to him, he also tried, like Hoey, to cage himself in a cell and thus resist arrest. If he went to jail on that Saturday it was his fault as he could easily have gotten bail up to 10 o'clock that night.

You state that if one, two or three officers can be arrested, "what is to prevent it being done to all?" The officers who were arrested were arrested on proper cause. It would seem to me that if it is shown that you have policemen who are not being true to their trust that they should be discharged, and thus when arrested they would no longer be officers of the law.

In a most irrelevant fashion, entirely unworthy of your real abilities and splendid legal service on the bench, you describe a fantastic situation as to what might happen if all the police were arrested. No one conceives of such a thing. You attempt to bolster your position with a highly imaginative and impossible picture. But what I have been attempting to describe to you during the last two months, Mayor, is not an imaginative picture, but a truly appalling and real condition of affairs.

INNOCENT ASSAULTED

Under the inspectorship of James Hoey, innocent people have been assaulted and unmercifully beaten, homes have been violated, people have been arrested and held without charges lodged against them, and a general reign of terror has been instituted for no other purpose than to demonstrate a declared political superiority. I have never been concerned with any harm that Inspector Hoey might inflict upon me because his cowardly nature, so many times manifested, leaves me entirely unconcerned. But he has struck at absolutely unoffending creatures in a way that should bring shame to the face of any self-respecting police officer supposed to be entrusted with the safety of persons and homes in his jurisdiction.

You state in your letter that certain supposed actions on my part were prompted "by no particular interest in the law but for the purposes of spite, reprisal and revenge." This is the very criticism that can truthfully be leveled against your Inspector and those who have acted under his orders. You did not particularize any incidents in your letter. I will enumerate several to establish that Hoey is prompted by no particular interest in the law, but for purposes of "spite, reprisal and revenge." For instance—

On Labor Day Mrs. Regina Friedman was at her home. She is a mother of seven children, the youngest of whom is only 4 years of age. In addition, her health was delicate because of the fact that she was in a pregnant condition. An officer came into her house and took her to Inspector Hoey at No. 2 Police Station. Hoey put her in a cell. He then loaded her on to the patrol wagon proceeding to No. 1 Police Station. En route to the latter station the patrol wagon stopped at a bawdy house and picked up several prostitutes, and Mrs. Friedman was compelled to ride with them back to No. 2 Police Station and then again to No. 1 station. No charge was lodged against Mrs. Friedman. When I heard of this situation I endeavored to secure her release on bail or cash forfeit. Inspector Hoey refused to set bail or release her under any condition. The woman's husband then went to Hoey with one of their small children and pleaded with him for her release on bail, but to no avail. She was held in jail overnight. The next morning Inspector Hoey testified before Magistrate Brandon and stated that he had no charge against Mrs. Friedman but that he had held her just to give her a lesson. This is a frightful proceeding. In this case Inspector Hoey not only violated the Constitution of Pennsylvania and the United States, which guarantees to all citizens the right to be secure in their homes and persons, but he violated all laws of common decency.

You state in your letter that any one who seeks to weaken the police service "strikes a blow at

INDICT OFFICERS AND 11 OTHERS FOR MURDER

Two city policemen are among 13 persons indicted for murder in true bills returned by the September grand jury yesterday.

One is Patrolman F. P. Caslin of the Franstown Avenue station, accused of killing James Sutton, a Negro, during a fight in Sutton's store in Tioga street, July 11. The other is Patrolman James Swide of Center Avenue station, charged with the death of Edward Travis, Negro, of 1320 Wylie avenue, June 17.

The others indicted are:

William Wayne, for the death of James Price, negro, of Sixth avenue, Homestead, shot to death July 1.

Sam Natalsky, for the death of Dominic Maximusk, in a stabbing affray at Springdale, June 16.

Levy Coleman, for the death of Bertha Thomas, 15, Negro, of Donora, found with skull crushed, in Forward township, May 10.

James King and Thomas Newman, for death of Fred Donatelli in a robbery at Logan and Whitcomb streets, July 9.

Mike Nalach, for death of Steve Pateovich, stabbing affray at Imperial, June 23.

John Webb, for death of William E. Bailey, 4001 Ewing street, stabbed July 4.

Arthur Moore, death from gunshot wound of Wade Hale, Negro, August 16.

Ruben Alston, for death of Silas Murrell, 3101 Spring way, on August 16 from gunshot wound.

William A. Stewart, for death of Thomas Bennett, Negro, from gunshot wounds, July 25.

Giuseppi Luciano, for death of Nicholas Peruccio, from gunshot wounds, July 5.

Johanne Rannelone of Glassport, for death of Felix Bucco, July 11.

BULLET VICTIM ASKS DIVORCE

Three bullet wounds form the basis of a charge of cruel and barbarous treatment brought by Mrs. Freda Dashkewitz of Wilmerding against her husband, Fred Dashkewitz, in her divorce proceedings heard yesterday. Mrs. Dashkewitz lost an eye as a result of one wound.

Her husband is serving a sentence of two and one-half to five years in the Western Penitentiary and the divorce papers were served on him in Rockview.

The shooting took place February 22, 1926, while Dashkewitz was under the influence of liquor.

CITY COUNCIL SHIES AT PROBE OF POLICE GRAFT

RAILWAYS CO. IS SUED FOR $175,000

Four damage suits totaling $175,000 were filed against the Pittsburgh Railways Company today by Attorney Alfred Martin, that many plaintiffs being injured in accidents in which the street car company is accused of negligence.

George Reiner, 1564 Electric avenue, East Pittsburgh, asks $75,000 damages because of injuries to himself and his son, Kenneth Reiner, hurt when a street car collided with Reiner's automobile, July 19 last, at Ardmore boulevard and Summer street. Kenneth Reiner sustained fractured ribs and hurts to his back. The father received contusions of the right side and was hurt about the chest. Emanled Vargo, 1544 Oak street, East Pittsburgh, also brings an action for $50,000 because of injuries to his son, William E. Vargo, 7, who was a passenger in the Reiner machine. He received a possible fracture of the skull and was hurt about the body. The street car struck the machine on the left rear side and virtually demolished it. No warning, it was alleged, was given.

Lillian Pearl Cunningham, 292 Ottawa street, hurt July 8 last, when a Mount Washington street car left the tracks in Boggs avenue and ran into an iron pole, asked $25,000 damages. She says in her bill of complaint that she was thrown violently to the floor and as a result was injured about the hands, face and shoulders and her nervous system shocked. The plaintiff alleges that the company was negligent in not keeping the rails in proper repair. She also claims the proper safety devices were not provided.

Helen Neeb, 732 Bellefonte street, who stepped in a hole in the street at South Aiken avenue, injured her right ankle and suffered contusions of the knees, elbows and face, asks $25,000 damages. In her bill of particulars she claims that the company had notice of the hole in the street, between the rails of the defendant company, and that it was negligent in not keeping that portion of the thoroughfare in repair. She claims there was no light to warn the public of the existence of the hole.

the pillars of society because it is this agency which guards the home, the most precious thing in life of every man, woman and child." This is the very thing Hoey is doing. He is materially weakening the police service.

HELD ILLEGALLY IN JAIL

About three weeks ago one James Carney was confronted with Officer Kyle in front of 704 Wylie avenue, and he was asked "to walk down the street to a waiting automobile. When he got there, Lieut. Schnurr stepped out and savagely beat him. He was taken to No. 1 Police Station and at the hearing the next morning he was fined $25. Carney paid his fine, but was not released, neither was any further charge placed against him. Inspector Hoey would not release him and gave as his excuse that he, Carney, was being held in connection with the Dapper murder and that the Washington, Pa., authorities wanted him. I communicated with the Washington district attorney and chief of police and they both denied that they wanted Carney and stated that they had never heard of him. Carney was held for about a week, absolutely contrary to law, and then released with the admonition that if he was ever again seen on the "Hill" he would get worse than he had already received. The real object of holding him was to permit the wounds he had received at the hands of Lieut. Schnurr to heal so that he would have no, or little, physical evidence of the terrible beating he had received at the hands of a police officer.

Just recently Abe Modell, a young man weighing about 100 pounds, was arrested and taken to the No. 2 Police Station. He was put in Inspector Hoey's chair and two officers, Florence Watt and Howard Caldwell, beat him with a rubber hose until he was black and bluef rom head to foot.

I do not claim that you know all these things—this cossack rule set up by Inspector Hoey in the City of Pittsburgh—but within the scope of your duties, Mayor, it perhaps comes within your porvince to know of them. State Senator Coyne has taken it upon himself to make suggestions to Your Honor as to what are the best political moves, and I presume Coyne knows about these activities of Hoey as I observe that it was Coyne who went bond for Hoey.

UNIFORM NOT SACRED

The burden of your letter to me, Mayor, is that I have interfered with the city police. I have done nothing of the kind. Citizens who have been injured by the police have to right to redress. No one holds a higher respect for the police than I, but the uniform is no excuse for rascality and crime. On September 21, 1928, George Findlay, of 2163 Bedford avenue, made an information before me against Lieut. Thomas Gross and four police officers charging them with breaking into his home and stealing valuables there. Am I to ignore the oath of this citizen because the defendants are police officers? There are many instances where police officers have been found guilty of the crimes with which they have been charged, and that is the purpose of the law—to inquire into these accusations. My duty has been, and is, to hold for court persons charged with crime when the evidence brought before me warrants it. I have done this and will continue to do so.

You have dismissed me as a magistrate officially. Your ill-advising lieutenants had attempted to take away the authority that goes with that office long before your dismissal, by improperly routing cases, which were to have been heard in No. 2 Police Station, to No. 1 Police Station.

The conditions remain the same. In the first paragraph of your letter you said that the situation supposedly created by me required an "immediate" solution. This "immediate" required nine days for unfoldment. What were the causes for those nine days of "immediate" delay in an interesting study.

FRENCH LINE OFFERS DAHLIA SHOW TROPHY

One of the principal prizes for the Sewickley dahlia show at Guild Hall, Sewickley, Friday and Saturday, is a silver trophy, donated by the French Steamship Line. The cup is to be awarded the exhibitor winning in the invitation group, arranged as a garden or landscape of some design. The dahlia show is being sponsored by the Sewickley Horticultural Society.

AWAIT NAMING OF VERONA'S SUCCESSOR

While District Attorney Gardner was presenting his petition for a grand jury probe of the vice-graft charges of Alderman Verona, deposed police magistrate, members of City Council made it known today that they would not act in the matter, at least for a time.

In the meantime members of Council had discussed the Verona charges and it was indicated that, unless some individual member takes the initiative, nothing will be done by that body until the Mayor sends the name of Verona's successor to Council for confirmation.

The decision of District Attorney Gardner has been awaited since Verona threw a bombshell by telling Mayor Charles H. Kline that his police department was honeycombed with graft. Gardner had promised action as soon as he could confer with Judge Drew.

MALONE WON'T ACT

Council's action may be confined to confirmation or rejection of the appointee, who, according to close friends of the mayor, has not yet been selected. There is a more than remote possibility of a rejection by council, if the appointment is regarded as a political one.

"Do you intend to make any investigation of the charges made against the city police by Verona?" was the question put to President of Council James F. Malone.

"We have no desire and we do not want to interfere with any grand jury investigation conducted by the district attorney," he replied.

"Why not have a councilmanic investigation?"

"Council has no authority to discharge or prosecute police officials. That is purely a function of the administrative branch of the government."

Councilman Charles Anderson, regarded as friendly to the faction led by Senator M. G. Leslie and represented in the present battle by Verona and his allies, Thomas Flanigan and Owen McManus, chairmen of the First and Second wards, stated he did not care to discuss the situation at the present time. Anderson is chairman of the councilmanic committee on public safety.

JONES' CASE RECALLED

The inability of Council to take any definite action because of legal limitations was stressed as the reason for not entering an investigation of the Verona charges. Several members recalled the police investigation instituted by Councilman Daniel Winters during the administration of William A. Magee in an effort to answer the question "What happened to Jones?" Edward N. Jones, just prior to the investigation, had suddenly resigned as superintendent of police without any explanation.

Scores of witnesses were called at that time, the courts sustained the councilmanic right to subpena citizens, hundreds of columns of testimony were taken, but, at the finish, all that could be done was to recommend that the mayor improve the police service, which, according to the testimony, appeared to be lax in certain directions.

'LIFER,' WIFE'S SLAYER, DIES AFTER 14 YEARS

Geremia Abitelli, 51, died in the hospital of the Western Penitentiary last night of cancer. Sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife, he was committed to the penitentiary December 28, 1914, the prison reported to the morgue.

TRUE-COLOR PICTURES READY

New color is coming to Pittsburgh—color which will rival the city's multi-hued hills or the belching flames that flare into the night. It will be in the form of a color Gravure Sections (pictures in natural color) which will start in next Sunday's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and appear every Sunda, thereafter as a new and outstanding feature. It will be by far the most beautiful offering ever presented to readers.

Color Gravure is comparatively new. It surpasses any other color process, reproducing every shade value just as the artist painted it or the camera caught it. Pictures of this kind are much more pleasing and natural.

Pittsburgh, considered by many to be an art center, will become even more closely identified with the fine arts through the color gravure as presented by The Sun-Telegraph.

The paintings of Pittsburgh artists, the work of the contemporary artists throughout the world, will be reproduced in their natural colors. Appreciation for color will be quickened and the art interest in Pittsburgh will be stimulated through the color gravure.

The first issue will present several paintings by Pittsburgh artists. One is of a series by Otto Kuhler that hangs in the Chamber of Commerce.

Malcolm Parcell, one of Pittsburgh's most distinguished artists, will be represented.

Parcell, who was born in Washington, Pa., in 1896, studied at Carnegie Institute of Technology and first attracted attention by winning a prize at the ninth annual exhibition of the Associated Artists of Pittsburgh. Shortly afterward, in 1920, he became nationally known through winning the Saltus prize at the National Academy exhibition, one of the youngest ever to win this important award. Since then he has won many other prizes throughout the country.

The introduction of color gravures or "Pictures in Natural Color," will no doubt receive the same enthusiastic reception and approval from Pittsburgh newspaper readers as it has in other cities where it has been instituted. Pittsburgh will be numbered among eight cities in the entire country having this exclusive feature.

CITY AND P. R. R. TALK PROJECT

A discussion of the $175,000 contract ordinance for the improvement of Pike street and the general improvement plan proposed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, took place yesterday following the regular meeting of City Council. Both the city officials and the representatives of the railroad are desirous of co-operating.

The matter was referred back to the law department. One important question to be ironed out was raised by City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, who asked whether the company should not bear the cost of the improvement, inasmuch as the city has given the company a strip of ground 20 feet wide for the widening of the street.

CHARLEROI EXPOSITION HAS 1,000 DISPLAYS

CHARLEROI, Sept. 25.—The Charleroi exposition opened yesterday with more than 1,000 industrial and agricultural displays on exhibit. The exposition, promoted annually here by the Chamber of Commerce, includes a week's program, presenting a poultry show, automobile exhibit, agricultural numbers and general "fair" features. A baby parade and clinic, to be held on Thursday, offers 12 prizes for entries.

CORN BORER IN VENANGO, FARM AGENT REPORTS

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 25.—Many corn borers remain in Venango county, according to County Farm Bureau Agent Eugene Ifft. He advises that the insect is likely to be a permanent resident here, and a steady fight against it is the only way to keep it subdued. He visited 11 fields of corn in Sugarcreek, Canal and Frenchcreek townships, and found corn borers in all but one.

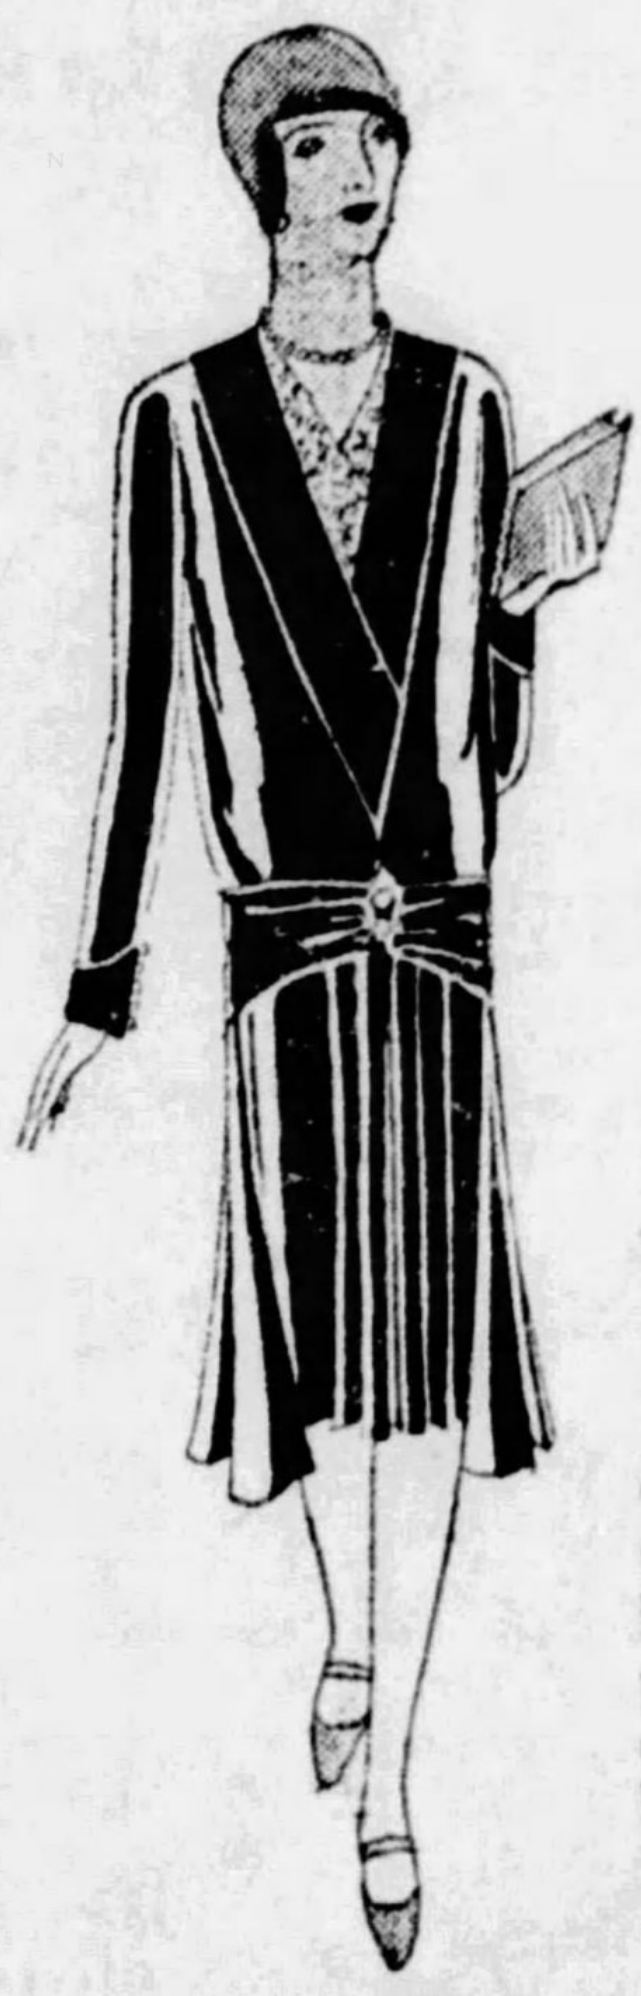
Slenderizing Models

For the Larger Woman



$25

Dresses designed to give slenderizing grace to the large figure and yet be moderate in price, are these twenty-five dollar ones.

Of satin used discreetly and smartly; of flat crepe and Canton crepe trimmed with velvet or a touch of lace; of Georgette used in softly draped manner.

Cream-tinted vestees break the width of the bodice; draped finishes soften the bust line; dipping hemlines and surplice closings give the illusion of length. Sizes 42½ to 52½.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Lily of France Girdle

For the Larger Woman

Designed to effect the flat hipline that the mode demands. Of handsome brocade and French hand-loom elastic with triple front boning for diaphragm control and just enough boning to create a smooth hipline. Elastic inserts at waist give a subtle suggestion of a waistline. Sizes 28 to 38.

14-inch Length, $12.00
16-inch Length, $12.50

Under-fashions create beauty of line, only when scientifically fitted. Graduate corsetieres to serve you.

In the Youthful Manner

A New Velveteen Sports Ensemble

$25.00

The ensemble theme is the most important one of the Autumn season, and in this costume the Sportswear Shop has discovered one more charming way for young women to enjoy it.

The three-quarters coat and the skirt are of velveteen in either brown, independence blue, wine or green. The jumper is of fine wool jersey in natural color, with bandings of the velveteen. In misses' sizes 14 to 20.

Italian Pottery

Wide Assortment of Lovely Pieces in a Special Selling Tomorrow

Personally selected and directly imported, this beautiful pottery is selling for less than any we have ever been able to offer.

They glow with the rich colors characteristic of the pottery made in Italy—warm reds, soft old blues and greens, golden yellow and orange tones, harmoniously blended against a deep cream ground, or rose and blue against white.

There are dozens of graceful and unusual shapes—tall vases widely rounded with narrow mouth, urn shaped, big jugs, and bowls for fruit or flowers. They are individual in style, only one or two of each kind, and are extremely decorative.

SUN-TELEGRAPH COOK SCHOOL RECIPES

Here are the recipes that Mrs. Edna Riggs Crabtree, expert in home economics, demonstrated last Thursday in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Free Cooking School:

Chocolate Meringue Pie.

1¼ cups flour.
⅓ cup shortening.
1-6 teaspoon water.
1 teaspoon salt.

Sift the flour and salt. Cut in the shortening. Add water, mixing with knife. Form into a dough from a floured board, handle very lightly, and roll from one-fourth to one-eight inch thick. Cover an inverted pie plate with pastry; turn back the edges to make it firm. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in a hot oven 450 degrees F. about 15 minutes. Then fill with chocolate cream made as follows:

2 squares from ½-lb. cake of chocolate.
2 cups milk.
1 tablespoon vanilla.
3 egg yolks.
¾ cup sugar.

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Blend sugar, salt and cornstarch. Add milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks and melted chocolate. Continue cooking a minute or two. Pour into the baked shell, cover with meringue made by beating the 3 egg whites until stiff and dry, and add 6 tablespoons granulated sugar. Return to slow oven 300 degrees F. for 15 minutes or until brown. Serve when thoroughly cold. Make one medium size pie.

Fruited Cup Cakes.

1 cup sugar.
3 eggs.
1¾ cups flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add vanilla and beat thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin or cup cake pans and bake in quick oven 425 degrees F. 15 to 20 minutes. This recipe makes 15 to 20 cakes.

Filling.

¼ cup cold water.
1 cup sugar.
2 cups grated pineapple.
1 cup thick cream.

Cook pineapple and sugar until thick and set aside to cool. Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes and let stand over boiling water until dissolved. When cold add stiffly whipped cream and beat into pineapple. Cut off top of one cup cake, hollow out center and fill with above paste. Replace top of cake and cover whole of cake with frosting and decorate with pieces of pineapple and figs. If desired, any fresh or canned fruit may be used in place of pineapple for making the paste.

Icing.

1 egg yolk.
2½ cups confectioners sugar.
2 squares of chocolate.

Cream shortening. Beat in egg yolks, then melted chocolate, sugar and salt. Beat until creamy. This icing may be forced through a pastry bag to decorate individual cakes.

Frozen Fruit Salad.

2 tablespoons cold water.
2 tablespoons grapefruit juice.
¼ cup mayonnaise dressing.
Lettuce.
1 cup fruit, fresh or canned.
1-2 cup grapefruit pulp.
Salt.
Paprika.
Sugar.
Sparkling French dressing.

Soak gelatine in cold water, dissolve over hot water, add grapefruit juice slowly and add to mayonnaise dressing. Beat cream until light and gradually beat in mayonnaise. Fold in fruit can cut in small pieces and season to taste with salt, paprika and sugar. Pack in molds, freeze in freezer or drawer of electric refrigerator. Serve on lettuce with Sparkling French dressing.

Sparkling French Dressing.

¼ cup boiling water.
1-3 cup salad oil.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon sugar.
2 tablespoons vinegar or lemon juice.
¼ teaspoon paprika.

Dissolve gelatine in hot water; sweeten and color red with vegetable coloring. Chill and when nearly set add remaining ingredients. Let stand until thoroughly congealed and beat just before serving.

Mock Angel Food Cake.

1½ cups flour.
1 cup sugar.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1½ level teaspoons baking powder.
2 egg whites.
Speck of salt.

Scald milk in double boiler. Sift flour once, then measure and sift four times with the sugar, baking powder and salt. Add the hot milk slowly and stir until smooth. Add vanilla and carefully fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. The batter is very thin. Bake in an ungreased angel food pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40-45 minutes.

Glorified Rice.

¼ cup cold water.
Cup boiling water.
½ cup sugar.
¼ teaspoonful salt.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
1 cup canned pineapple juice or other fruit juice.

Soak gelatine in cold water, dissolve in hot water and add other ingredients. When liquid is chilled, whip to consistency of heavy cream. Have ready 2 cups of cooked, cold boiled rice. Fold rice into whipped gelatine, add one cup whipped cream. Serve very cold.

Omelet.

2 soda crackers.
½ cup milk.
2 eggs.
½ teaspoonful baking powder.
Pinch of salt.

Soak crackers in milk one hour or over night in a refrigerator. Beat eggs separately and well. Add to crackers and milk, with salt and baking powder. Put mixture in hot, greased frying pan. When puffed up and browned, fold over, and let stand one minute. Serve on hot platter.

CUTICURA HEALS PIMPLES ON FACE
Burned Like Fire and Very Itchy. Bothered Over a Year.

"Pimples broke out on my face. They were hard and red and scaled over. The pimples burned like fire and were very itchy. I was bothered with them for over a year. I used everything I could think of and they did not do any good. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three months I was completely healed, after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Roy Mangold, Box 237, Carrolltown, Pa.

Keep your skin clear by using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum for daily toilet purposes. Touch pimples and itching, if any, with Cuticura Ointment, bathe with Cuticura Soap and hot water.

DID WONDERS FOR NORTH SIDE LADY

Underwent a Great Change for Better, After Using Ten Herbs, She States.

"Ten Herbs has done such wonders for me that I came in today to tell you about the great benefits I have received," was the statement of Mrs. Mary Stanko, 3237 Central Avenue, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular herbal compound to crowds of men and women.

MRS. MARY STANKO

"For several years I had suffered from what seemed to be a poisoned and clogged-up system," Mrs. Stanko continued. "I was so billous my complexion was sallow, and I had sieges of headaches that would almost make me cry. My eyes became affected so that I had to wear glasses. My back ached so badly that I could hardly get out of bed in the morning. I was also troubled with constipation, and was in such a nervous condition that even the autos going past the house would make me jump. Sleep was almost impossible. I finally became so weak and rundown that I could not finish half the day's housework without having to lie down.

"Ten Herbs made a great change in me. My system seems to have had a thorough cleansing. I have been relieved of constipation, billous attacks and headaches. My eyes are so much stronger that I have discarded glasses. The pains are gone from my back. I am not so easily excited. When night comes I sleep soundly and arise in the morning feeling rested. I can do my housework without fatigue or exhaustion. I am thankful to have found such good help, and cannot say enough in favor of Ten Herbs to show my appreciation."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

Satirical and Musical Comedy, Sound and Silent Moving Pictures, Vaudeville and Burlesque Reviewed

"Marco Millions" in the Nixon Leaves Audience Wondering Is It Satire or Travelogue?

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

WHIRLED from Venice to Cathay and home again, in a succession of scenes enlivened by fireworks of sly and flashing wit, the people who went a-voyaging with Marco Polo at the Nixon Theater last night did not have time to figure out whether they were in a gondola or a motorboat. They were going! "Marco Millions" is a play unlike other plays—as most of Eugene O'Neill's things are—"diff'rent." Sometimes you think it's a travelogue; then you're sure it's a satire; then you find a chunk of sentiment that tastes like a fairy tale, or a nugget of philosophy that glitters like the gold of true wisdom.

GEORGE SEIBEL

The hero is really an American drummer disguised as Burton Holmes. O'Neill has read H. L. Mencken and the other prophets who denounce Babbitt with raucous zeal. So he makes Marco Polo the typical American dollar-hunter, while all the Chinese uncontaminated by Christianity are sweet and spiritual souls. Marco talks in millions and has no sentiment in his gluttonous carcass. He judges things by their size and men by their wealth. Right here is where the logic of Mr. O'Neill springs a leak. Marco being so egregiously egotistical and vapid, how does the gentle and poetic Princess manage to love him?

Well, if love were scientific and went by common sense, it would not be love. Romance is irrational. Marco starts out as a poet; he comes home as a money-bag. He talks of duty, but he thinks of ducats. In other words, he is the Successful Man—the man who has lost his soul, if ever he had one. The play is an ironic fairy tale, half allegory and half satire. It astounds the eye, it fills the ear with juicy rhetoric, it tickles the brain with many a telling jibe.

Of dramatic conflict, plot, climax, and all other elements of ordinary dramatic construction, O'Neill gives us barely a glimmering. He is concerned with deeper things. "Life is so stupid it's mysterious," says his oriental sage. He attributes it all to an "Infinite Insane Energy." It is the same solution offered in Oedipus Rex and in King Lear. Only here it is related with poignant emphasis to our present day. The people on the stage are the business men, politicians, militarists, and mob of all times—Venice, Cathay, Gotham.

This great satiric poem in dramatic form is presented with marvelous understanding. If anybody in the audience did not "get it," that was not the fault of the producer or the actors. Not a false note was struck in any scene. And at least one great actor, if not three, embodied the characters who are the bearers of O'Neill's message.

The greatest of these is Morris Carnovsky, who plays Kublai Kaan. His reading of his lines is rich music; there is profound sincerity in all his gestures and movements. Earle Larrimore as Marco Polo portrays the evolution of a self-satisfied climber with great unction, and almost convinces us that there could be some one that stupid. Claude Rains as Chu-Yin, the old sage, would make the Dalai-Lama accept him as a brother. Margalo Gillmore put poetic value into the very difficult part of the Princess, who must be almost as stupid as Marco himself to love him. And fine characterizations were given by Philip Leigh, Whitford Kane, Sanford Meisner and various others.

Atmosphere, lighting, tempo, all the incidental and essential elements of dramatic art were blended in a production as perfect as our stage could make it. "Marco Millions" deserves such lavish care. It is not as great a philosophical poem as Job, it is not as raw a satire as "Babbitt," but it gets under the skin and stirs up thought. People who wish to see a noble play splendidly acted and impressively staged, have the opportunity this week. It may puzzle them at first to decide where they are bound, but they'll get there.

JOHNNY HINES FILM FEATURE IN OLYMPIC

"Chinatown Charlie," comedy film in the Olympic, based on an Owen Davis play, presents Johnny Hines as the guide and announcer of a sight-seeing 'bus in New York, fun and action developing when he conducts a party through the traditional mysteries and mazes of the Chinatown district. Louise Lorraine is the heroine and Anna May Wong and Sojin have oriental roles. It is fair entertainment. There also is a comedy, "Smith's Cousin," and the Pathe News.

ALL THESE SMILES -:- SMILED BY SMILERS -:- NOW SMILING HERE

Margalo Gilmore has the leading feminine role in "Marco Millions," Theater Guild play in Nixon.

Margaret Lee is prominent in "Good News," musical comedy of the college campus, on view in Alvin.

Cecil Lean helps to keep up the cause of bigger fun in the Stanley, where he is a stage feature.

Muriel Kaye, dancer, has help in her act, which is part of the vaudeville offered on the Davis stage.

"Good News," Musical Play In Alvin, Is Filled With Fun and Spirit of Youth

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS.

"Good News," tuneful, full of comedy and human interest, and electric with the animation and exuberance of youth, gave an Alvin audience an evening of thorough enjoyment last night. It is tuneful with the melody of familiar airs, airs with which we have become acquainted through hearing them played time and again over the radio, but the catchy music takes on a new significance when it is heard in its elemental setting, backed up by the vivacity of a stageful of romping, stomping youngsters. To see and hear "Good News" is to be rejuvenated, for it is filled with the spirit and freshness of juvenile ecstacy. As entertainment it is diverting to a degree remarkable even among musical comedies. Small wonder its tunes became familiar long before the play itself appeared here. They and the action of the play symbolize youth.

"Good News" has a story. Not too subtle, but logical. It is all about Tait College and its football aspirations. Its star football player cannot play unless he passes an examination, and the prof is reputed to be hard. The exam is terrible, but for the honor of old Tait the prof passes the star, and the action proceeds to the game itself. The star is off his game, and the contest is all but lost when Mr. Star picks up a fumbled ball, is almost to the goal when—no, you must see it yourself. The actual run is shown on the stage—one of the clever novelties.

Besides the football there also is romance, of course, and plenty of comedy of situation, all good for numerous laughs. And besides the music there is dancing—boy, dancing! Hey, hey, collegiate and everybody becomes a 'rah-'rah boy in spirit. The voices are not of operatic quality, but they are not so bad, either, and, as a whole, the singing was pleasing. The glee club trio, three crooning boys, Charles Heffernan, Edward Gallagher and Lew Bellin, harmonized nicely, and the songs of the principals, Don Lanning, the football hero; Mildred Costello, and Dorothy Fitzgibbon, were all well received. Comedy was well taken care of by William Wayne and Margaret Lee, a mite full of vim attached to a pair of nervous feet. Frank Alexander and Elizabeth Swanson also scored in the stepping.

STARS OF RADIO IN HARRIS

Lew White and Company put a lot of laughs into the vaudeville bill in the Harris for three days. Lew is quite a comedian. His company offers two skits—one that has to do with a flirty sort of a fellow, a girl and a policeman; and the other with a hotel clerk, and two guests, who have a lot of fun in the dark. The Four Aristocrats, known to radio fans, get the applause with an instrumental and vocal performance which proves good entertainment. Humor is their chief side line. Jack Ryan sings and chatters. It's mostly old stuff, but Jack manages to put it over. Sand and Doone, a couple of young entertainers, come out with slickers and collegiate mannerisms. The Wilhat Trio amuses in acrobatic stunts, utilizing a bicycle and a little wheezing automobile, that sputters about, for comic effects. Tom and Betty Waters, brother and sister, do some fancy feats on the wire. The photoplay, quite an amusing one, is "Buck Privates." It has to do with the adventures of several doughboys in the Army of Occupation. Malcolm MacGregor and Lya De Putti are prominent in the cast. An organlogue and short features complete the bill.

PENN PICTURE DRAMATIC

Emil Jannings, in "The Patriot," gives the Penn its first sound effect picture as the photoplay attraction in that theater this week. The sound effects are neither frequent or startling but the picture itself registers for sheer drama and some of the best acting the screen has seen in a long time. It gives great opportunities to Emil Jannings, probably the greatest character in photoplays, and to Lewis Stone, and Florence Vidor. Jannings' role is of an uncouth Russian Czar, Paul, half mad, whose incapacity for government is the cause of a conspiracy, led by Stone, trusted by the monarch, and who makes use of a beautiful woman, played by Miss Vidor, to innocently help in the plot. When she finds the marked man pitiable in his helplessness she tries to save him but her good intentions go for naught. The finale, tragic, is left for Stone and Miss Vidor and one is almost forced to forget the fine acting Jannings has done in admiration for the art of Mr. Stone. Those who please in the snappy stage bill, presented as "Parisian Nights," include Teddy Joyce, Novelle Brothers, musical clowns; Williams Sisters, in songs; Henry Mack, tenor; Eastman and Mara, dancers, and the Foster Dancing Chorus. The overture and organ specialty also are liked.

TOM MEIGHAN STAR IN GRAND PHOTOPLAY

Tom Meighan, who made quite a racket as a police officer in that successful sound picture, "The Racket," has quit the policing business and has gone in for Florida farming. At least, in his newest film, "The Mating Call," that's his role. Tom comes back from the war with medals and honor and that sort of thing—only to be disappointed in love. So he marries an immigrant girl he meets on Ellis Island. He marries her not for love, but so he has some one to help him on the farm. But love is awakened after all—just before the final fadeout when a gang of hooded night riders come after our hero, whom they charge with being responsible for the death of a girl, who committed suicide on his farm But a packet of letters turn up in the nick of time and Tom is saved for a happy future with his immigrant wife, played by Renee Adoree. Short screen entertainment completes the bill. "The Mating Call" is based on the Rex Beach story by that name.

WHITEMAN ORCHESTRA FOR FOOTBALL DANCE

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra are to play at a football dance Saturday night in Syria Mosque. With him he brings his 25-piece orchestra, including two vocalists—"Skin" Young and Charlie Gaylord. Young has created a great Pittsburgh following through his singing with the Mason-Dixon Orchestra. Jock Sutherland, Pitt coach, has arranged to have the entire Pitt squad to meet Whiteman at the dance.

"FOUR SONS" PICTURE RETAINED IN ALDINE

"Four Sons," dramatic photoplay which pleased Aldine audiences last

'THE WHIP' IN STANLEY

"The Whip," a photoplay with sound effects and based on the old Drury Lane melodrama, and a stage act featuring Cecil Lean and Cleo Mayfield, former musical comedy stars, are the two chief attractions in the Stanley this week. Cecil and Cleo sing quite a lot—mostly in a comedy vein. They have a unique way of speeding up their song words that is quite effective—but which, at least at yesterday afternoon's performance, was rather difficult to hear in the rear of the house. They received a fair applause at that time. "The Whip" is satisfactory entertainment, with thrills in its horse racing and hunting scenes and with brilliance in its society functions. Of course, like all good melodramas, the villian is lurking around through it all—the suave Lowell Sherman in this case. But it all ends quite happily with the rich and handsome blonde Englishman, Ralph Forbes, winning the charming daughter of the English gentleman, Marc McDermott. Anna Q. Nilsson also is in the cast—chasing rainbows of dollar signs. Several vocal selections are offered with the film. David Broudy and his orchestra are responsible for an entertaining overture presentation. A synchronized cartoon comedy and other short film features are on the bill.

FILM FUN HIT IN DAVIS

This week the film comedy in the Davis is the best thing on the bill—and it's a good vaudeville bill at that. But Charles Murray has such an opportunity in "Vamping Venus' that the rest fades. The story is one of those Connecticut Yankee yarns with a Greek mythology background. It is glorious fun and a fine spectacle. Murray's faces are enough but here they are the commentary on a plot rich in ludicrous incident and spectacular scenes. The vaudeville, as intimated, holds its own with the photoplay. Miss Merle with her educated birds has the most pleasing novelty. Morton and Betty Harvey bring very good stories and songs—he is a genuine comedian with a voice. Muriel Kaye does graceful dancing, assisted by four young men of ability and agility. Johns and Mabley give clever imitations of the variety acts of 30 years ago. Johnnie Berkes is a clowning idiot who stirs up great hilarity, and the skating act of Sandy Lang combines grace with whirlwind acrobatics. Altogether a most pleasing bill.

WILL DO ALL IT CLAIMS TO DO

Mrs. Steele Says of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Pratt, W. Va.—"I was so weak and nervous that I was in bed most all the time and couldn't sit up and I am only 30 years old. I saw your advertising in a magazine and after I had taken three doses of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could feel that I was better. After taking two bottles I began doing my work and I feel like a new woman. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and say it will do all it claims to do and more. I will gladly answer all letters I recive."—MRS. S. E. STEELE, Pratt, W. Va.

MIXED IDENTITIES FUN IN SHERIDAN

Featuring the vaudeville in the Sheridan Square for the first half of this week Jack Debell and his company appear in "Twins," the cast including two pairs of twins. The comedy develops from mixed identities. The skit includes songs and dances. Hap Farnell localizes his song numbers with impromptu rhyming and is assisted by a young woman. Arthur and Darling and Elsie Pitcer and Dudley Douglas present novelty offerings. Holly, with a trick voice, offers rube character songs. The screen feature is "Buck Privates," with Lya De Putti and Malcolm McGregor in the leading roles. There also is an organlogue and short screen numbers.

AN OPEN LETTER TO HON. CHAS. H. KLINE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH.

Dear Mayor Kline:—

The Pittsburgh newspapers of tomorrow evening will carry our full page advertisement on "Pennsylvania Day"--one day set aside to feature articles of merchandise made in the State of Pennsylvania.

As Chief Executive of the City of Pittsburgh--one of the foremost industrial centers of Pennsylvania --you will be interested, no doubt, in seeing this evidence of the extensive purchases we make within the Keystone State. Our confidence in the future of the Commonwealth leads us to publish this evidence of belief in its present worth.

Much of the merchandise in this advertisement will carry special prices as an extra contribution to the worthiness of the day. Another of our constant efforts to increase the buying power of the Pittsburgh consumer's dollar.

Very truly yours,

The Rosenbaum Company

SCRANTON C. OF C. PARTY TO ARRIVE HERE TODAY

A party of 150 members of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce will arrive this evening for an overnight stop on a tour of this section of the country. At noon tomorrow there will be a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce attended by the Scranton visitors. The principal address will be delivered at the luncheon by William L. Monro, president of the American Window Glass Company.

week, again is the feature in that theater, which also retains talkie novelties and the audible comedy, "The Family Picnic." The principal character of "Four Sons," a German mother whose sons all participate in the World War, is excellently portrayed by Margaret Mann.

ACADEMY PRESENTS NEW 'SUGAR BABIES'

Harry Fields and his new edition of "Sugar Babies" are in the Academy this week. The scenes are laid in various parts of the world and Fields carries the burden of comedy. In the sketches, "A Chinese Den" and "The Easiest Way" he is aided in the fun-making by Jack Rosen, George Stella and Harry C. Van. Opal Taylor is featured in the singing. Joan Lee and Ray Keith also take part in the musical program. Ka-Lua has a shimmy dance specialty. The chorus also is prominent. A midnight show is to be given Friday, the entire receipts to go to the Red Cross for the benefit of the hurricane sufferers in Florida and West Indies.

"VAMPING VENUS" LIBERTY FUN FILM

"Vamping Venus," starring Charlie Murray and Louise Fazenda, is the hilarious comedy screen feature in the Liberty. The action is modern and American, with a side excursion into ancient Greece by the modern Americans, and much fun as a consequence. Murray dominating most of the consequences. There also is a stage show of singing, dancing and comedy.

DIX BASEBALL FILM SCREENED IN REGENT

Richard Dix, in a baseball picture with sound effects, "Warming Up," is the attraction in the Regent. Dix is a rookie pitcher in this one and he mixes his comedy with heroics and romance in a story that follows the young recruit on and off the diamond. Jean Arthur furnishes the feminine interest and Mike Donlin, old-time baseball star, is a member of the cast. There also are news pictures and a film novelty.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit-forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use for constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. For a free trial, mail the special coupon printed here:

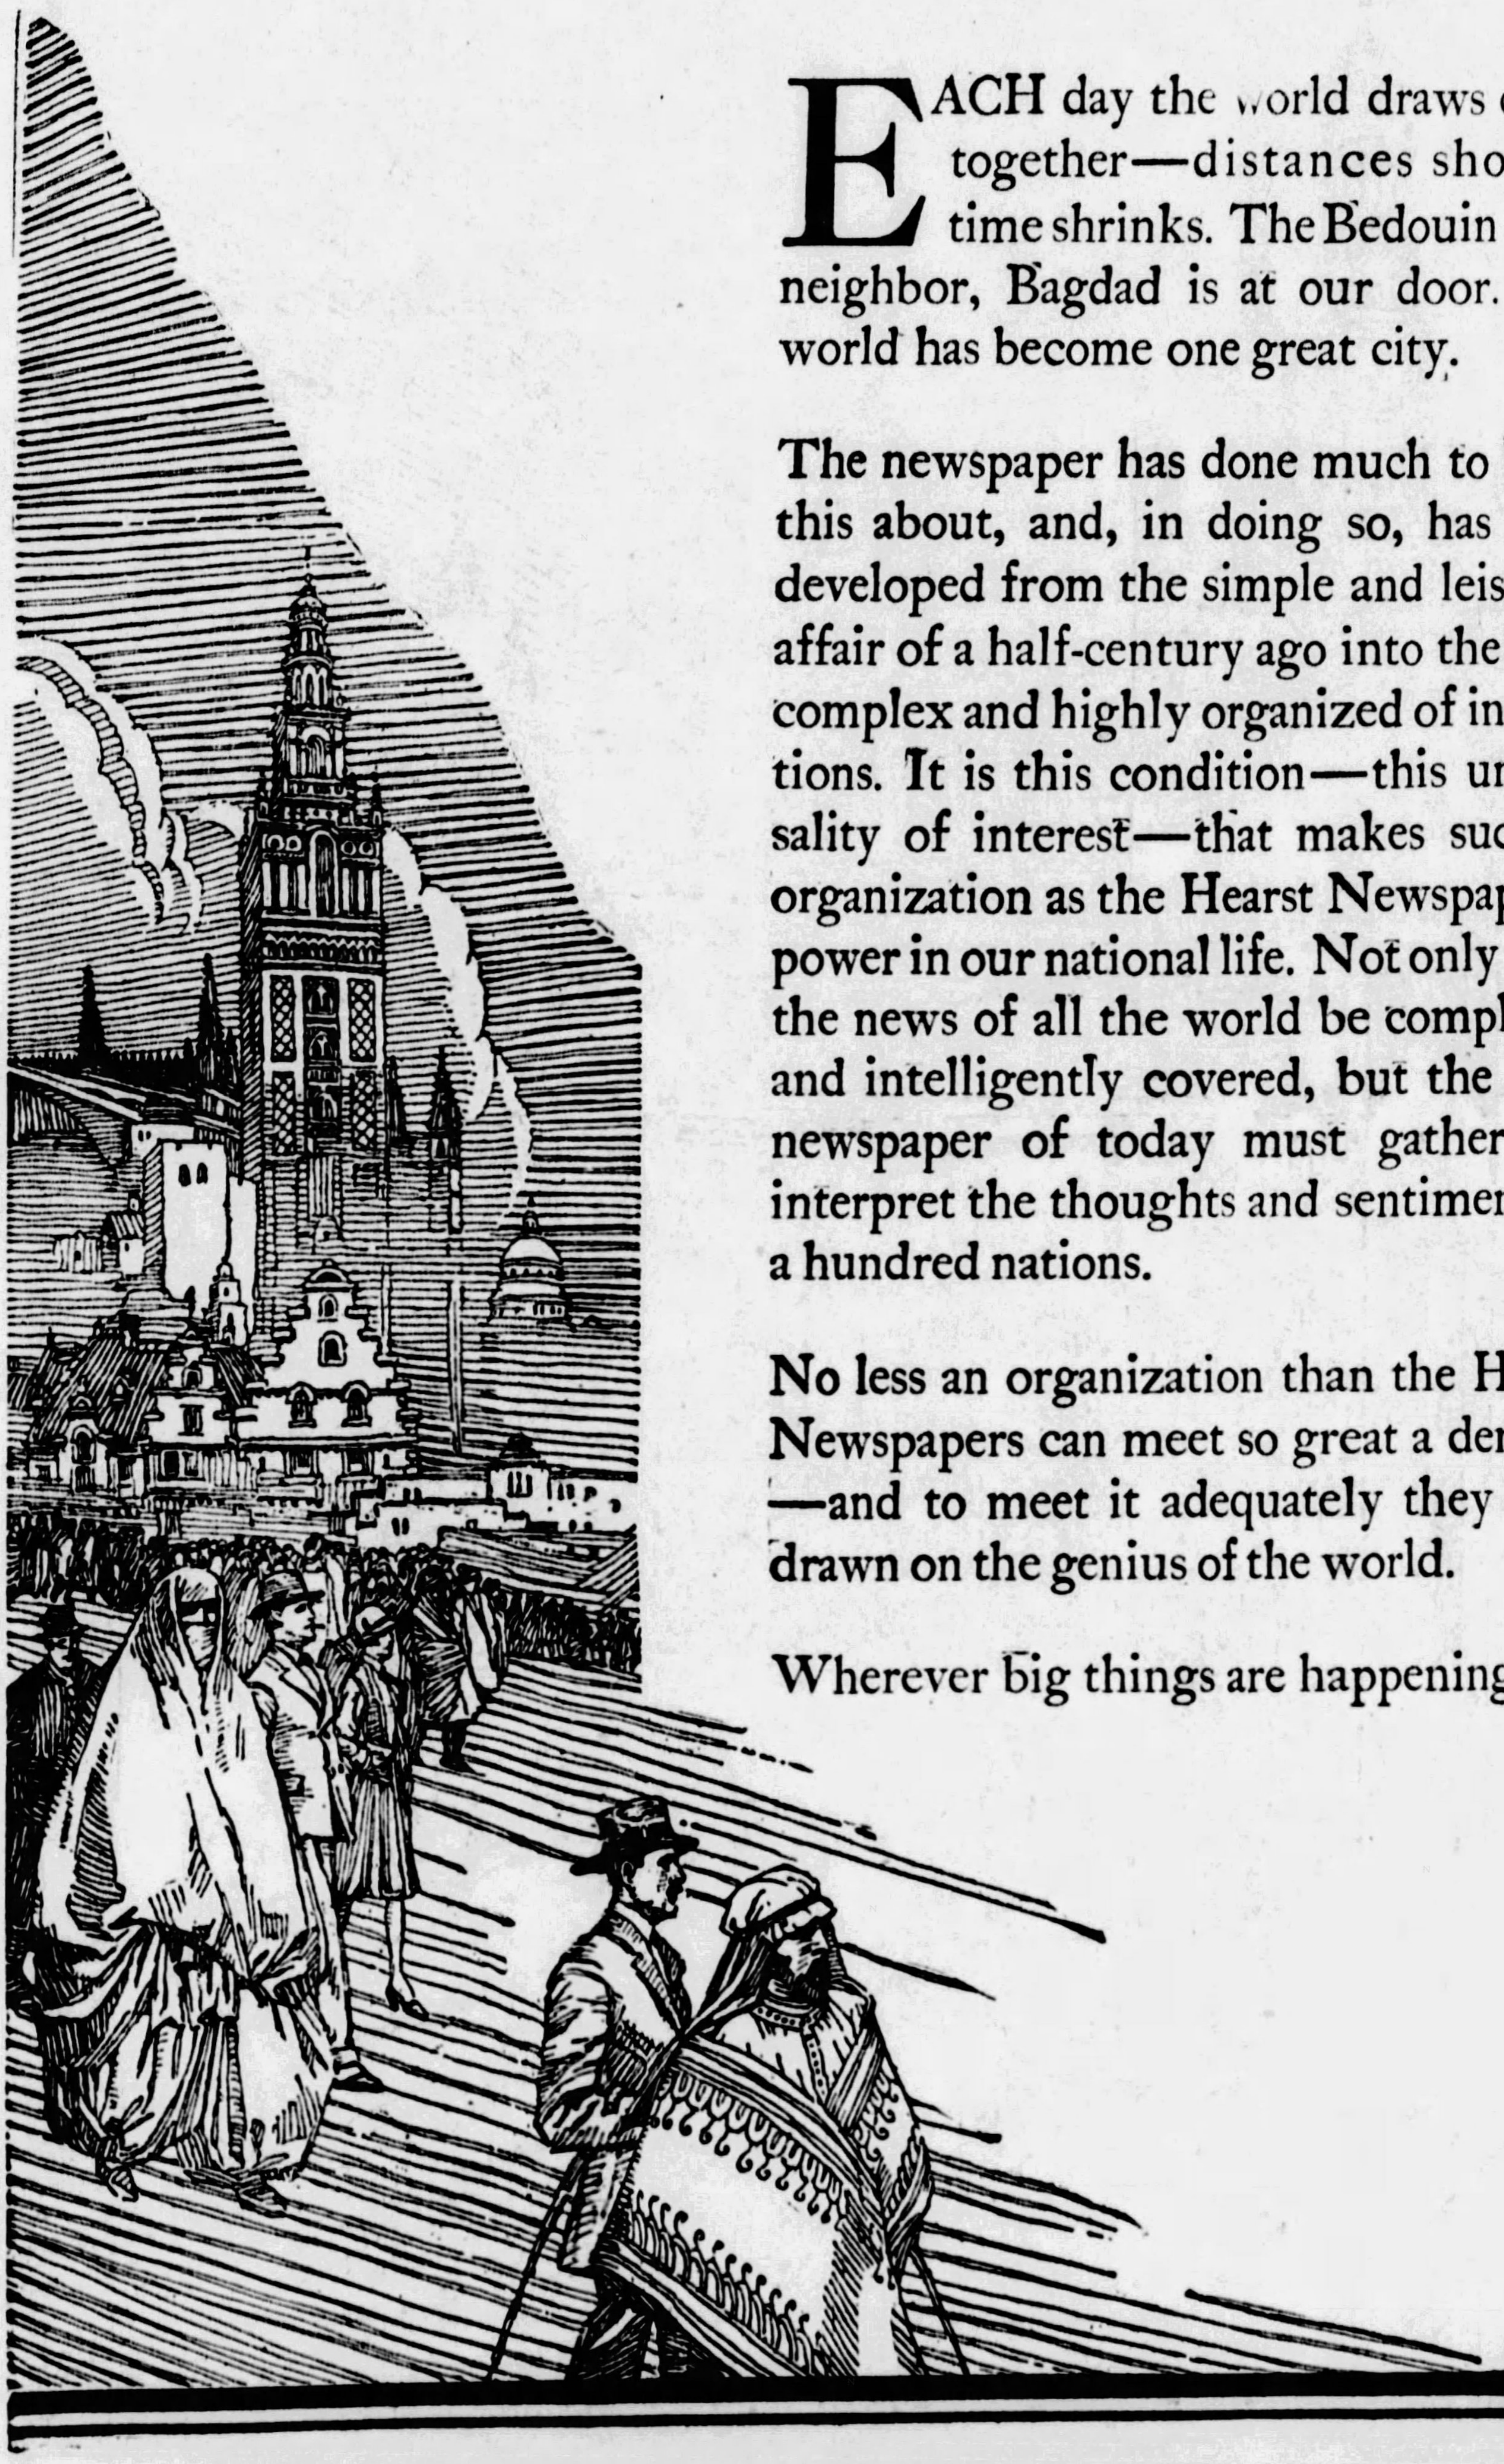
HEARST

The World a City



EACH day the world draws closer together—distances shorten, time shrinks. The Bedouin is our neighbor, Bagdad is at our door. The world has become one great city.

The newspaper has done much to bring this about, and, in doing so, has itself developed from the simple and leisurely affair of a half-century ago into the most complex and highly organized of institutions. It is this condition—this universality of interest—that makes such an organization as the Hearst Newspapers a power in our national life. Not only must the news of all the world be completely and intelligently covered, but the daily newspaper of today must gather and interpret the thoughts and sentiments of a hundred nations.

No less an organization than the Hearst Newspapers can meet so great a demand—and to meet it adequately they have drawn on the genius of the world.

Wherever big things are happening, the men who know the details most intimately tell them to Hearst readers. Statesmen and rulers write the daily story of shifting politics and policies, great scientists reveal the momentous secrets of the laboratory, champions describe their victories, the foremost authors, soldiers, musicians, actors, dramatists, artists, comment on the latest and best in their particular realms. Whatever the field, the story is covered in Hearst Newspapers by the men best qualified to write it—brightly, intelligently, intimately.

This reservoir of genius, on which the Hearst Newspapers continually draw, is one reason for their unique position in American journalism. Combined with the vast machinery of distribution necessary to handle more than 5,000,000 newspapers, it gives the Hearst Newspapers an unparalleled place in America—a position of tremendous responsibility as an index and molder of public opinion and an influence on national life.

NO STRINGS TO AD TEST AWARDS

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

(Read These Carefully)

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks. Grand prize, $1,000. Grand weekly prize, $100. Five prizes each week for six weeks for best ads written for each concern participating—195 each week, 1,170 prizes in all.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for first period must be received by midnight, October 3, at the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the second period, and so on.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize, contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed. A person may win more than one prize.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper at least postcard size. Place name of advertiser at top, write words, phrase, poem, slogan, essay or letter. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

8—In the event of a tie, the prizes will be awarded to EACH winner.

SUGGESTIONS

1—Prizes are awarded for ideas. Grammar, punctuation, spelling, or fancy handwriting, layouts, or art work not essential.

2—Study the ads of the firms in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Zain campaign. They offer goods or service. They seek ideas. Get your family and friends interested. Write briefly and to the point. A letter, even, may win you a prize.

3—New, original, brief ideas may win prizes or the GRAND PRIZE of $1,000.

4—The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph-Zain Ad Test Editor, Grant 6500, will answer any and all questions.

in advertisement writing to get into the Zain Ad-Test on the same footing with the other participants.

IDEAS, NOT GRAMMAR

You don't have to have education in the sense of "book learning." It is not intellect, but intelligence that counts in the Ad-Test.

Whatever your occupation or position in life, if you have ideas in regard to the stores, merchandise or services of the co-operating companies in the test, and can express them, you are just as well equipped as anyone else for the Ad-Test and should by all means get into it. For even though you should not win a prize you are going to have ENTERTAINMENT IN ABUNDANCE.

This is what led the participating concerns to join with The Sun-Telegraph in promoting the test: They want to know what the public thinks are the most attractive points about their stores, their products or the services that they render.

And what better way is there by which they can find out then by asking the public to write ads about them?

Don't you see how valuable these suggestions will be to the advertisers?

The co-operating firms are just as anxious to know what you think about them as they are to get the ideas of anybody else.

SEEK AVERAGE VIEW

Probably there are thousands of folks around here just like you, and if the advertisers can learn what YOU think will be good advertisements for them, they will be in position to make a more powerful appeal to the multitude of other people like you, who may be more forcibly impressed by your ideas than they would be by those of a professional advertising man.

The men and women who take part in the Zain Ad-Test are going to give the Pittsburgh commercial houses that are joined with The Sun-Telegraph in sponsoring the campaign a new slant on how the people regard their products.

The co-operating advertisers, whose names, addresses and products are given elsewhere on this page, will be glad to help you write your ads. They are holding a luncheon at the Roosevelt Hotel today to discuss ways of making the Ad-Test still more interesting for you.

It is going to be a huge success—that's certain—and you will be glad you got into it whether you win a prize or not.

NO STRINGS TO PRIZES

We want to assure you that there is no catch in the plan. It is positively free from strings of any sort. You do not have to spend a cent to win the $1,000 prize. You do not have to subscribe for The Sun-Telegraph; you do not have to clip coupons from the paper; you do not have to buy anything from the co-operating advertisers.

All you need do is to get an idea that you think will help to sell the product or service of the company that your ad is to deal with, write it on a sheet of paper at least as big as a postal card, put your name and address on the back, and send it to the Zain Ad-Writing Test, care of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. To be eligible for the $1,000 prize you must write an ad about each of the co-operating firms some time during the entire campaign.

Your ad may be a simple statement of only a few words if you like; it may be a slogan, a jingle, a letter, a story, an essay—anything in written form that can be printed in a newspaper and that would tend to make people patronize the store or company advertised. If you can think, and can write, you can write an ad for the Zain Ad-Test.

A single sparkling phrase may be the finest kind of advertisement; it may direct public attention to the store as nothing else would.

ONE PHRASE MAY WIN

You may have the lucky inspiration as well as anyone else. Even babies say bright things, and it is not preposterous to suppose that while you are thinking about the concern for whom you are going to write an ad a brilliant idea will flash into your head that will capture the big prize for you. That money is going to be very useful, for Christmas is just three months away.

A snappy bit of wit may be an effective ad. A play on words often serves to attract attention. A straight, dignified statement of fact may be tremendously impressive. An intimate, chatty description of the splendid way you were treated by the advertisers concerned, such as you might write in an enthusiastic letter to a friend, could have strong pulling power. Any of these things might be a prize-winning ad.

Make use of every idea that comes to you, even though you do not think it is an excellent one. Send in many ads. The more you write, the better your chances may be.

TRY EVERY WEEK

Try for the $100 prize every week. Don't become discouraged. It is quite within the realm of possibility that, after having written a number of ads that failed to win a prize for you, you will pen one that will more than repay you for your efforts. With practice you will improve.

Get acquainted with the advertisers. Study their wares, their stores, their products, their services. The more familiar you are with them, the more convincingly you will write. Don't hesitate to ask questions about things that are not clear to you. Knowledge of the goods and the way in which they are made may be all that you need to enable you to write a prize-winning ad.

Study carefully the rules of the game, which will be found elsewhere on this page.

Get every member of your family to send in ads. It is good recreation for the long evenings in the home.

Entertain your guests with the Zain Ad Test. It makes a good game for parties. Let each write ads, then compare them, and have judges appointed to determine which is best.

But send them all in to the Zain Ad-Writing Test, care of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Those that the judges at your party reject may be considered worthy of prizes by the judges who select the winners for The Sun-Telegraph.

1,170 PRIZES

Rember that more than a thousand prizes—1,170 to be exact—are to be awarded. It is not beyond possibility that every one playing the Zain Ad Test game at your party may win a prize. Even if they don't they will have a barrel of fun, and will learn something, besides; for there is educational value in writing ads, in expressing your ideas in terse, forceful, thought-compelling English.

Every reader of The Sun-Telegraph, old or young, is eligible to participate in the Zain Ad Test, NO MATTER WHEOE THEY LIVE. Now get busy.

SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Latchstrings

Long ago, before means of travel were so numerous and efficient, when a horse or a stage was the only aid to the weary traveler, the "latchstring" was the insignia of hospitality. A village was judged by the latchstrings hung out to welcome the newcomer. Today, hospitality is expressed in more practical terms of comfort and convenience. A traveler gains his first impressions of a city from its hotels.

Last week, the Pittsburgher Hotel opened its doors to the traveling public. Modern in every sense, this splendid new hotel will add to the comfort and convenience of visitors. Guests of the Pittsburgher will find Pittsburgh hospitable indeed—a city where the latchstrings are always out.

The Mellon National Bank extends hearty congratulations to the Pittsburgher and its managers.

STRING MUSIC, DRAMA, MINSTREL ON RADIO BILL

THE Sieberling Singers celebrate their return from Europe with a quartet arrangement of "Comin' Home" when they are heard through WCAE tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The quartet on that date also will respond to countless requests from the radio audience for another performance of their famous version of "Ramona." One more contribution in the hour will be Coslow's ballad, "Was It a Dream?"

Featured in the Sieberling program are Ohman and Arden, the two-piano team, who will play a fantasy, "Polly," and the "Singing Violins," to be heard in a performance of Godard's "Canzonetta." "Sieberling's Own" tenor, James Melton, offers two solos: "Murmuring Zephyrs," by Jensen, and "Out of the Tempest." The Salon Orchestra plays Victor Herbert's small salon piece, "Air de Ballet." This program is presented under the direction of Frank Black.

"The Music Room" is an appropriate title for a new series of broadcasts beginning at 9 o'clock tonight through WJAS. This new half hour of entertainment will present the type of music to be heard in a typical music room. It is of the concert style, featuring string quartets and quintets, vocal and instrumental soloists. The first program in "The Music Room" series will present Allegro from Quintet No. 2 in C Minor, Gesang Weyla's "Weyla's Song," Piece en Forme de Habanera, Allegro Brillante from Quintet, Opus 44, Allelujah, Die Beiden Grenadiere, Allegro from Quintet for Clarinet and Strings.

The rural drama, "The Hand of the Law," which was to have been given by Hank Simmons' Show Boat troupe last Tuesday night, but had to be postponed on account of the Radio Industries Banquet which had the air that night, will be one of the WJAS features tonight at 9.30 o'clock.

"The Hand of the Law" is a typical old-fashioned melodrama, and in the setting which Hank Simmon's will present it, should provide an unusually interesting hour for those who enjoy the dramatic and novel type of radio entertainment.

A burlesque entitled "Sir Isaac Newton Falls for the Law of Gravitation" will be presented as the "Embarrassing Moments in History" feature during the Three-In-One theater hour to be broadcast through KDKA at 9:00 p. m. Eleanor Shaler, formerly of the "Garrick Gaieties," will aid Sir Isaac in his fall, and she will in turn be aided by a group of clever young actors and comedians.

A group of burnt-cork comedians under the leadership of Steve Porter, interlocutor, will make merry during the Dutch Masters minstrel show KDKA broadcast at 9:30 p. m. Al Bernard and Percy Hemus will be present, as before, with the jokes and songs which make these two end men such popular comedians. "Brother Low Down" will be Mr. Bernard's contribution this evening, and Mr. Hemus will present "I Ain't 'Fraid of Nothin' That's Alive."

The Dutch Masters minstrels orchestra, under the direction of Hugo Mariana, youthful conductor, well-known for his unusual interpretations, will accompany the singers, and also will play as a specialty, "Temptation Rag," by Lange. Other features of the program will include Taylor Buckley, baritone, and Henry Shope, tenor. A male chorus will join Mr. Buckley in "Sleep, Baby, Sleep," and also will be heard with Mr. Shope in "Out on the Dawn."

The sponsor of the Sacred Song concert has made arrangements with the program director of station KDKA to give a full hour program tonight at 7 o'clock. Four prominent church singers will appear on the program. They are: Isabel Hoffman Cooper, soprano; Rose Leader Chislett, contralto; Fred Ayers, bass, and Will Rhodes, tenor, and W. A. Reger, pianist.

The KDKA Automatic Agitators, who specialize in popular tunes, will be on the air again at 8 o'clock this evening. The guest soloist during the Agitators' program will be Ottavio Ferrara, trombone soloist, instructor in the musical department of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, and formerly was with the KDKA Little Symphony Orchestra.

KILL CHARGE OF EMBEZZLING

Instructed by Judge James M. Gray, a Criminal Court jury yesterday acquitted Albert C. Leslie, treasurer of the wrecked Pittsburgh Deposit & Title Company, of an embezzlement charge preferred by Albert C. Stirling of Perrysville avenue. Leslie is serving a three-year-sentence he received after an investigation of the bank's collapse 20 months ago.

Stirling charged that Leslie embezzled $4,800 Stirling had paid the bank for the Central Homes Company, which held a mortgage on his house. The court issued the binding instructions on the premise that Stirling had failed to show that Leslie had embezzled the funds.

We Are Often Told The Most Valued Name On Shoes Is Hanan

NATURALLY, we like to think so. Next to keeping Hanan Shoes as fine as people believe them to be and we know them to be, we recognize the obligation to present them against a background worthy of those who wear them.

You will find Hanan Shoes displayed within stores that are rich and restful. The fitting is done by salesmen who are not only proud to sell Hanan Shoes. They feel that they are privileged to serve the type of patrons who wear them—men and women who seek the best as a matter of course.

NEW YORK, London and Paris—our stores in these world centres of wealth and culture attest that Hanan fashions are international in authority.

$100,000 STILL DUE HERE TO AID STORM'S DESTITUTE

More than $100,000 remains to be raised in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county for the relief of the hurricane sufferers in Florida and Porto Rico.

Today $47,109 is the total contributed here toward a quota of $150,000. Yesterday's receipts were $16,206.

Another urgent call has been sent out by the Red Cross for women's and children's clothing, and layettes for infants. Hundreds of thousands of refugees must be clothed and there is great need for clothing of washable materials suitable for wear in warm climates.

The Red Cross has established a clothing depot at 404 Chamber of Commerce Building, where it is requested that donations be left. The offices, open all day, are in charge of a group under direction of Mrs. R. K. Cochrane, Red Cross chairman of the Congress of Clubs.

The garments are sent forward as rapidly as they are collected.

CHILD HIDES IN CASE; SISTER STARTS FIRE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 25.—Charles Randolph, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Randolph, West Chestnut street, crawled into a large wooden packing box in the rear of a store yesterday to hide from his sister, Mary, 6. The girl, not knowing the boy's hiding place, set fire to rubbish piled around the box. A neighbor rushed through the flames and rescued the boy, who was severely burned. At Washington Hospital it was said he was expected to recover.

MERCER RED CROSS SENDS DISASTER FUND

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 25.—Mercer County Red Cross wired $500 to the stricken districts of Florida and West Indies. A county campaign for more funds will be started at once.

Have you all of your own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you will know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is the extravagant price of self-neglect — false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised as they are, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night.

But for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums . . . the dentifrice specifically designed to firm gums and keep them sound and healthy, thus protecting them from the attack of disease.

Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth white and protects them from acids, which cause decay. Get a tube of Forhan's — today!

Forhan's for the gums

GLOSS

A RICH enamel finish with a "depth" peculiar to itself — satin-smooth, lustrous, enduring. Washable as tile.

Barreled Sunlight flows freely and has remarkable opacity or "hiding power." Leaves no brush marks. Anyone can easily do a handsome job.

Guaranteed to remain white longest.

If more than one coat is required, use Barreled Sunlight Undercoat first.

Easy to tint with oil colors Ask about Barreled Sunlight Tinting Colors in handy tubes.

OUTSIDE
Barreled Sunlight now available

The new Outside Barreled Sunlight, like its famous companion product, remains white and new-looking long after ordinary paints have lost their beauty and freshness.

It is intensely white, has remarkable "hiding power," flows freely and evenly, is durable and even-wearing. Also tints easily.

WINTER COATS

"If Winter comes"—and it always has come soon after this time of the year — then you'll need a Winter coat. No great prophecy in that. But we add this—you'll want that coat to be just as fashionable, just as smart, as your money can buy.

You'll wish the same slight ripple that the more expensive coats feature — you'll want the same huge fur collars and cuffs that Fashion insists upon—you'll want the same new tans, browns, blues, reds, black.

Yes, even at $59 and $79, here is smartness in coats. And quality in fabric. And luxury in furs. And fashion in colors. Women's and misses' sizes.

FOUND BARS TO WEDDING, MEETS DIVORCE OBSTACLES

Joseph Rabenstein, who went through two ceremonies to secure his wife, is having as much trouble obtaining a divorce as he had in getting married.

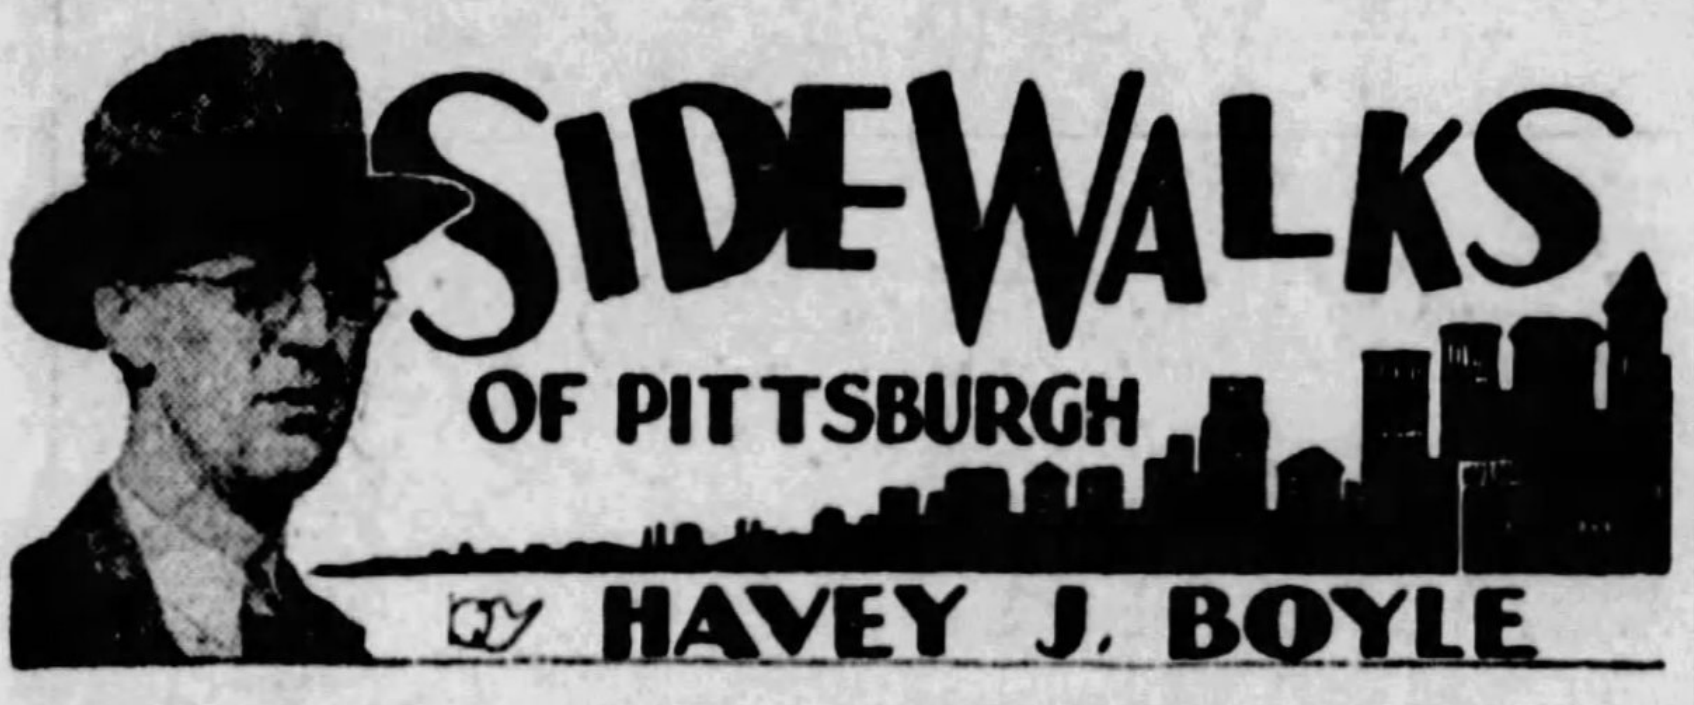
Rabenstein, who lives at 252 Alpine street, told Judge James R. MacFarlane following a runaway marriage in Wellsburg, W. Va., the parents of his wife, Mrs. Esther Garr Rabenstein, would not permit his wife to live with him.

After a church wedding here, however, they started housekeeping. This was in 1924 when the wife was only 15.

At the hearing it developed that proper notice had not been served in the divorce proceedings. The young woman herself had been notified, but being a minor her parents or next best friend also should have been notified. The case was continued until the proper procedure is carried out.

NEGRO WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN B. & O. TUNNEL

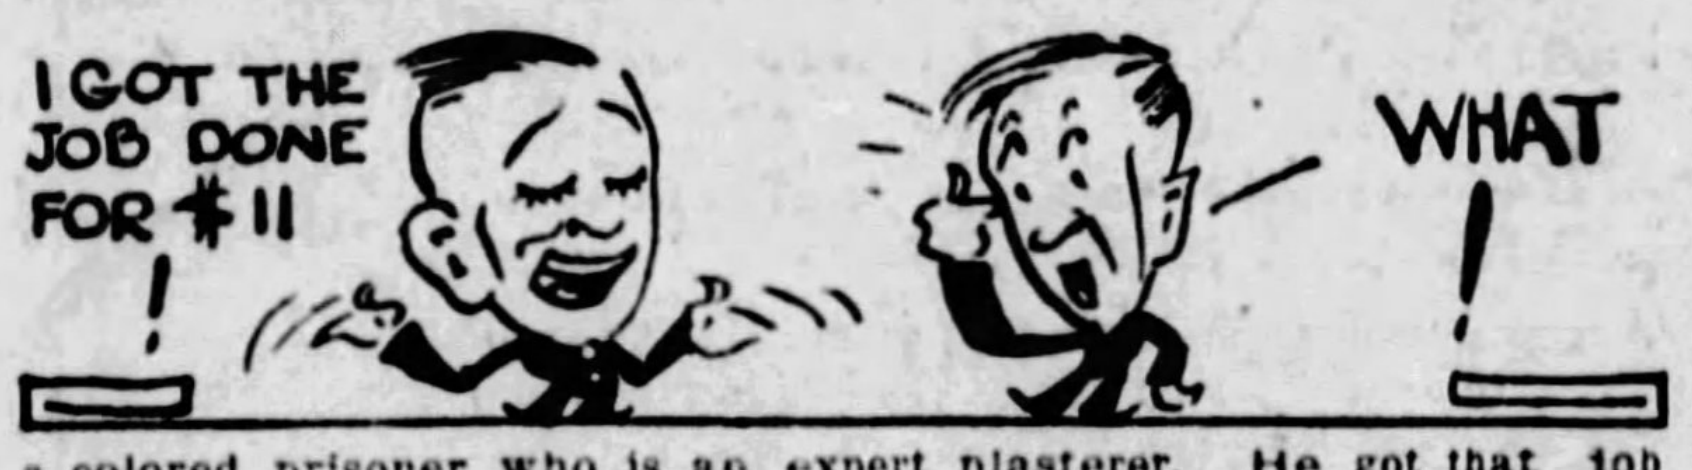
The mangled body of an unidentified Negro woman, aged about 65, was found in the Whitehall tunnel of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Option late yesterday.



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

THEY can joke all they want about the Scotchmen, but their thriftiness has its benefits, too. Ask county employes how careful John Francies, the county treasurer, is about the county funds. And then consider, John McNeil, warden of the county jail, who like John Francies, is also of Scotch descent. One of the jail walls needed plastering and the estimate submitted totaled $6,000. John McNeil whistled low and contemplated. He found a colored prisoner who is an expert plasterer. He got that job done at a cost of $11. The colored worker is a giant in size and a glutton for work. He mixed four tons of plaster, himself, and he applied it himself. It took him three weeks to do the job.



I GOT THE JOB DONE FOR $11 !
WHAT !

After the job was over Warden McNeil deducted $100 from $6,000 and the result of that subtraction represented a saving that made this Scotch whistler strike a merry old tune. So satisfied was the warden that he at once took steps to see if a parole could not be arranged for the useful colored man who had saved the county so much money.

There is only one fly in the ointment. The prisoner-plasterer is so proud of his job that the warden fears the plasterer will slay anyone who accidentally makes a nick in the fine new wall.

Scattered through the downtown, Oakland, North Side and East End sections are dancing schools. Here the very young ladies of the city, ranging in age from seven to womanhood, practice the light fantastic. The schools not only pave the way for a dancing career, but for children who do not contemplate to do a Gertrude Hoffman or a Gilda Gray the lessons increase grace and health. They learn acrobatic dancing, tap dancing, ballet.

IN SOME of the schools professionals of the stage take lessons to improve their work. It is not uncommon to see a vaudeville team visiting a local school to improve a step or learn a new one. Dancing is something where the lessons are never entirely learned. Always there is something new to be acquired by the dancer.

About a week ago a musical show reopened in Pittsburgh after a summer's layoff. The dancers had to be drilled and drilled. A woman of national fame, as a ballet instructor, put the chorus girls through their paces. She was a forceful woman, with a foreign accent, and not a small vocabulary of swear words.

THOSE who saw this woman drill the chorines got a new notion of the work of chorus girls. The magazines dwell only on the champagne suppers, the pearls and eventual marriage to wealthy gentlemen, but the other side of the story is presented when you see the chorines working late, long after the house is dark, or perhaps drilling on a Sunday afternoon and Sunday night, preparatory to the Monday night performance.

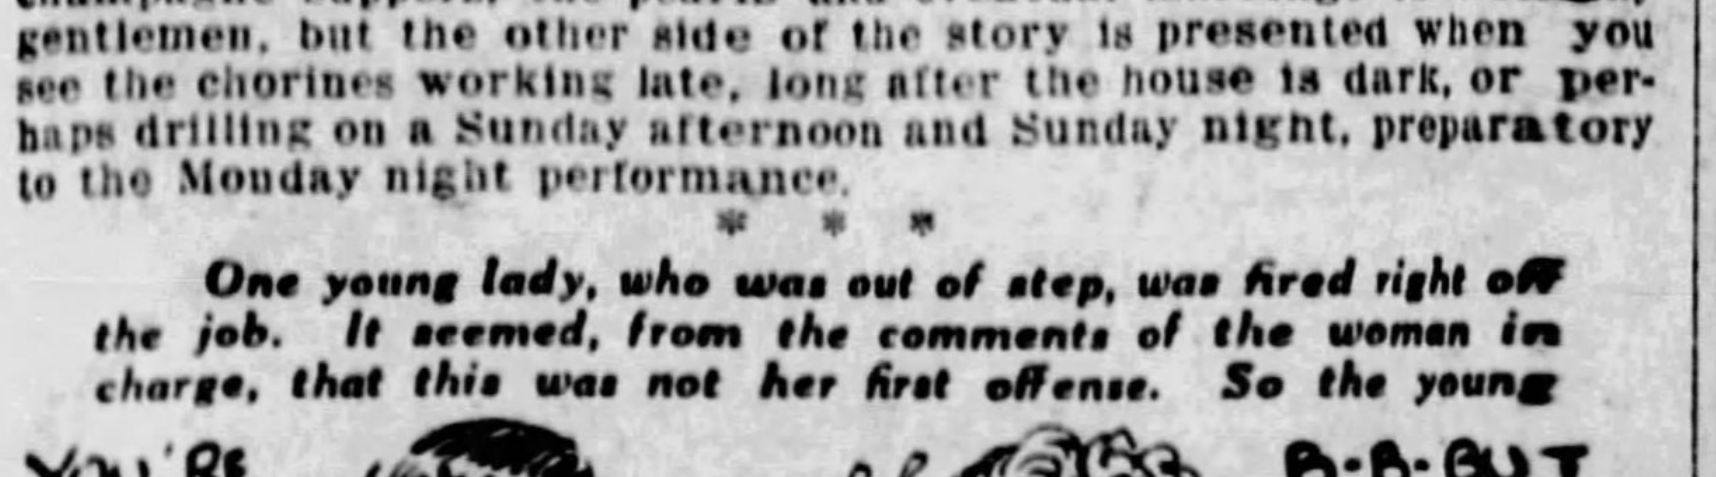
One young lady, who was out of step, was fired right off the job. It seemed, from the comments of the women in charge, that this was not her first offense. So the young woman was given her notice. She cried, of course, but the instructor was determined.



YOU'RE FIRED !
B-B-BUT I STEPPED ON SOME CHEWING GUM!

FRIENDS appealed. The instructor did yield this much. She would send the chorus girl back to New York and after a rest would try to place her with another show. "But," said the woman in charge, "she's not going to ruin this ballet I have here. My reputation is at stake."

The scene took place on the stage of the Nixon on the Sunday night before Rio Rita opened here.

SUSPECT QUIZZED ABOUT GANG

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Charles Hermanski, 38, was arrested here today for questioning in connection with the activities of Paul Jaworski in Detroit from the time he escaped jail in Pittsburgh until the robbery of the Detroit News.

Hermanski was identified as a friend of Alex Rzeuski, at whose home Jaworski was alleged to have stayed while in hiding here. Hermanski was held on a technical charge of robbery while armed.

CHARLEROI, Sept. 25.—Believing that some of the loot obtained by Paul Jaworski's "Flathead gang" may be hidden in an abandoned mine in Fallowfield township near here, Chief of Police Jack Thomas today will conduct an examination of the shaft.

Two members of the gang were seen to enter the mine while being sought for the $104,000 Coverdale payroll robbery, and it is believed they hid their portion of the loot in the pit. The following day the men fled, abandoning an automobile. Farmers searching the district discovered the mine entrance had been dynamited and effectively sealed.

PROBE DEATH OF FALL VICTIM

Members of the homicide squad and deputy coroners are investigating the death of an unidentified man, about 45, which occurred last night in the Allegheny General Hospital, the result of a fractured skull.

He was found early yesterday at the foot of the stairs of 403 East Ohio street. Police informed morgue attaches that the man fell down the steps of the house. Occupants of the dwelling say the man was a stranger and professed ignorance of his injuries.

TRIO ARRESTED AS ARMY DESERTERS

RECEIVERS APPOINTED FOR THOS. CRONIN CO.

George Vang and George Lanz were named receivers for the Thomas Cronin Company, general contractors, by Judge George V. Moore, in Common Please Court today. Each gave $25,000 bond.

A petition for appointment of receivers was presented by F. C. Mayer, Bridgeville brick manufacturer. Charles B. Prichard, counsel for the Cronin company, said the receivership was "an entirely friendly one" and would enable the company to carry out large contracts and regain its former financial status.

RECLUSE SHOT FIGHTING ROBBERS; WOUNDS 2

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Sept. 25.—In a gun battle with four boys whom he found rifling his cabin at Cramer, near here, last night, Blair Davis, aged recluse, brought down two of the robbers before he fell himself with a bullet hole through his lungs.

The three victims are in Memorial hospital, and two members of the raiding gang are in the local police station.

The quartet, Emilio Donio, 16, his brother, Monget, 18, John Dollegas, 16, and Nick Vizzino, 16, were ransacking the Davis home when Davis returned. When the boys saw him they attempted to escape and Davis opened fire. His shots were returned.

Emilio Donio was shot in the right shoulder, the bullet lodging in the spine, causing paralysis of both legs. Dollegas was shot in the left leg. All four boys were armed and one of their bullets struck Davis in the chest, passing through his lungs.

Police who were notified rounded up the gang in the woods nearby.

Mellon Hits Smith Pa. Claims

Claims that Gov. Alfred E. Smith will carry Pennsylvania are "extravagant," former State Chairman W. L. Mellon, nephew of Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon and leader of the organization here, said in a statement issued last night.

The statement was issued following a conference with Gen. Edward Martin, of Washington, state chairman. The conference was the first held since Mr. Mellon went to Europe early in the summer. His statement reads:

"Although I have been in Europe for some time, I have endeavored to keep in touch with the political situation at home.

"I believe Herbert Hoover will be elected President by a substantial majority, but we should not take anything for granted. We should work to the best of our abilities to get out the largest possible vote, as the Democratic candidate is a resourceful campaigner.

"Republican policies mean so much to the business, progress and prosperity of the country that we should do all that we can, not only to elect Hoover and Curtis, but every Republican candidate for Congress. The very fact that the Democrats are making extravagant claims with respect to Pennsylvania should spur all of us to greater efforts to make the Republican victory convincing."

Lays Illness to Lacquer, Sues Employer

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Alleging that he contracted tuberculosis by inhaling fumes from poisonous lacquer used on umbrella handles, Edward Jordan, formerly of this city and now a patient in a tuberculosis hospital in New York, has filed suit for $25,000 damages against H. M. Musser & Co., umbrella handle manufacturers.

Jordan claims that he has been ill for a year and is now unable to earn a living.

POLISH CONGREGATION PLANS SILVER JUBILEE

DONORA, Pa., Sept. 25.—Preparations are in progress for the celebration of the silver jubilee of the Holy Name of Mary congregation October 7 to October 14. The congregation consists of 1,400 Polish residents of this vicinity.

WIFE ILL, STOLE 11 CARS TO GET CASH

The story of how a high school professor eked out his income during two years by stealing automobiles and selling them was told in Criminal Court yesterday when Thomas Fitzgerald, 45, of Washington, D. C., before Judge James B. Drew, pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny.

Fitzgerald, a University of Pittsburgh graduate, admitted theft of 11 cars, from the fall of 1926 to the spring of 1928. All the cars were stolen here, during the vacation periods, and were taken to Washington for sale.

Fitzgerald used his own name on the title transfers. Suspicion was cast upon him when a Washington dealer noted the frequency with which transfers were recorded in Fitzgerald's name and on August 23, he was arrested by Washington detectives.

Durin 1926 and 1927 he taught chemistry in a Washington junior high school, and was highly respected there, according to attaches of the district attorney's office, who believed he needed the money to care for his wife, a patient in a hospital for mental cases.

Beyond answering the charge with the word "guilty," Fitzgerald maintained a stoic silence during the few minutes he was in court. Judge Drew sentenced Fitzgerald to serve six to 12 months in the county jail.

BIBLE CLASS TEACHER GIVEN TESTIMONIAL

Adult Bible Class students of the Third Presbyterian Church tendered the Rev. Dr. W. C. Lyne a testimonial dinner upon completion of 25 years' service as their teacher. Among the speakers were the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor, and the Rev. Herman Reinecke, superintendent of the Sunday School.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.

The Republicans of New York City have a very strong candidate for governor, Mr. Ottinger, from up-state.

Now, the Democrats have figured it out that on account of him being Jewish, and Mr. Smith Catholic, that what they needed to balance the ticket would be some Protestant from New York City, and they got looking around and couldn't find one.

John Roach Straton, the last survivor, had left.

You hear ten people back here ask, "Who is going to pitch for the Yankee?" where you don't hear one ask, 'Who is going to be elected?"

Yours, WILL.

Benny and Ann Quarrel When She Spends His Money Recklessly for Clothes

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On his first day in Manor Park, where he is to apply the business methods learned in college, Benjamin Carrington Black has occasion to observe three of the suburban town's most alluring examples of feminity. Unnoticed by men, he sees Dianna Rand—nineteen and pretty, enter a jewelry store with her friend, Beatrice Sheldon, whose trailing dress is reminiscent of the Gay Nineties. In the store Diana and Bea encounter Ann Evarts, a trim, petite person. Ann in Diana's roadster sees Noddy and Toddy and Norman Gregory and leaves Diana and Beatrice to join them. Bea and her brother, Freddie, prepare for the party at the Yacht Club. Benny also attends the party where Diana and her friends meet him. It is a gay affair, with Diana being the life of it. Benny is fascinated by the quiet Ann, who makes believe that she does not like "wild" parties. Diana, after the party, tells her mother all about Benny. She meets him several times and falls in love with him. Mrs. Evarts is anxious that her daughter, Ann, fall in love with Benny. However, he is afraid he is falling in love with Diana. Ann tells Norman that Beatrice has a past. At North Lake where the crowd are for a week, Norman questions Bea about her past and she confesses. Later they get married. Diana dreams of the future when Benny professes his love for her. The crowd goes to a party, while Benny and Ann are left in camp, after Ann feigns illness. When the crowd returns Benny wonders how to explain being alone with Ann. Diana is heartbroken when she receives an invitation to Ann and Benny's wedding. Benny and Ann get married and leave for a long honeymoon abroad.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

DIANA was rather like a perpetual motion picture machine those days, rushing here and there, darting into this and out of that, the life of every party—a gay, somewhat bizarre, somewhat noisy little girl, careless of appearances, always to be found where excitement mounted.

There were those who said she was going too fast, growing lax, getting wilder than she should be. Yet when Freddie Sheldon tried to kiss her one evening she brought up her hand and slapped him a blow across the cheek which sent him spinning.

And it was Freddie who, in a drunkenly brilliant moment, declared that Diana was like her namesake, Diana the Huntress, as fascinating and as cold and as chaste.

"Only your quarry is hearts, m' dear. Hearts y' gather just for love of the sport. Diana the Huntress—here's to the game, kid. May y' always hit a bull's-eye!"

The honeymoon had not gone as Benny Black planned, though he could not imagine why. It was not that Ann failed to defer to his every slightest wish, to coo "Oh, that's wonderful! That will be lovely!" Her soft winsomeness! How strong and protective it made him feel to possess this slip of a thing, to hold her life in his awed hands. . . .

He had wanted a quiet, leisurely journey along the Riviera, one which would permit a more intimate acquaintance with his wife away from the crowds and the lights. Yet he was forever finding himself among crowds and lights, assailed by the clamor of London, the gaudy swirl of Paris, the feverish excitement of Monte Carlo.

Not once could he recall Ann having asked him to take her to these places. It as only that some time after he had suggested a somnolent hotel at Capri or Amalfi, perhaps, and she had gurgled her pleasure, she would turn thoughtful, fixing the wide blue gaze upon him and murmur wistfully: "But I so want to see the Rue de la Paix, dear. We will before we leave, won't we, Benny? I'd be so disappointed if we did not!"

And he would answer: "Why, of course; anything to make you happy. That's what I want—to make you happy." And he would whirl her away to Paris to the crowds and the lights—waiting for her to weary of these and turn to the isolated places. But she never seemed to weary.

In Paris they quarreled. It was when Ann declared she hadn't a rag fit to wear, and proposed very prettily, with her arms about his neck, that they go shopping.

"But your clothes are beautiful, sweetheart. And such quantities of them!"

"Oh, those old things!" she pouted. "You don't want your wife to look a sight, Benny dearest!"

So he took her to the shops, and was first bewildered and then amazed at her reckless spending. And when he called a halt she turned furious, leading him back to the hotel, where she flung herself on the bed in a storm of sobs, beating the counterpane with her small fists, wailing for her mother.

He was so distressed that he took her in his arms, saying silly, soothing things, calling himself a heartless fool.

He resolved then and there never to thwart her again. And when she smiled through her tears, holding up trembling lips to be kissed, he determined that she should have anything he could give her, no matter how unreasonable it might be. Such a child she was, so unused to the hard, practical things of life. He must stand between her and whatever might cloud those pretty, trusting eyes.

In Monte Carlo Ann sipped a cocktail. She wanted to see what it was like, she exclaimed, giving him a mischievous smile. He thought it very cute and encouraged her to have a second. But he was not prepared to have her order a third. Also a quick suspicion crossed his mind when he left the table a moment and returned to find his glass empty. She explained, a bit sketchily, that the glass had been upset and the contents spilled.

However, he accepted the explanation, noting with alarm how flushed she was, how she kept sending pointed smiles toward a group of young fellows at a nearby table. Rather curtly he bundled her away.

But the next morning she was so humble and so lovable in her remorse that he banished the incident from his mind, not recalling it for a long time.

Late in the fall they returned to Paris, having spent not one day in a quiet corner, and sailed for America and home.

CHAPTER XX.

TALES, gossip, conjecture buzzed through the younger set in Manor Park. Word had gone out that the Blacks were returning, and everybody excepting Diana was talking about it.

What, everybody asked, would Ann do now? For always it was Ann round whom speculation centered. In the minds of those who knew all the circumstances of her marriage, Benny had dropped into the passive place of background, become a mere base of operations for his soft-voiced little wife.

That Ann would attempt to queen it was taken for granted, but that she would find her way beset by difficulties was tacitly agreed. None of the girls liked her, and they did like Diana. And the boys, after the matter of males, held out for fair play. With surprising accuracy they had guessed what had happened and, though one made the mistake of assuming a sympathetic attitude toward Diana, all were determined that Ann should not easily get away with what she had started.

Diana had heard from the honeymooning pair by way of a picture postcard showing the liner on which they sailed. There were splashy marks about certain stateroom windows, and upon the back, in the unformed hand of a child, Ann had written: "Crosses mark our suite—it's so lovely—the most splendid on the boat. We are in Paradise—glorious Paradise! Thank you so much for your sweet little gift. Devotedly, Ann and her Ben."

Each word went into her heart like a knife stab as she read, white faced and shaking. "Paradise!" she whispered. "Yes—it would be that—with him"——

Then, about the time the bride and groom were sailing for home, Freddy wandered into the Yacht Club, where Diana was having tea with his sister. Noddy and Toddy loafing on the veranda, had come in lazily and seated themselves at the table, and it was when Diana was wondering about a strange nervousness which seemed to settle upon Beatrice at their approach that Freddy appeared, grinning over a letter.

"Ann written any of you yet?" he inquired. And when Diana mentioned the postcard and the message it conveyed, he burst into raucous merriment. "Haw! Here's the real joke! Read this, good folks—read it and whoop!"

He tossed the letter on the table and they all read, craning over each other's shoulders:

"Freddie, Mon Cher—Little Annikins is frightfully dull—longing to get back. Not a decent dancer anywhere around. Ben insists on admiring moonlight and sunrise all the time. It's so romantic I'm getting rheumatic."

Freddie looked up with a laugh in which Noddy and Toddy joined; even Beatrice smiled. But Diana kept her head down, seeing again the postcard. "We are in Paradise—glorious Paradise!" Lies—lies—lies! That Benny Black should be made a laughing stock, held up to ridicule by one of such scant honor—his own wife!

And when Noddy reached out to turn the page, Freddie snatched the letter away, still grinning. "The rest is private, fella!"

A knowing leer, heads wagging. Diana got up suddenly, rigid with contempt, said she must go. Beatrice followed, still nervous, almost fearful, her friend realized all at once.

"Di—you won't say anything about our seeing Noddy and Toddy? To Norman, I mean. You see—well"——

So Norman actually was suspicious — jealous, perhaps! Diana saw the flush creeping up the other girl's face, the shamed look in the dark eyes, and once again thought: "How strange life is! Poor Bea—poor Norman!" But she answered matter-of-factly: "Certainly I won't. They don't count, anyway."

"No, of course not. Only"——

"I understand, Bea." Diana kissed her, sick with pity, and waited while Beatrice drove away in the smart little car which had been a wedding present from her husband.

Rolling toward home in her own roadster, Diana saw a woman making her way along the street as if very weary—a shabby figure in a heavy cloth suit, despite the mid-summer heat of the day—one vaguely familiar. She wondered idly who the woman was, and forgot her in a quick, biting memory of Ann's letter to Freddie.

That Ann had no intention of giving up her association with the son of the Sheldons, Diana was positive. She knew something of certain wild orgies at obscure roadhouses; of reckless, furious rides about the country, and secret meetings which bore the stamp of evil largely because they were secret. Poor Benny! Poor Beatrice—poor Norman! Poor everybody!

Well—snap out of that. No use turning into a weeping willow, making bad matters worse. After all, Benny needn't have been a prig . . .

She was obliged to stop where a truck had broken down, holding up traffic. And while she waited the shabby woman caught up with her, still dragging along, as forlorn a sight as one could imagine. She came to the curb, intending to cross the street, and then Diana was startled to meet the eyes of Hanna Evart.

Moved by sympathy, the girl leaned over and opened the car door. "Can't I drop you at your hotel?" she asked. "It so warm and—" She was going to say "that heavy suit," but caught back the words.

Hanna got in, sighing, took out a somewhat soiled handkerchief and drew it over her face. "This is the first bit of decency I've had from anyone in months," she said grimly, and went on in a hard, resentful voice: "There's an end to everything, though, and we'll soon see if I've got any rights. I'm the mother of a selfish, ungrateful girl, Miss Rand, and I don't care who knows it. You can tell your friends I said so, and you can tell 'em why!"

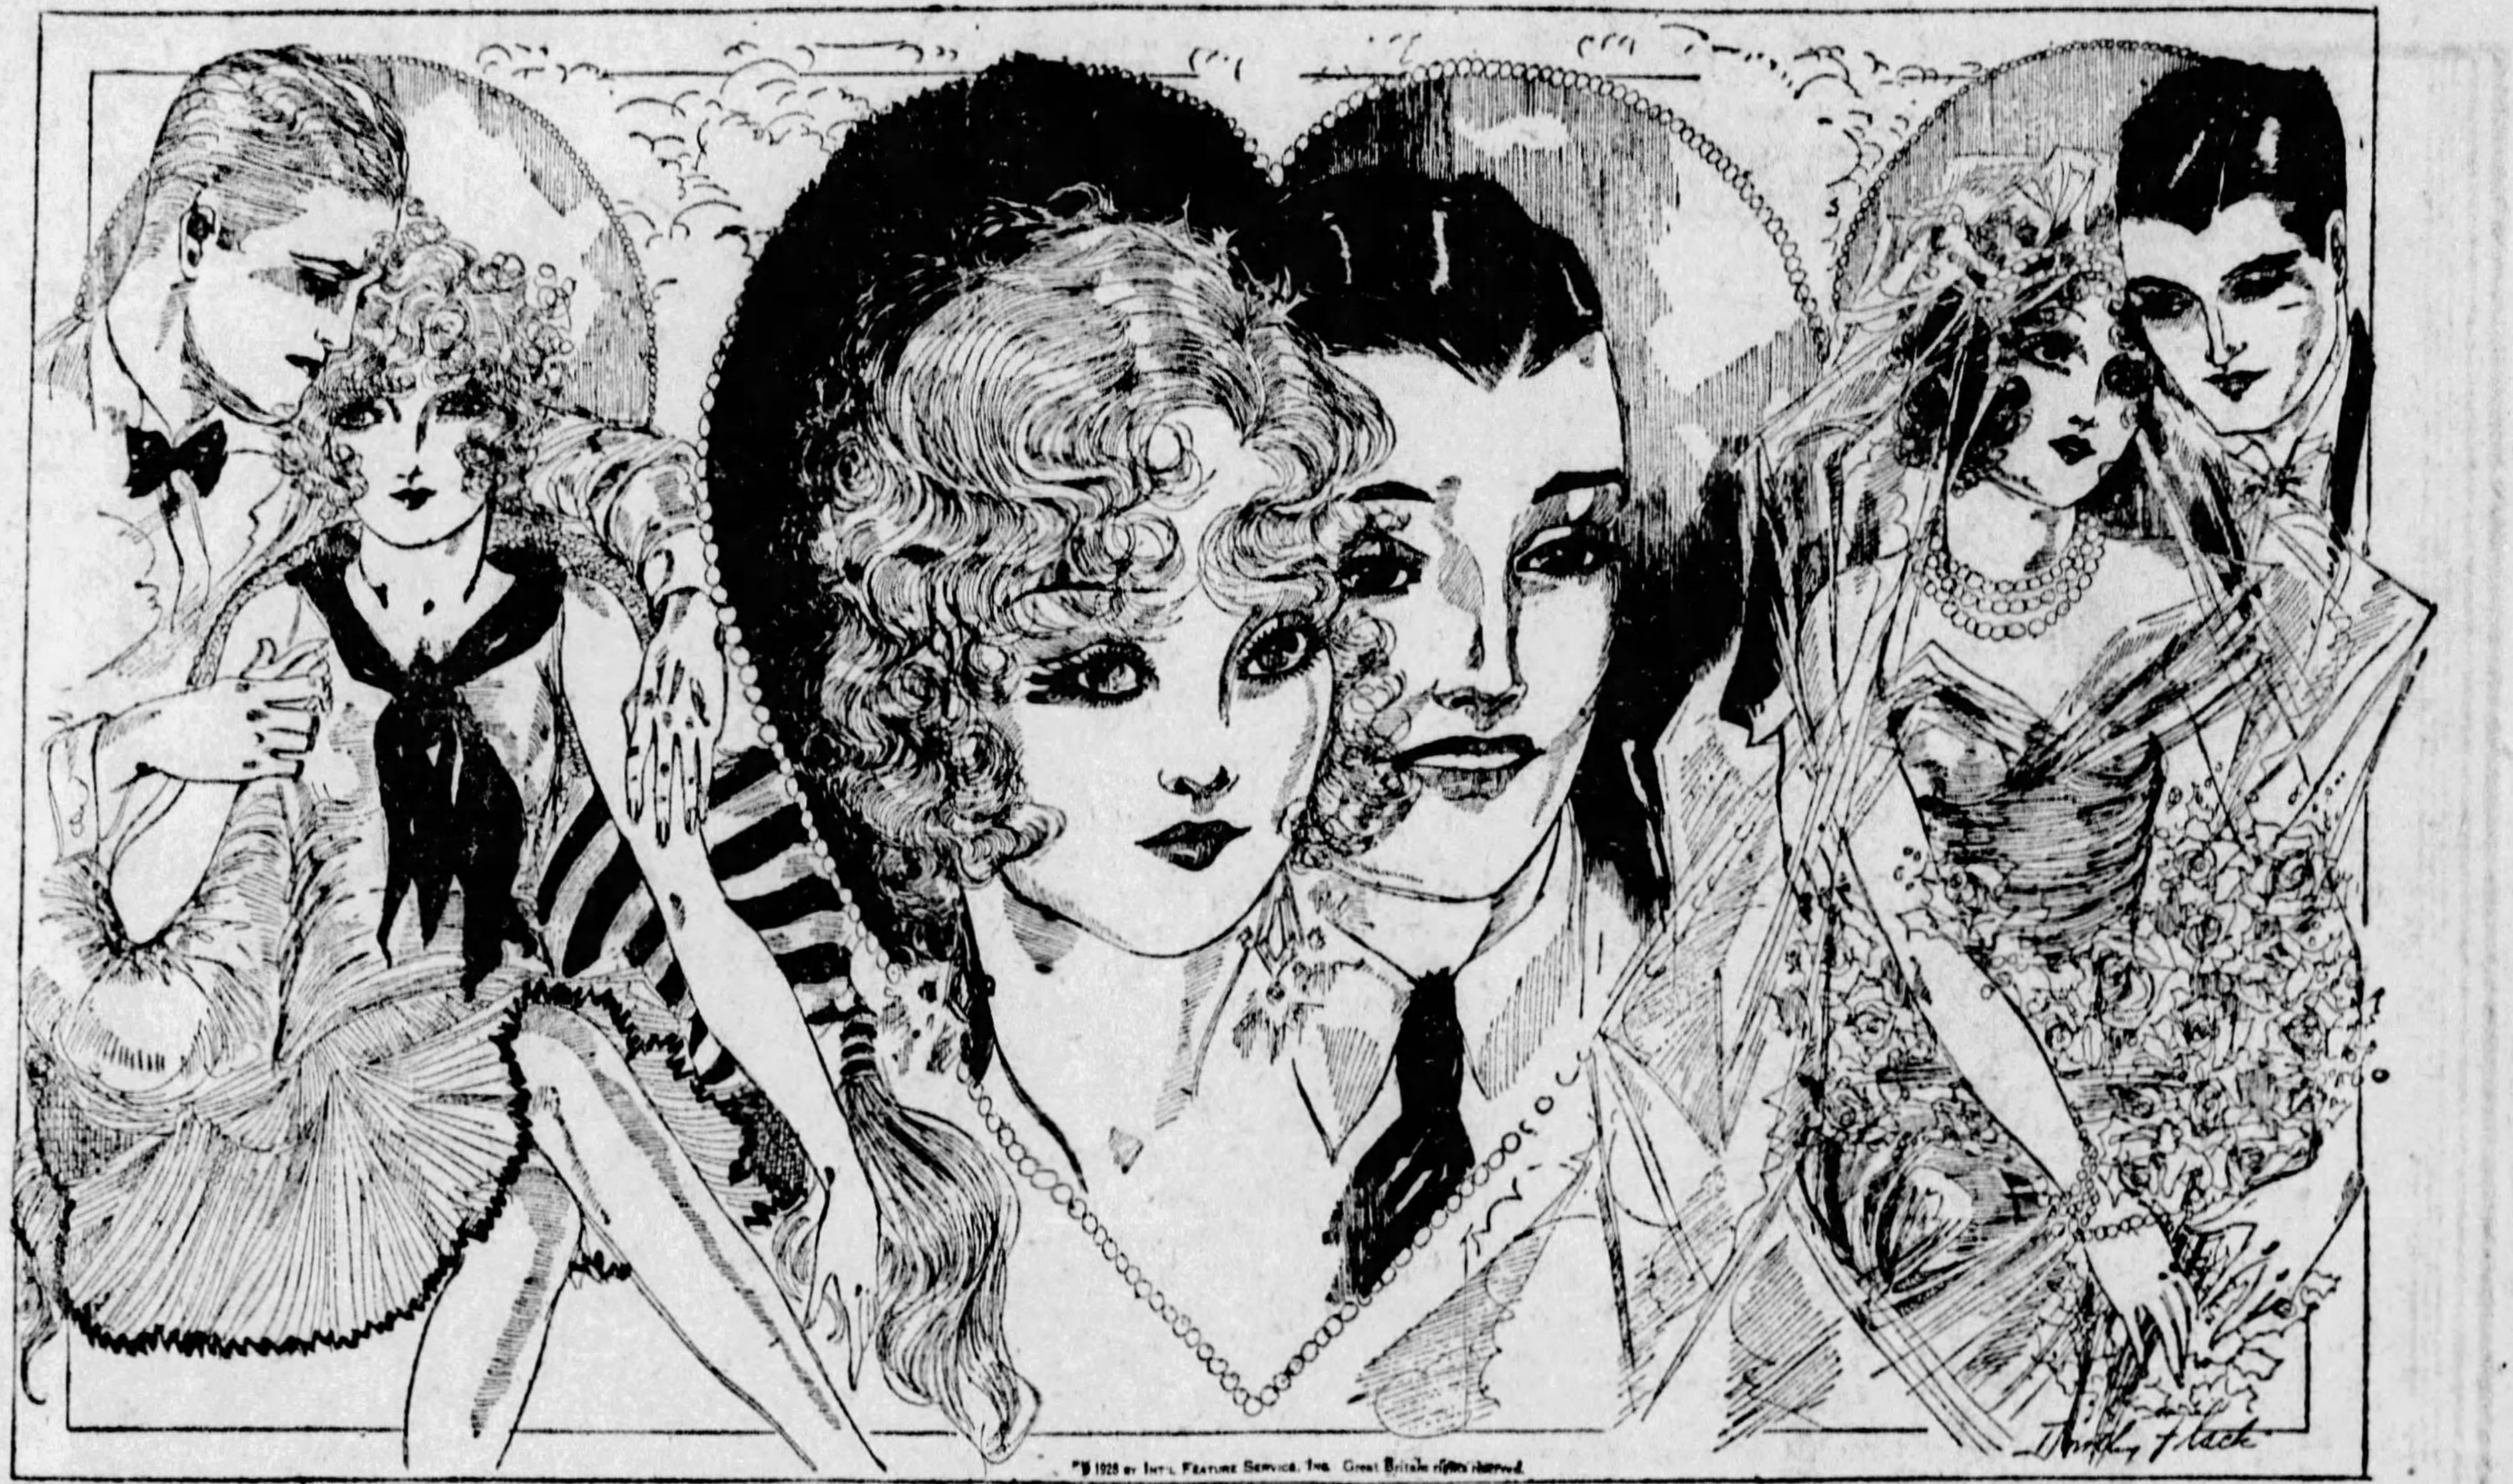
LOVE'S FALLACY

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



© 1928 by Int'l Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.
Dorothy Flack

ONE of Love's prettiest fallacies is the statement that only opposites attract, thereby setting all the scientists and other learned sages of the ages at bay. For it isn't so.

True, I'll grant you that most of the time you see blonde and brunette, but just as often you see blonde and blonde and brunette and brunette—and they're all in a heavenly state of happiness—if they're in love.

And even if they're only friends, they get along beautifully. So what do you think?

I think that Love is color blind. His first attraction is the winsomeness of a pretty face—whether it be blonde, brunette or Titian. And who can resist Beauty? Not Love, for it would seem that that is the first thing he thinks of. True, too, that which Love calls Beauty, other less learned people may call plain.

So don't believe it that you must be paired off blonde and brunette. If blonde loves blonde—why not? The fallacy's working again! Love would have an awful job on his hands if he had to work on a set of prescribed rules all the time.

So when Love comes to you, whether in the shape of any of the three—well, what would you? Everyone for himself, and all of us for Love.

"An embarrassing subject, yet I must warn my teachers"

—Says the principal of a girls' school

Women should know of this new process that ends all odor in sanitary pads*. It saves embarrassment, self-consciousness, fear of offending.

DELICATE to talk about, even among modern women; many are guilty of offense to others at times, though they, themselves, can't realize it. Now there is a safeguard that provides certain relief. Each Kotex sanitary pad is treated by a patented process so that all odor is neutralized. Consequent worries disappear. One may be utterly carefree under the most difficult circumstances.

The fear of being conspicuous

Equally important is the fact that the new pad is shaped to fit. Corners are rounded and tapered to permit no evidence of sanitary protection when worn. All the clumsiness of old-fashioned methods is overcome.

Greater softness of texture; marvelous absorbency; instant disposability (without laundry); the fact that you can add or remove layers of filler—these things are of great importance for comfort and good health. Kotex scientists have tried in every new way to achieve perfection in a sanitary pad. The Improved Kotex is the result of their research.

Buy a box . . . 45c for twelve . . . at any drug, dry goods or department store Also obtainable in vending cabinets in rest-rooms.

Deodorizes . . . and 4 other important features:

1—Softer gauze ends chafing; pliable filler absorbs as no other substance can;
2—Corners are rounded and tapered; no evidence of sanitary protection under any gown;
3—Deodorizes—safely, thoroughly, by a new and exclusive patented process;
4—Adjust it to your needs; filler may be made thinner, thicker, narrower as required;
and
5—It is easily disposed of; no unpleasant laundry.

*Kotex is the only sanitary pad that deodorizes by patented process. (Patent No. 1,670,587, granted May 22, 1928.)

COOKING SCHOOL NEWS

What tasting showed Mrs. Betty Kelly about

Fried Foods

WE suggested to housekeepers that they taste Crisco—just as it comes from the can. Mrs. Betty Kelly wrote us how agreeably she was surprised when she made this test. But read her letter.

"I always thought that a cooking fat would be rather unpleasant to taste, but after reading your suggestion I decided just to try it myself.

"What a real surprise I got when I tasted Crisco. It is so good—such a fresh, pure taste.

"And the fact that Crisco does not smoke or make unpleasant odors in the kitchen makes it wonderful for deep frying."

If you have never tasted Crisco, we suggest that you do so. See if you do not get the same pleasant feeling that Mrs. Kelly did. We believe you'll understand then why Crisco's sweet taste makes such an improvement in the flavor of your fried foods, cakes, biscuits and pies.

Try some of the recipes for fried foods given below. Just notice how the delicate, sweet flavor of Crisco has brought out to best advantage the natural flavors of these fried foods.

Fried Oysters Supreme

You can use all milk but the ketchup gives a tasty flavor. Don't be afraid to fry doughnuts in the same Crisco you have just used to fry the oysters. They will not taste of the oysters or anything else you may have fried. And neither will the oysters lose their delicate flavor if they are fried in Crisco which has been used for frying other foods.

½ cup flour
½ cup ketchup
2 dozen oysters
½ cup milk
Cracker dust or fine dried bread crumbs
½ teaspoon salt

Mix flour and ketchup together, stir in milk slowly. Add salt. Drop each oyster into this batter, then roll in cracker dust or bread crumbs. Drop in deep kettle of hot Crisco 375° to 385° F. or when a small piece of bread browns in 40 seconds. Fry until a rich brown, 2 or 3 minutes. Serve very hot.

Fricadellen

Served with creamed potatoes, this will make a really fine luncheon, or even dinner, by adding another vegetable and a salad. You can easily put them together while doing up the morning work and fry in hot deep Crisco in two minutes at meal time.

2 cups cold cooked beef, chopped fine
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 beaten eggs
1 teaspoon salt
2 slices bacon, chopped
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons parsley, minced
2 tablespoons tomato ketchup

Mix all together. Shape into balls. Drop in hot Crisco 360° F. or when a small piece of bread browns in 60 seconds. Fry until brown. Serve with tomato, cream or brown sauce. Serves 4 to 5 people.

Miss Eleanor and Miss Lillian Heeren, Wellesley avenue, who have been stopping at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City, are seen strolling on the boardwalk.

IF a calendar weren't conveniently at hand, we might very well believe that this is mid-November instead of a supposed-to-be balmy September These chilly breezes make us think longingly of fur coats and woolen dresses—and early debut parties add to the illusion. The season isn't in much of a whirl yet, to be sure—the next coming-out party is two weeks away—but it is certainly well started.

I want to get away from the subject of debutantes, though, for a moment to tell you about an interesting engagement that has just been announced in the East. It is that of Frances Burrows Sloan, daughter of the Burrows Sloans, of "Orchard Hill," Ardmore, and a former local man, Frank E. Rutan, Jr., now of Bryn Mawr, Philadelphia. Mr. Rutan is the son of Mrs. Frank E. Rutan, who lives part of the time in Sewickley, her old home, and part of the time in Bryn Mawr. Perhaps you will remember that his sister, Elizabeth, came back to Sewickley last December to make her debut at a tea dance which Mrs. Rutan and her other daughter, Martha, gave at the Allegheny Country Club.

Mrs. Rutan has her summer home at Blue Hill, Me., and I understand that she is still up there, enjoying the beauties of a Maine autumn.

I HEAR that one of our debutantes is going to get away from the round of parties this fall long enough to take part in "The Whole Town's Talking," which the Sewickley Valley Hospital Cot Club will give October 23 as its annual benefit. Jane Edson is the debutante in the cast and among others who are going to take part are Mrs. Stuart Robinson, Mrs. Henry Clay Bughman, Jr., Virginia Goldsbury, Barbara Weir, Lucie K. Gillett, Mrs. Julian Kennedy, Jr., Daniel E. Crane, James B. Cullum, Jr., Robert W. McKnight, J. O. Carson and Joseph D. Porter.

Rehearsals for the play started about a week ago, I've been told, in the Guild Hall. The club has a real reputation for excellence to live up to, and the cast began working in plenty of time to make their performance a smooth one.

AT least one Pittsburgher, or rather, former Pittsburgher, is crossing the ocean with Mary Josephine Lauder on her way to Italy to marry Gene Tunney, and that is Mrs. Carnes Weeks, of New York, the former Margaret Brown Shoemaker, daughter of the Charles Sumner Shoemakers, of Termon avenue, North Side. Mrs. Weeks and her husband, Dr. Weeks, are both in the party which sailed Saturday from New York with the charming Polly, and Mrs. Shoemaker has gone east to spend some time with her small grandchildren at the Weeks summer home in Mt. Kisko, N. Y.

ONE date which I am sure you will want to mark in your calendar is Monday, November 5, which is the time set for the bridge party given for the benefit of the Eye and Ear Hospital. This is an annual event, you know, given under the direction of the board of managers of the institution, and will be held this year, as heretofore, in the Hotel Schenley.

MONDAY, October 15, is the date chosen by Miss Anne Laura Susman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Susman, of Beacon street, for her marriage to James Finch Kirk, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Kirk, of Beechwood boulevard. Miss Thelma Blackmore will be maid of honor and Grant Wainwright, of Pittsburgh and Detroit, will be best man. The ceremony will be performed at 5:30 o'clock in the Susman home.

MISS MARY ALMA LEWIS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morrow Lewis, of Coraopolis, has selected Saturday as the date for her marriage to Kenneth Richard Haley, of Beaver. The ceremony will be performed at 6:30 o'clock in the home of the bride.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT SAMUELS, of Park street, McKeesport, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ethel Samuels, to Isadore L. C. Kay, of Kingston, N. C.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Matilda Rubenstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Rubinstein, of Locust street, and Joseph Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Polack, of Pittsburgh, which was solemnized Thursday night by the Rev. Wolf Leiter. Mrs. Adolph Solomon was her sister's matron of honor, and Mr. Solomon was best man. After a lake trip, Mr. and Mrs. Barnett will be at home in Robinson street, Oakland.

MISS IRMA NAOMI SMITH, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith, of Hazelwood, has chosen October 4 as the date for her marriage to Jack D. O'Donnell, of South Highland avenue. The ceremony will be performed in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hazelwood, by the bride's father.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Alma Kress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kress, of Millvale, and George Bedel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bedel, of Millvale, which was solmenized September 12 in St. Anthony's Church by the Rev. John Imhof, cousin of the bridegroom. Miss Helen McFarland was maid of honor and Walter Bedel was his brother's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bedel will make their home in Park street, Millvale.

THE marriage of Miss Bertha M. Gartner, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gartner, of Finleyville, and Raymond M. Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gill, of the North Side, was solemnized last Tuesday morning in the Church of St. Francis, in Finleyville. Miss Marie C. Anderson was maid of honor and James P. Gill, of Cincinnati, was his brother's best man. Charles P. Donahue, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Thomas Donahue, of Kingston, Pa., were ushers. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gill will be at home in Finleyville.

MISS Catherine Seitz is chairman for the orchestra committee for the fourth annual Seton Hill alumnae dance to be held October 19 in the University Club. Mrs. Pierre J. Vogel is door chairman; Miss Kathryn Mohr, invitations; Miss Helen Schmadel, decorations; and Miss Helen Hierholzer, publicity.

* * *

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Emma Mary Buvinger, daughter of Mrs. Clara Buvinger, of Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Samuel James, Jr., of Lonaconing, Md., which was solemnized last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. James will make their home with the bride's mother.

DEATH ROLL

Forster Funeral.

Funeral services for John Casper Forster, 75, of 327 South Evaline street, will be held at the family home Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock. He died while making a purchase in an Atlantic City drug store. Mr. Forster was born in Germany and came to American when 12. For many years he was connected with the firm of W. B. Scaife Co., which later was known as Fleming & Hamilton, hardware dealers. After leaving this firm, he organized the company of J. C. Forster & Son, manufacturers of hardware novelties, retiring from active business in 1926. He was a pioneer resident of the old Thirty-fifth Ward. He leaves his widow, a son, J. L. Forster, and three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Brisk and Eva and Gertrude Forster.

Capt. E. Roy Morrow.

Capt. Emmitt Roy Morrow, former Pittsburgh real estate man, who died Saturday in Chicago, was buried today in Allegheny cemetery from Moreland's East End undertaking rooms. Capt. Morrow was born in Scottdale March 13, 1875, son of the late Col. J. Caldwell Morrow of North Negley avenue. He was associated with his father and later with his brother Clarence W. Morrow in the auction sale of real estate. He entered the aviation service at the outbreak of the war and was sent to Chicago with the title of captain in charge of the Central aviation station. After the war he became associated with the Dearborn National bank and at his death was its vice president. He leaves his widow, Ida E. Morrow; his mother, Mrs. J. Caldwell Morrow of Manfiled, O., and six brothers and sisters: Clarence W. and Merrill C. of Mansfield, Mrs. Maud M. Dennis and Mrs. Mable M. Mayo of Erie, Pa.; Col. J. C. Morrow, Fort Townsend, Wash., and Charles A. of Warren, O.

Samuel Amspoker.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 25.—Attorney Samuel Amspoker, 71, one of the leading members of the bar, died yesterday. A native of Northern Washington county he was graduated from Washington & Jefferson College here. Later he taught school, becoming assistant county superintendent. He then studied law and practiced for 43 years, specializing in the settlement of estates. Mr. Amspoker was one of the founders of the Washington County Historical Society. He was the author of numerous treatises on historical subjects. An active Democrat and leader of his party in the county for many years. Mr. Amspoker was the unsuccessful Democratic nominee for judge of the Common Pleas Court here in 1915.

Ewing Funeral.

The body of George Ewing, 60, who died in Michigan Saturday, was brought to the home of his brother, Charles A. Ewing, of 905 Grandview avenue, yesterday. Funeral services will be held Wednesday. Mr. Ewing, former employe in the road department of Allegheny county, was fatally injured at Pontiac, Mich., September 17, when his automobile was demolished by a mail train. He was on his way to the home of a sister, Mrs. C. F. Uhlman, of Birmingham, Mich. Mr. Ewing left Pittsburgh 18 months ago to live with a sister, Mrs. Frank Lowe, of Tampa, Fla. He was a veteran Mason, member of Lodge No. 484, and the Patriotic Order of America. He leaves his wife, Clarabelle East Ewing; a son, W. J. Ewing; two daughters, Mrs. Uhlman and Mrs. Lowe, and four brothers, Charles A., Allison, Frank and the Rev. Harry Ewing, of Scio, O.

BOGGS & BUHL

come tomorrow to the fashion revue

11:00 o'clock—two performances—2:30 o'clock

Presenting informally, but most impressively, the significant trends of the new mode for Fall and Winter, 1928. We call it a "Story of Fall Fashions"—it is a simple resume of the newer phases of Fashion, together with a display of these fashions on mannequins chosen from the store's personnel. It is different . . . not alone will you see beautiful frocks and wraps, fur coats, millinery, and ensemble accessories, but you will take away a definite idea of the importance the newer fashions have in present day modes, and the reasons for their fashion preference.

individual dress coats of the new season

Coats alert to the latest edicts—being reproductions of the leading successes of the most recent Paris openings.

Among the finer things you find coats limited to one of a kind, each distinctive in fur, fabric, silhouette or color.

Coats straight of line with the snug fitting hip— and in other examples you see smart models with slight flares, but still retaining the slenderizing line in vogue for Fall.

Collars of the New Paquin, shawl, half shawl, and cushion types.

Cuffs with a movement that swirls smartly up the sleeve or that shape themselves in entirely new fashion.

Black— Maduro Brown — Falleaf — Woodbrown—Cariblue—Stringbean Green are among the smartest new colors.

Coats distinguished in many new ways not the least of which is in their magnificent fur trimmings.

Two most outstanding price groups in finer coats at $155 and $195.

—Second Floor—

the newer millinery

complements the formal elegance of new fashions

With a mode of sumptuous velvets and regal metallic cloths—with the softly gleaming satins and rich new silks, millinery fashions conform. The newer millinery subtly presents hatters' plush and milliners' velvets which smartly complete a correct ensemble.

If one's velvet frock has a touch of lace, how beautifully the hat illustrated here fits into a lovely picture for the afternoon occasion. It has a foundation of Black hatters' plush—the brim is cut in a charming new way and is faced with ecru alencon lace threaded with gold. $25.

Just as smart—and as new—you will find the millinery showings in connection with the store's Fall Fashion opening.

many occasions demand the formal frock

Fashion, this season, lends a sympathetic ear to the woman who likes to entertain and to be entertained.

At smart luncheons, at bridge, over the teacups, for dinner wear at the clubs and restaurants, for the theatre, the concerts and the dances these women will adopt the newer trends which seem to have a flair for the gracious side of life.

among the smart frocks

Fashionable velvets in plain and printed chiffon and transparent weaves in afternoon and evening models—$49.50 to $150.

Smart new chenille dotted tulle, inspired by Lelong new cire laces, shown at the most recent Paris openings cocktail jacket costumes, regal Robe-de-Style creations, exquisite imported satins with touches of hand-made laces, stunning velvet and crepe combinations, street shades in new evening frocks.

All of these and others of the newer trends are presented—prices ranging from $29.50 to $210.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

"TIME TO RETIRE"

THE thing that I admire most about Gene Tunney and Calvin Coolidge, is that they know when they've got ENOUGH. They know when it's time to retire!

That is something that few men and almost no women appear to know. Yet it's the whole secret of HAPPINESS!

* * *

Most of a man's headaches come from never knowing when he's got enough to eat or enough to drink. And most of his heartaches come from never knowing when he's got enough money, enough publicity, enough work, enough play—and above all enough WOMEN in his life!

HELEN ROWLAND

Most women never know when they've got enough hats; some never know when they've got enough shoes—and lots never know when they've got enough husbands!

And no woman on earth ever got enough love, enough attention or enough admiration. There ISN'T that much in all the world!

You can feed a woman flattery from breakfast time until midnight—and the next morning you'll have to begin telling her the same sweet things all over again, or be accused of "neglecting" her.

Many a man's love has been strangled to death by a woman's persistence in hanging around his neck, and sighing for "more love" or more petting or "just anuzzer litty kiss." A kiss and a political office can last just a little bit too long—and thereby turn a President or a woman from an idol into a pest.

A woman never knows when to STOP. When to stop talking, when to stop arguing, when to stop coaxing—or when to stop saying good-bye! She will vow never to speak to a man—and then call him up, next morning, just to vow the same thing, all over again.

Some men go to pieces and die before they have ever really LIVED, because they won't stop working and piling up the dollars. Others go to pieces and pop off before their time, because they won't stop playing, and give their tired old heart valves a rest.

There is a "time to RETIRE" from everything. And the best time is at the height of your fame, your success, your charm or your glory. When you've got ENOUGH!

The man who struggles to hang onto political power too long, only succeeds in wrecking his nerves and making himself hated. And the woman who tries to hang onto her youth and her vamping-power too long, only succeeds in getting a solar plexus blow in the vanity and making herself ridiculous.

* * *

The secret of success in everything, from fighting and petting to after-dinner speaking, consists in knowing when to STOP! The cleverest thing old Abe Potash ever said was "Enough is too much!" Most of us never know that we've got enough of anything, until we've had TOO MUCH!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, September 26

THE planetary operations for this day make for much activity but not entirely propitious circumstances. All the affairs may move at a lively pace and under high constructive stimulus, but those in the employment of others should be careful not to merit censure or dismissal and also there is some danger of fraud and duplicity in new undertakings. Social, domestic and affectional contacts may be lively and gratifying, under generally favorable aspects.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively and generally prosperous year, but in old lines rather than in new ventures. Those in employment should safeguard their positions. Personal matters should flourish happily.

A child born on this day may be resourceful, clever and versatile and may also have many social graces and talents making for success and popularity.

For the Lovelorn

Hon

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading the wonderful advice you have been giving to readers of your column, so I have decided to write for some of this advice myself. I have been going, although not steady, with a young fellow of whom I think a great deal. I just want to add that I'm not the only one that thinks this either. He's just a perfect "modern boy." He is a gentleman and treats a young lady as a nice young lady should be treated. He has been to my home several evenings and because of his "modern-like" way of acting and talking, mother dislikes him. She says I cannot have him up again. Now, Miss Gale, there really isn't a bit of harm in the way he acts and talks, but mother isn't used to these modern ways. Don't you think that mother shouldn't be like this and don't you think I should be allowed to pick my own company? Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain,

HON.

If your mother was so prejudiced against the boy, there must have been something other than his manner of talking that disgusted her. She has had more experience than you in judging character, so talk it over with her and get her viewpoint. If you are convinced that he is just being "smart" rather than dangerous, you may be able to change her mind.

When Fat Departs

new beauty comes, new youth, new health

Excess fat is a blight to beauty, to health, to longevity and youth. Any man or woman who fails to correct it limits the joys of life.

But get the results in the right way. Not by abnormal exercise or diet, for such extremes are dangerous. Combat the cause. Modern science has found that it often lies in a gland deficiency—in a gland which assists nutrition. And physicians the world over now treat obesity by supplying that lack.

When this discovery was made, a great American laboratory embodied that help in Marmola prescription tablets. They have now been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Users have told others, until the use has grown to nearly 5,000,000 tablets a month.

All can see the results in every circle. Excess fat is disappearing fast. Almost everyone has friends who will say that the reason is Marmola.

There is no secret about it. Marmola employs just what the best physicians employ to correct this abnormal condition. The complete formula appears in every box. And a book explains the reasons for each good effect. This to prove that the loss in weight is natural and helpful.

Do not change habits in a radical way. Simply take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. The way is easy, pleasant, scientific, real.

Start today for your own sake, and watch the results. Learn what others have learned in the 20 years of Marmola. Your whole life may be changed by this test.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1.00 a box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

FAY KING

By FAY KING

A WOMAN'S shopping tour is the greatest detour in the world. I doubt if brilliant detectives could gather any clues as to her ultimate purchases!

She may be headed for a bargain sale of soap, but stops along the way to price silver foxes, which are also for the neck! A woman who doesn't even own an electric hot plate or a teapot will revel among the kitchenware, and is half deciding on a kitchen cabinet!

I, myself, have dropped in at a Fifth avenue jeweler to have a look at the latest in dinner rings and diamond wrist watches when I was really in a hurry to get a box of colored darning floss at a notion counter for mending silk stockings!

How to Keep Well

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.

"Middle-Aged" Child Needs Special Food

IN the dining car of the train on which I am writing this, I just saw a young mother and her two babies. They were about 2½ and 1½ years old.

A man goes into the diner and growls if if his particular waiter and the dining car steward do not give him exclusive attention. If there is the slightest delay, he calls on another waiter or two for an extra spoon or more cream for his berries.

It made me ashamed of my selfish sex as I observed this charming mother. She was calm, alert, self-reliant, efficient. Forgetful of self and her own needs, she made certain that the baby on her lap and the tiny youngster in a chair beside her had all the food they needed. She was watchful that they didn't upset the water carafe or the cream pitcher. Between times she took what seemed to me hardly enough food for her own requirements.

Whenever I get upset about the world and what is to become of it I am glad to meet a young mother. Her conduct sets me straight at once. So long as we have mothers in the world we need not worry about the progress of the race. Goodness and unselfish service and loving kindness never can die while motherhood survives.

Public education is at the foundation of the political, religious, social and physical welfare of the race. Great responsibilities rest on all leaders of thought and teachers of knowledge. Proper instruction must be given or disaster is certain.

I thought of this in the diner just now. I saw this conscientious mother feeding her babies. She was giving these children sufficient quantity of what she has been taught to believe will best meet their needs. Threat or bribery could not induce her to yield one iota from doing for them what she has been taught is for their good.

Sometime soon I shall discuss the sort of feeding children of this age should have. Perhaps we say too much about infant feeding, too much about the children of school age.

Let me put if another way: Perhaps we neglect the child of pre-school age. The infants and school children must be given every attention—and they are. But I am reminded this morning that the in-between group requires more attention.

The "balanced meal" for the child between two and four or five is just as important as it is for the older child. But somehow we talk less about it. By reason of proper education of the public, infant mortality has come down amazingly. Now it is time to consider the next older group.

Unless we give the pre-school child the body-building foods in abundance, instead of an excessive quantity of cereals, we will be promoting fatness rather than sturdiness. I'll tell you about this another time.

God bless the mothers for their tender care!

Answers to Health Queries

E. C. Q.—Should a breast-fed baby be given plain boiled water or should something be added, such as camomile, kimmel, barley, etc.?

2.—Would the addition of sugar be advisable.

A—Plain water.

2.—Not unless it is required.

3.—If the mother eats the right kind of food, the little one should not need a laxative. If it is necessary, give glycerine suppositories or warm water and soap injections.

W. V. Q.—What remedy do you advise for pimples?

A—First correct the diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Avoid poor elimination.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Keeps Her Plans a Secret

"AND now I have come to the end of my life story," Philip Veritzen said, still watching me intently. "You know now why I was so anxious to attend all the functions given for the royal family of Transvania. There was a certain healing of my self-respect in having the Queen of Transvania treat me not only as her equal, but with a certain deference—I am a heavy contributor to her pet charities, and—what is even more to her liking—I have bought a play of hers. No doubt you have heard of her literary ambitions. But of course my purchase of the play is a secret as yet. Candor compels me to state that it is awful thing, which will have to be rewritten completely, as well as furnished with some good central idea, but to permit her to sell it to me raised by one hundred per cent the self-respect trampled by her pretty feet years ago."

I wanted to tell him to substitute the word "vanity" for self-respect, but prudently I held my tongue.

"It was at that night club where Noel was playing that the idea of Noel's marrying Olga's daughter first flashed into my mind," he went on, "brought there by the unmistakably romantic interest in the Princess Olina's face as she watched Noel play. I had a dozen plans, but none of them materialized. I put a trusted man of my own employ in a position where he could find out what was going on in the royal suite—there are wheels within wheels in the world you know—and thus I found out the secret so carefully guarded from the world; that the Princess had disappeared upon the day before that set for the return voyage, and that her maid, swathed as if helplessly ill, had been carried aboard the ship in a clever impersonation of her. But I could find no trace of the missing Princess, and I dared not employ a detective agency, although the man who had discovered the substitution of the maid for the mistress spent all his time in trying to discover some clue to her disappearance.

"You may imagine my intrigued interest, then, when you told me of the wealthy young Transvanian who had rented The Larches. I am afraid I hinted shamelessly for an invitation to your home, and also I am sure you had in idea that my anxiety had some connection with your new neighbors. Indeed your transparent face and your candid eyes told me so."

He smiled whimsically at me, and I flushed with annoyance. His smile vanished instantly.

"Please!" he said with concern. "I didn't mean to tease you. If you only knew how I—but I'll get back to my story."

His manner, his unfinished sentence only confused me the more and I was intensely relieved when he looked away from me as he finished the explanation of his interest in my neighbors of The Larches which I had noticed.

"I was fully convinced," he said, "that in the person of your young neighbor, I should see the missing princess, although I was curious to know how she had escaped the recognition of some one among the crowds who had seen her distinctive face with its famous Rapsburg nose, heritage of her father's family and mine which I am thankful I do not inherit. But when I first saw her I confess I was utterly at sea, although it did not take me many minutes, with my knowledge of physiognomy, to determine the truth."

"I think I know the moment," I said demurely. "The stem of your water glass snapped as you discovered her identity."

He flashed a glance at me which subtly conveyed admiration.

"Yes, you are right," he said. "I think I may be pardoned a little emotion at that suddenly opened gate to the plan of my dreams. I determined then that Olina should go back to Transvania only as Noel's bride, and so far my plan has been working out beautifully. What do you think of it?"

It was not the time, I reminded myself sharply, to express to him my utter disapproval of his project to separate Noel from Mary Harrison and join his life to that of Princess Olina. So I took refuge in flippancy.

"I think," I said demurely, "that although you may not know it, you still are much in love with the Queen of Transvania."

Removing Stains.

Gasoline will remove grease stains, but soap and water or a weak solution of ammonia and water are necessary for stains in which there is any sugar.

Helen was pitied

BUT all the same people left her out of things—Walt hadn't called for weeks now . . . And she didn't have strength to play anyway, after that grinding, gruelling ride home from work!

It seemed almost unbelievable, the energy other girls had. Helen wondered how they ever kept themselves in good shape. She herself had come to distrust ordinary laxatives; health foods that take weeks to act—cathartics that wrack the system . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

It's just like a bit of delicious chewing gum. You don't swallow it—you chew it!

Its magic laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released. It actually becomes part of the digestive fluids—does not disturb digestion. It works with the body—not against it!

It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't poison or weaken the system. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Get Feen-a-mint at your druggist's. Correct constipation—now!

HEIRS HERE ATTACK GIFT TO FRENCH WAR ORPHANS

One of the knotty problems for the State Supreme Court, now sitting in Pittsburgh, to decide is whether $63,418 residuary estate of the late John K. Crawford, of Crawford county, shall be given to the fatherless children of France.

His will stipulated that after the payment of about $120,000 of bequests, the balance of the estate should be sold and the money given to and for the benefit of the war orphans.

Exceptions were taken by direct heirs on grounds that the bequest was general in character and could not be rightly distributed, and therefore the money should be given to direct heirs. The case was argued before the Supreme Court yesterday.

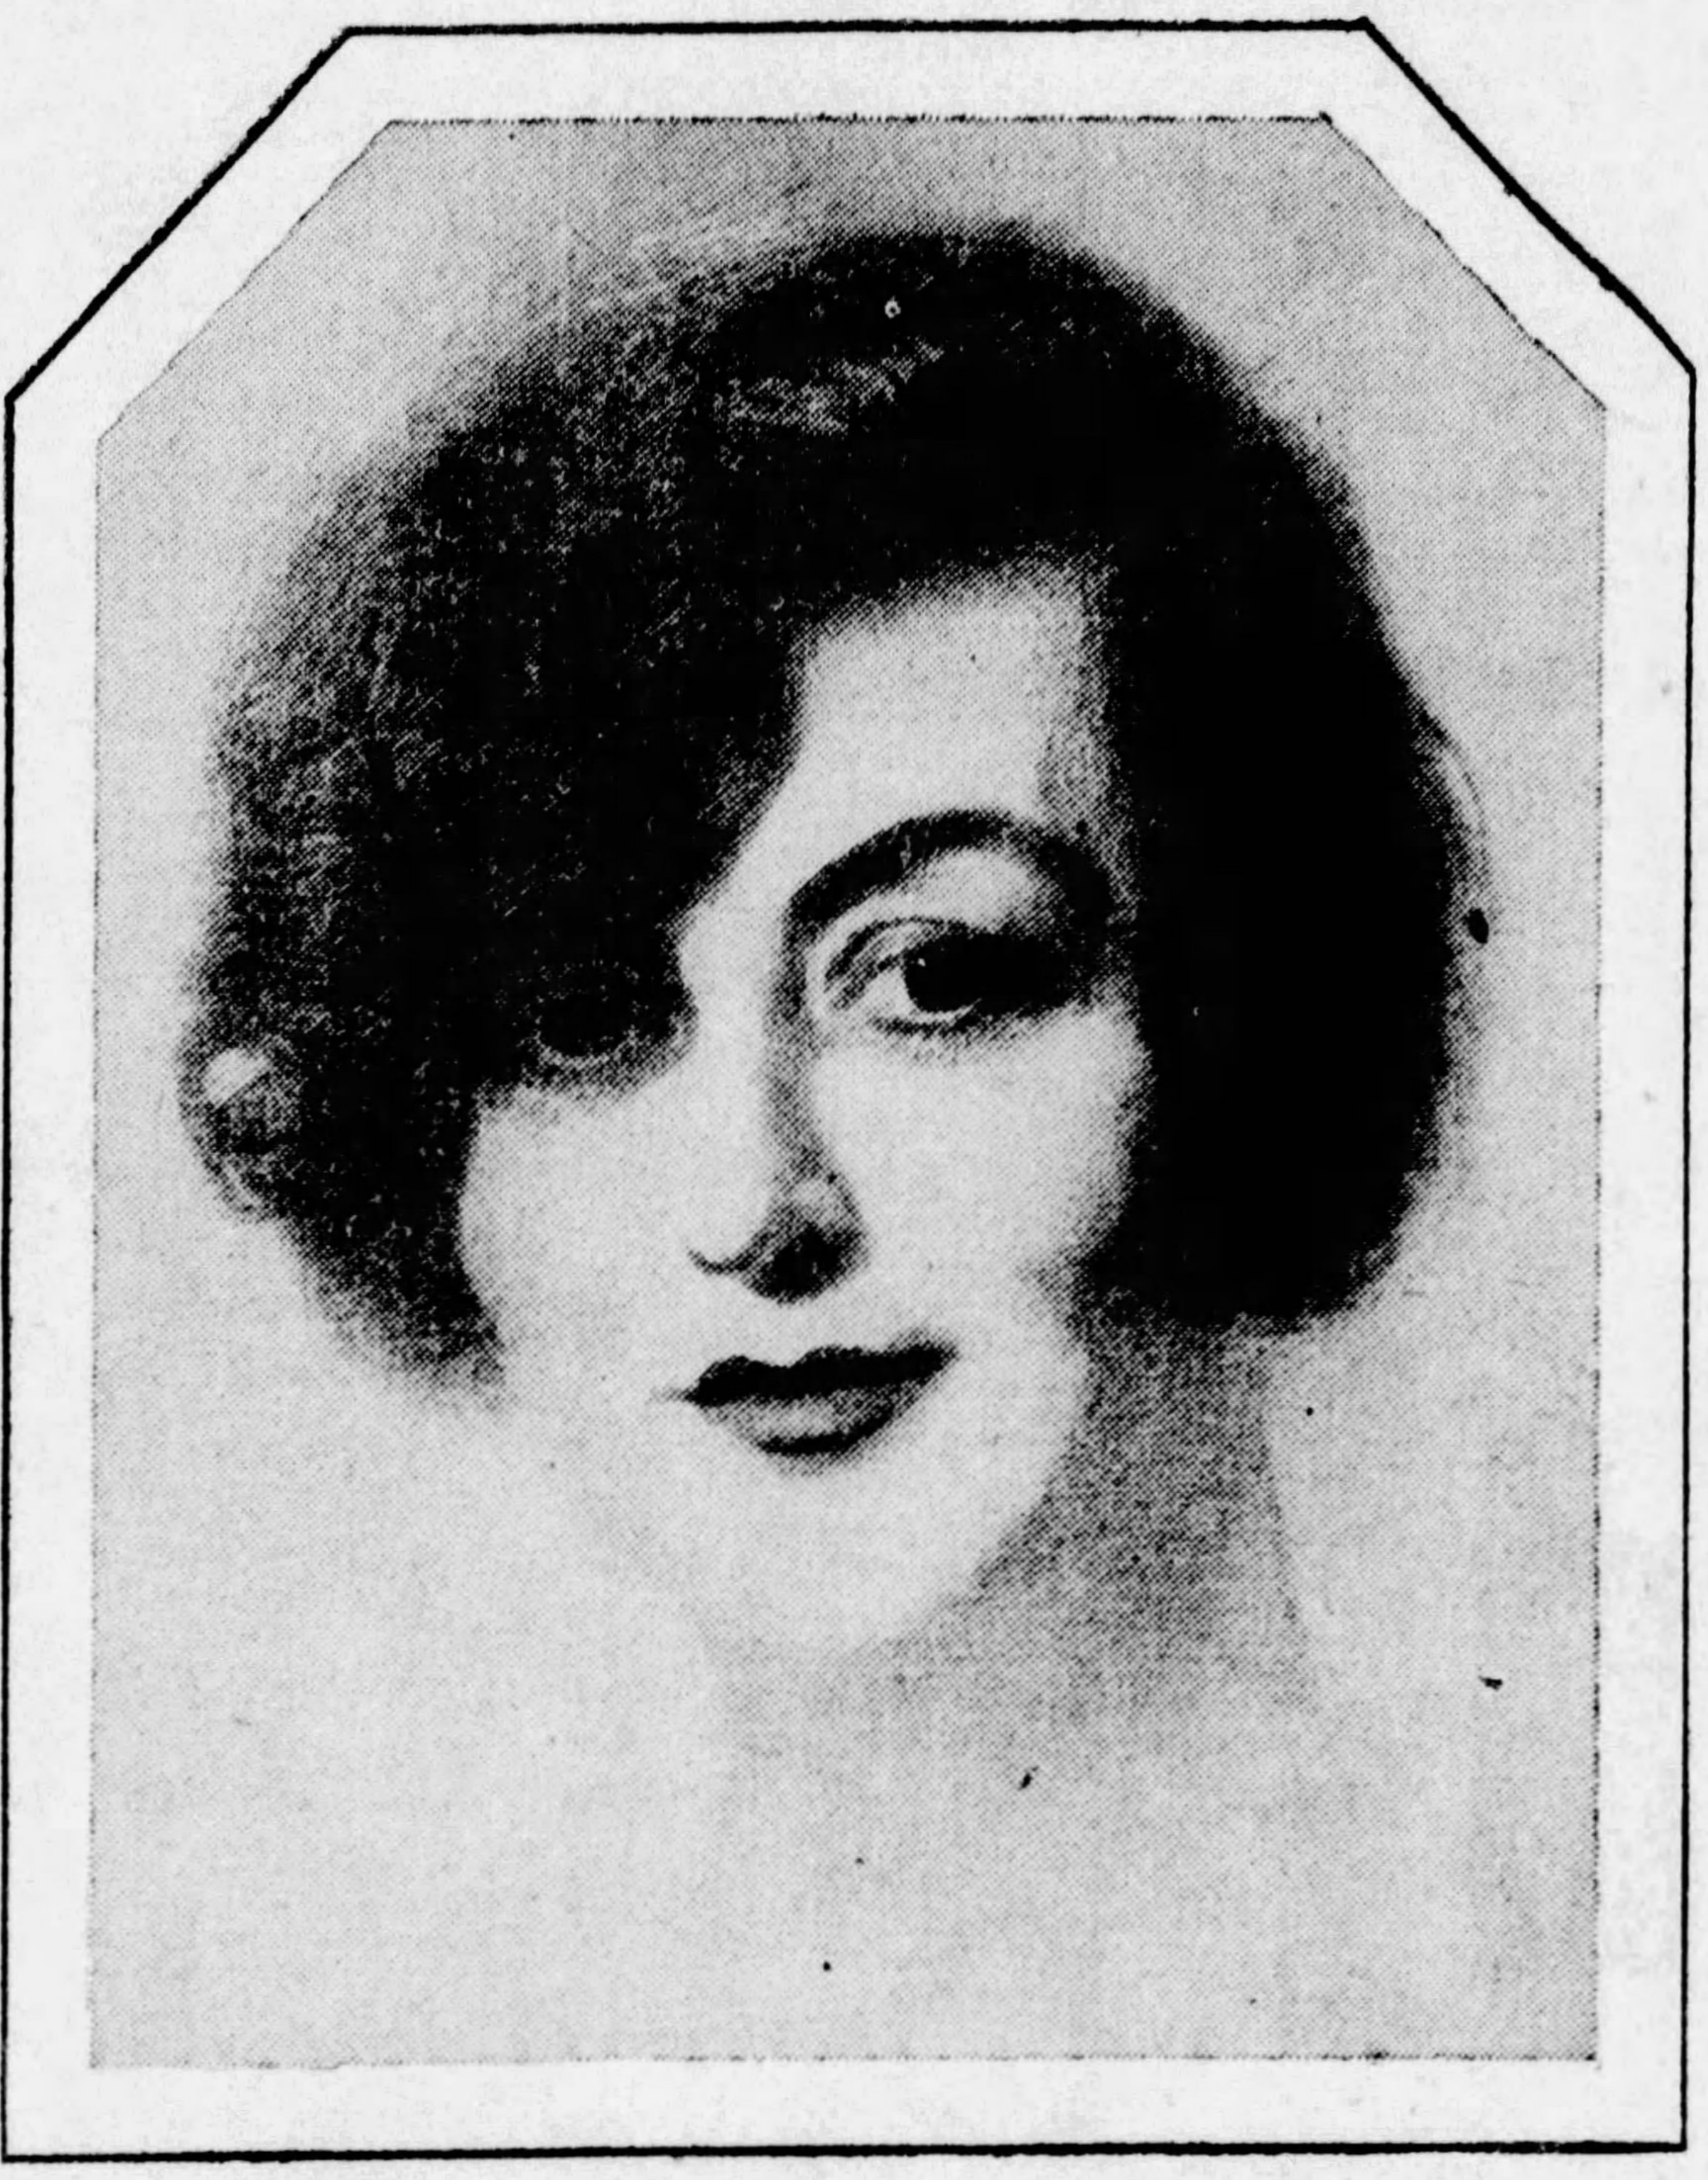
Mrs. Douglas MacArthur

thrills a brilliant circle with her gift for gracious living

"I THINK of all the different entertainments I give at my house in Maryland, the most popular and informal are my Sunday evening Maryland Suppers. I always serve the coffee in large cups, for somehow those large cups of fragrant coffee seem unfailingly to knit a group of diverse individuals into a cordial company. The mellow blended flavor of Maxwell House Coffee has long been identified with the gayest, most charming aspects of life in the Old South."



THIS ANIMATED PORTRAIT of Mrs. Douglas MacArthur was drawn recently by the distinguished artist, Mr. Josef Sigall.

A GLITTERING COMPANY moves as in a pageant before the stately background of Mrs. MacArthur's Maryland home.

RAINBOW HILL—Mrs. Douglas MacArthur's beautiful house near Baltimore—is a magnetic center for the social life of all Maryland.

Even official Washington, usually absorbed in its own pressing affairs, feels the irresistible attraction of Mrs. MacArthur's radiant personality and her drawing room glitters with the gold lace of the world's armies and navies, the orders of diplomats and the gowns and jewels of elegant women of many nations.

And always from these diverse elements Mrs. MacArthur's talent for hospitality knits, as she says, "a cordial company."

Perhaps the coffee does help.

Years ago a fine hotel in the Old South became famous for its superlative coffee. Travelers from all parts of the United States praised the rich, mellow flavor of Maxwell House Coffee.

Southerners themselves boasted of it. They said no single coffee grown could taste quite so delicious. And they were right.

The flavor of Maxwell House is a blend of many different coffee flavors, each selected for a special excellence. An expert in coffees with a genius for good living first worked out this choice blend, which is accepted today as the fine coffee preferred by America's most famous hostesses. Let your own family and friends enjoy this delicious coffee at your table. Your grocer has Maxwell House Coffee.

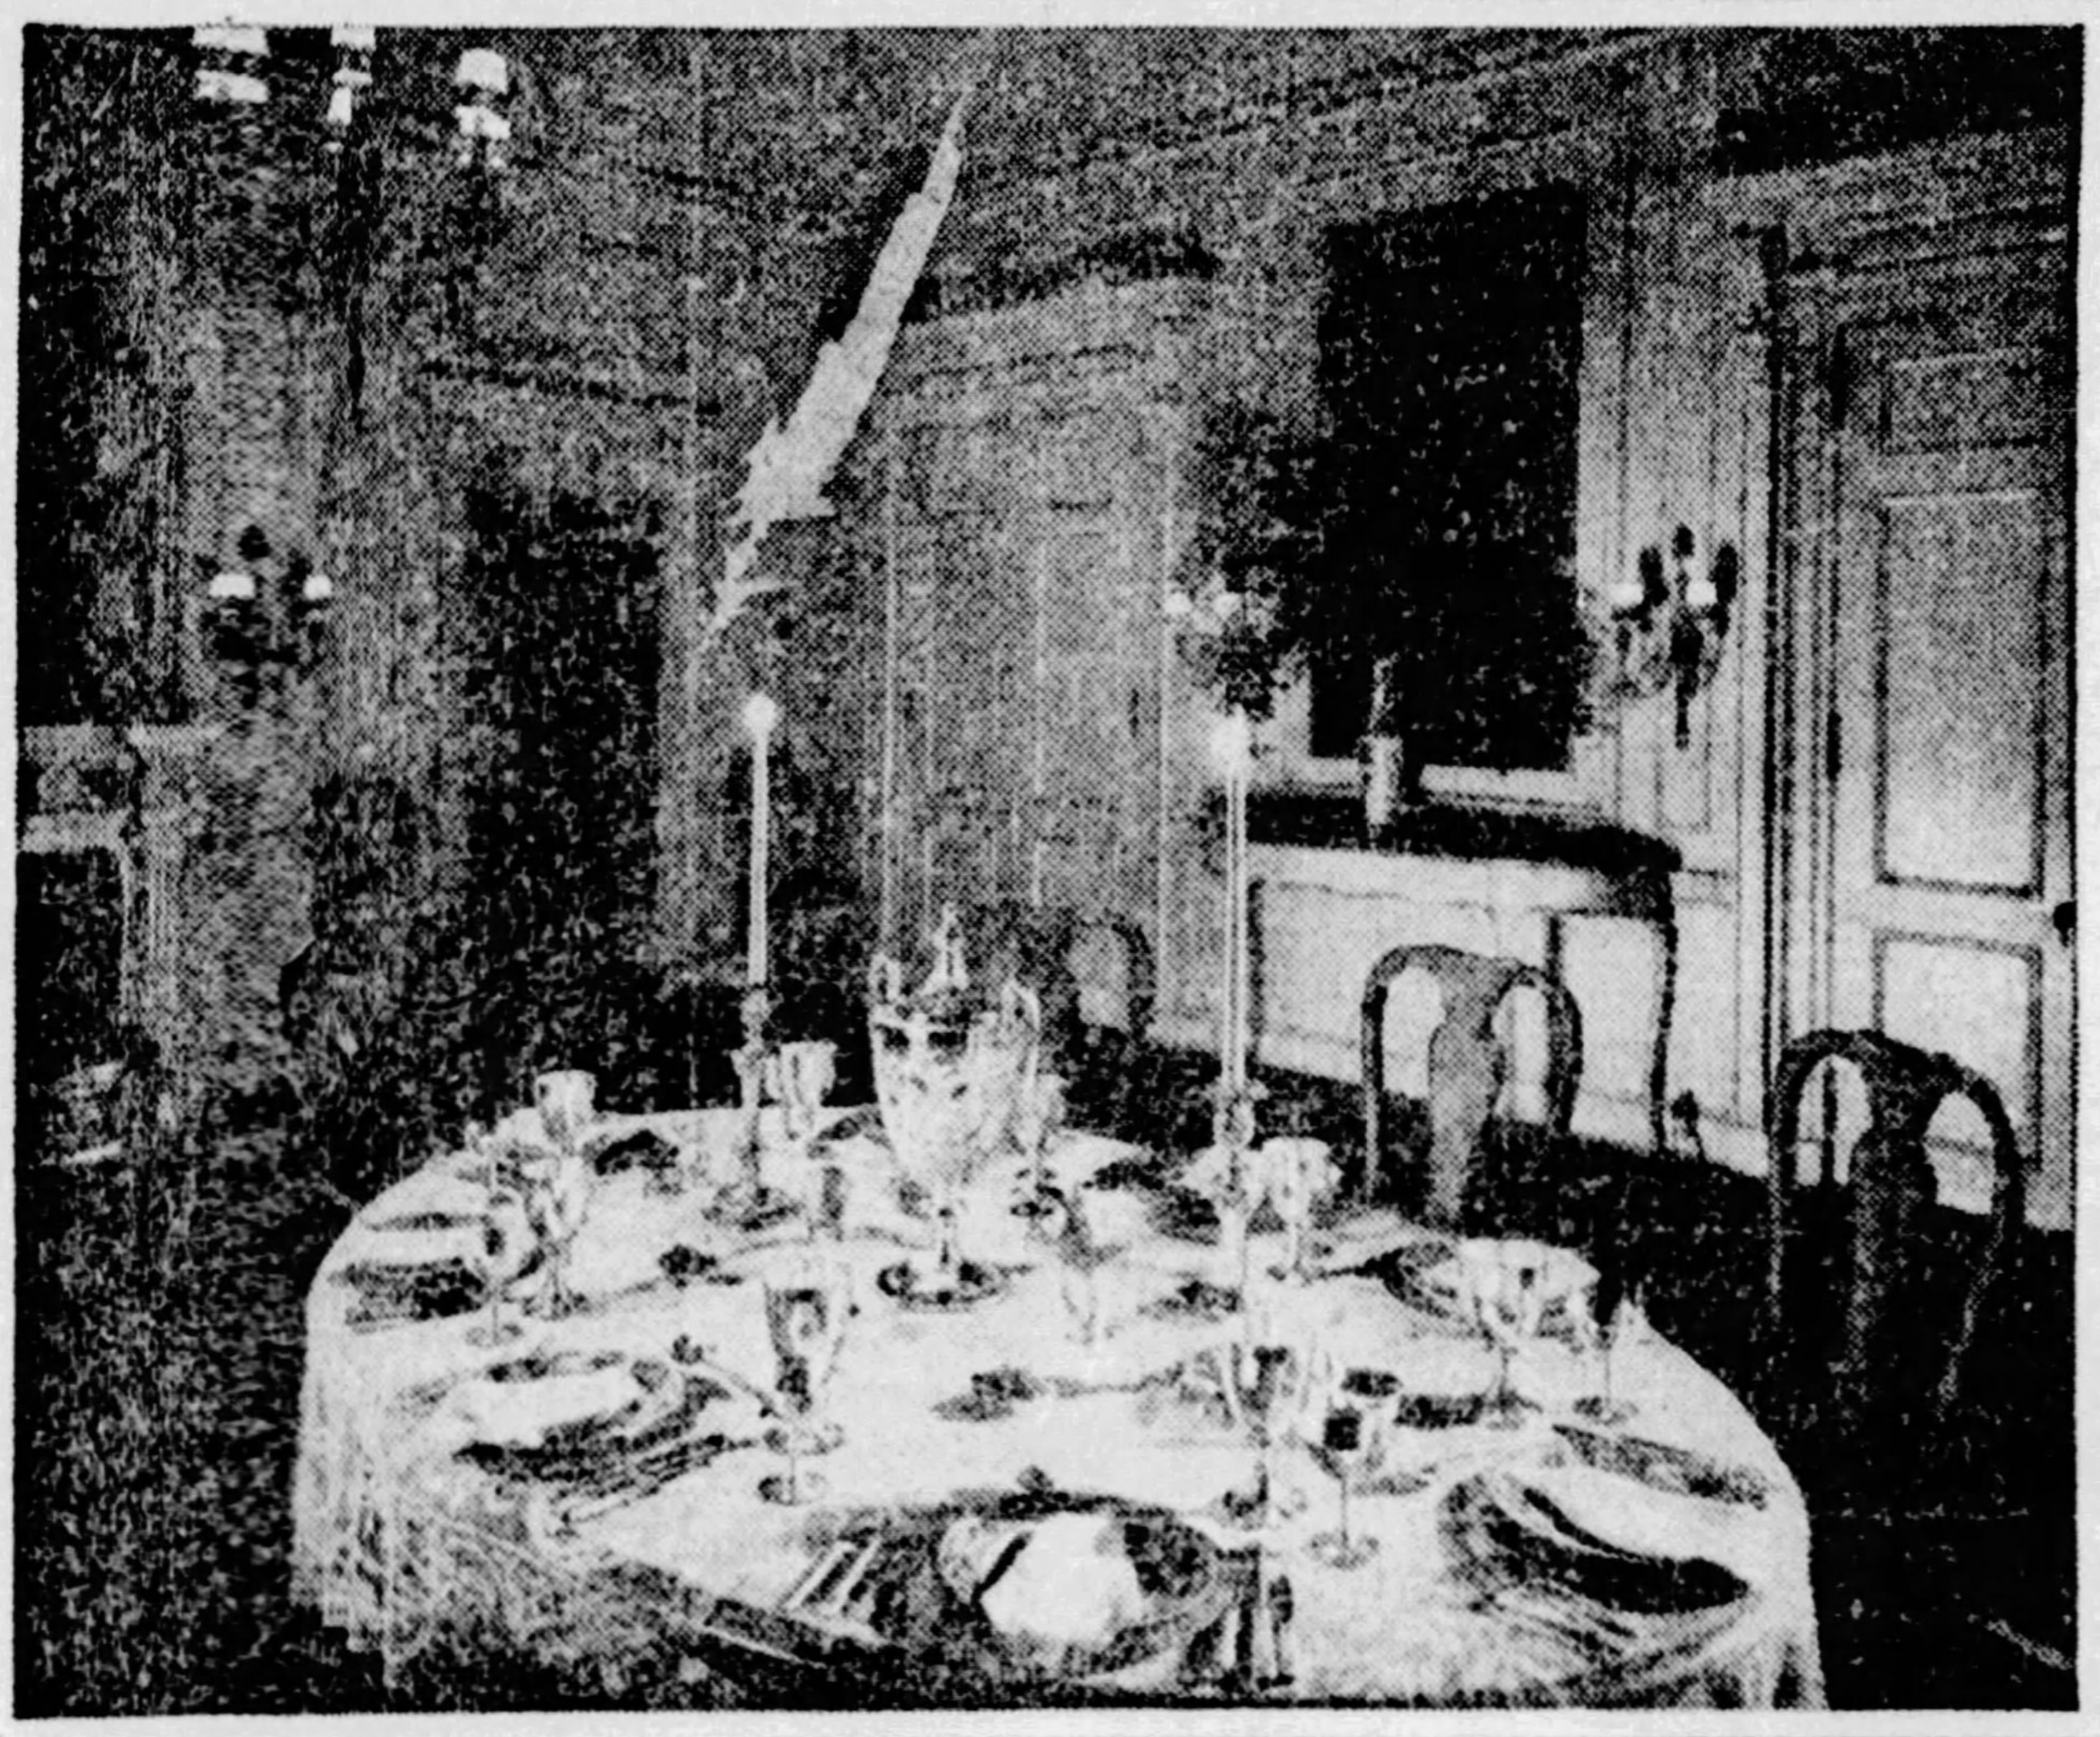


TABLE SET FOR A FORMAL DINNER in Mrs. MacArthur's Maryland home, which is in the lovely Green Spring Valley outside of Baltimore. The Maryland house will be closed this year when—greatly to the regret of all Baltimore and Washington—Mrs. MacArthur moves to one of her residences in the Philippine Islands. Mrs. MacArthur is taking with her to the Philippines an abundant supply of Maxwell House Coffee.

FROM THIS GENEROUS COFFEE URN of silver Mrs. MacArthur herself draws the large cups of delicious coffee which are as much a part of her Maryland Suppers as the broiled chicken and ham, broiled oysters and Maryland beaten biscuits.

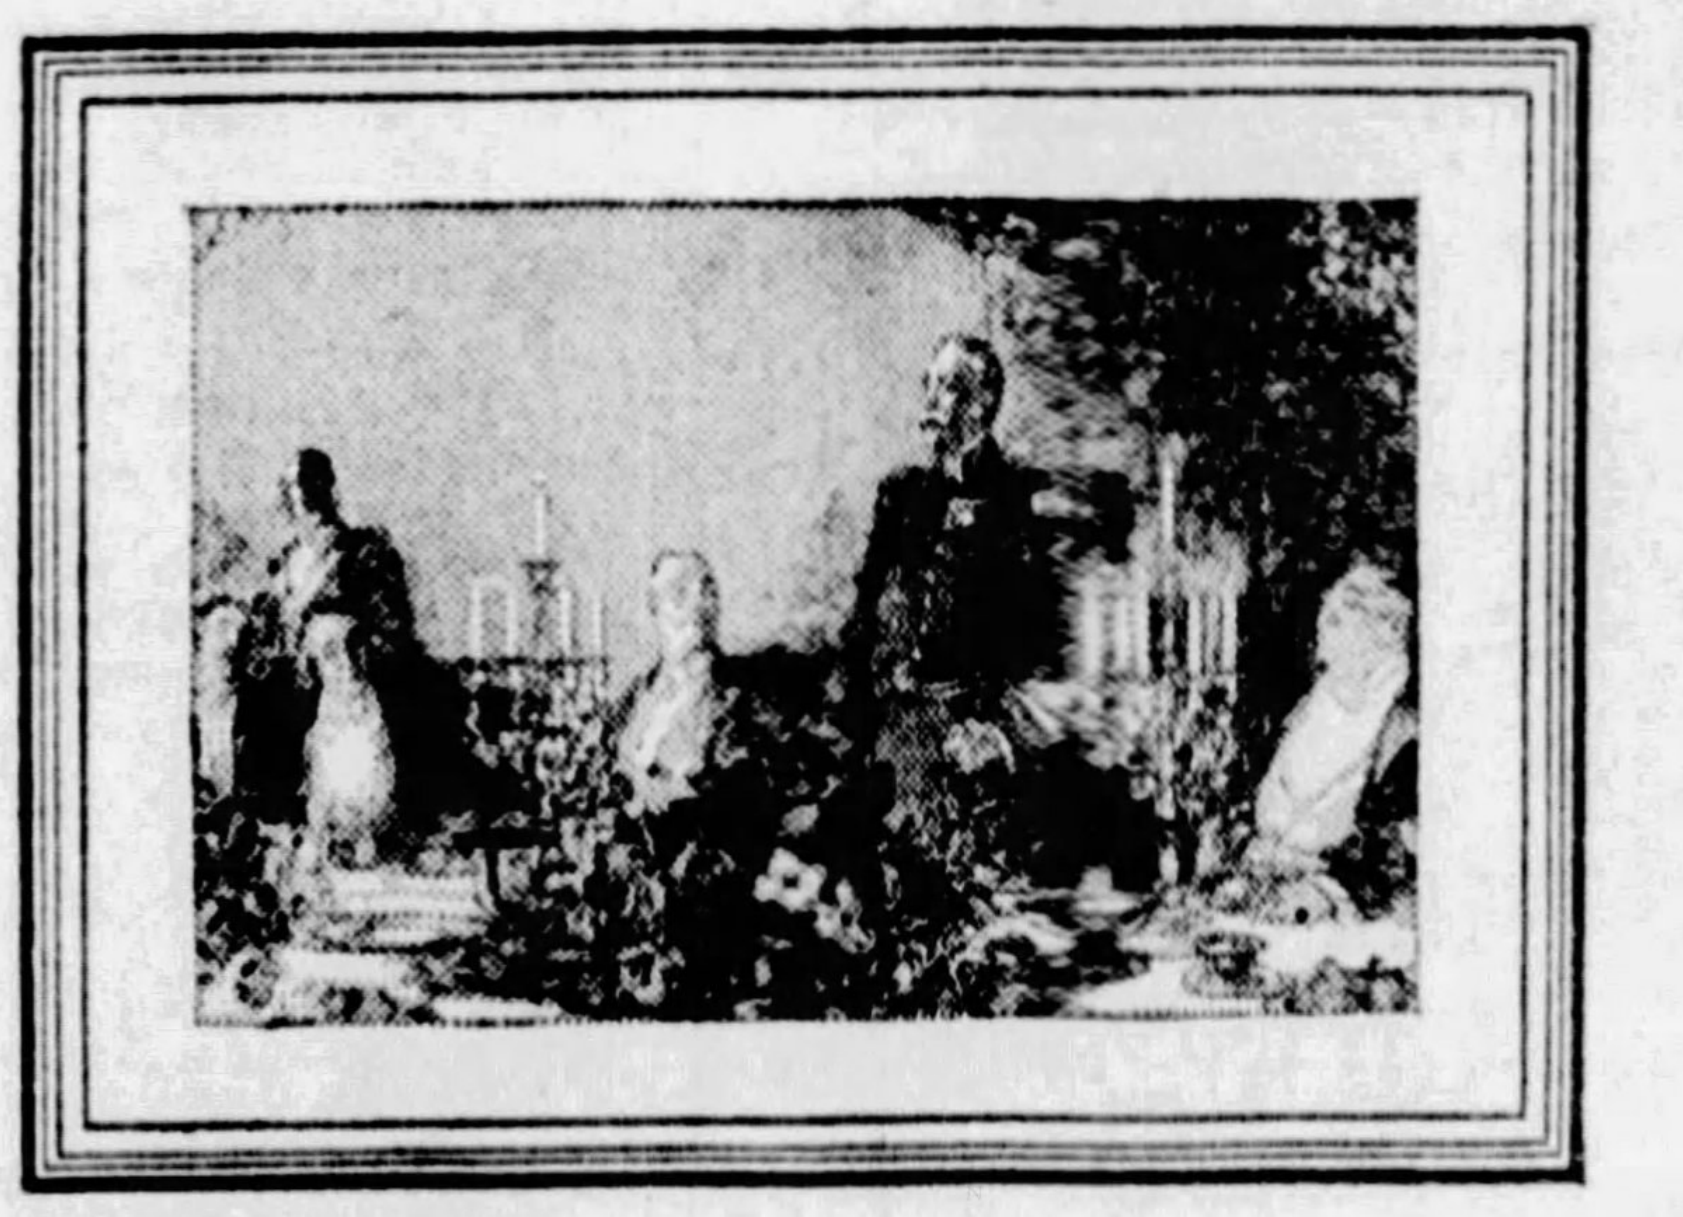
MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE



"OVER HIS COFFEE ADMIRAL DEWEY ROSE TO SPEAK"—a reproduction of a delightful painting which represents the banquet given in honor of Admiral Dewey at the old Maxwell House in Nashville. On this historic occasion, as on many another, the guests of the old hotel were delighted by the fine flavor of Maxwell House Coffee. Today this rare blend of coffee flavors is pleasing critical people all over the United States. It appeals unfailingly to men and women everywhere who know good food. Women who entertain with distinguished success serve Maxwell House Coffee.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

CONSOLATION PRIZES

By BERTHA R. McDONALD.

WALKING along Greenwich alley, oblivious to everything save the blackness of his own mood, Robert Morton saw the door of one of the many Italian restaurants which flanked the obscure street open suddenly. A waiter interposed his bulk in the doorway long enough to thrust a white Angora kitten out into the cold. It landed in a frightened heap at Morton's feet.

If anyone had asked him beforehand how he would feel should such an incident occur, he would have answered readily that he would not feel; that he would be absolutely dead to everything except his own misfortunes. But now there was something about that poor waif of a cat which reminded Morton of himself.

He too had been thrown out into the cold; banished from the warmth and sunshine of a girl's smiles and favor and for nothing he had done or failed to do; simply because he was who he was and not whom she thought him to be. He picked the frightened kitten up and sheltered it inside his overcoat.

"I know just how you feel, old top," he muttered, stroking the long fur. "You're cold and hungry and I'm going to see that you eat."

He went on down the street until he came to Toni Gallapeo's place. Morton counted on seeing the poor Angora lapping up a saucer of milk as soon as he could locate the proprietor, whom he knew personally.

Toni was at the desk and graciously took the cat from his patron to feed it in the kitchen. Blindly, without sensing anything or anybody around, Morton seated himself at the nearest table and ordered coffee. Toni was famed for the excellence of the coffee he brewed and many from the gentler walks of life came often to partake of it.

Morton had consumed half the contents of the cup of the steaming beverage before he saw that he was not alone at the table. Opposite sat a girl, a wee, half portion of a girl with very blonde hair and large, expressive eyes of that blue shade commonly known as heavenly.

For some unaccountable reason Robert Morton was drawn to this girl instantly, just as he had been drawn to the Angora kitten. She looked as though she needed a sympathetic shoulder to weep upon or an understanding ear in which to pour her troubles. Morton would have been quite willing to supply both.

"I saw you come in with the cat," the girl said unsmilingly. "Didn't know there were any men left like that. What prompted you?"

"The Angora was simply a fellow creature in distress. Saw it kicked out; knew how it felt; kicked out myself," he answered without emotion.

"Literally or figuratively?" The girl went on, reaching to drain the last delicious drop from her cup. "You don't look like a down-and-outer!"

"Am—literally and figuratively. Lost the girl I loved and with her my respect for women. Also lost a relative and with him my confidence in the honesty of men."

"Snap out of it," the half portion said banteringly. "Women aren't all bad, nor is every man a thief. Say, you're one of these boys who allows himself to be sunk by his load, without making any effort to rise above it, aren't you? What did you do to the lady?"

"Nothing — not one darned thing!"

"F'even's sake, fellow! Aren't you man enough to realize that if you didn't deserve to lose her, she doesn't deserve one moment of this mental anguish you're wasting on her? See here, boy friend, you're establishing a mighty bad precedent for us girls. If you let us see how easily we can bowl you over, more of us are going to get splashed—all wet, see?"

"You're something of a philosopher, aren't you?"

"Why not? Philosophy never hurt anybody, did it?"

He saw that her cup was empty, ordered hers and his refilled. This girl intrigued him. He drew her out, finally emerging from the depths of his own despair to laugh and joke with her across the table. When she arose to go, he paid both checks and asked if he might walk home with her. When they left, Toni was still in the kitchen with the kitten, which stepping-stone to their acquaintance they had both forgotten.

When they reached the rooming house where the girl boasted the possession of a first floor front, she invited him in. They sat and talked until Morton sensed that it must be time to go. Then he left reluctantly, without learning the girl's name or giving his.

The next day he found himself thinking of her constantly; calling to mind the gold of her hair, the intense blue of her eyes; remembering things she had said and how she had looked when she said them.

He was surprised that he should have felt so much interest in another woman so soon. He really cared to further the acquaintance is possible so he waited outside the rooming house that evening until the girl came out. Then he invited her to dine with him.

For several weeks they saw each other regularly. Finally Morton faced the truth squarely, acknowledging to himself that it was he, not Norma Wainright, who needed the sympathetic shoulder and the understanding ear. He also faced the other fact quite as squarely. He knew that he cared enough for Norma to make her his wife; so he resolved to tell her and then ask her to marry him.

"I thought I loved Sylvia madly," he said, in the course of his confidence, "but I see plainly now that it was merely hectic infatuation. Sylvia never loved me. She was after the Morton fortune and thought I was uncle's heir instead of my cousin George. When she discovered her mistake, she discarded me as though I were an old shoe and went after George. She got him all right. I received their wedding announcement the morning of the day I met you at Toni's. That was why I said I was down and out. I've gotten over my disappointment with knowing you, Norma. You've been wonderful, dear. It was a lucky thing for me that you weren't up against a snag as I was that evening or you couldn't have given me back, as you did, the courage to carry on."

"All of which only goes to show that our old friend Georgie B. Shaw was right when he said—'You never can tell,'" the girl returned, her eyes narrowing, while a queer smile crooked one corner of her mouth. "It just happens, dear boy-friend-soon-to-be-husband, that I am the lady George Morton left flat for your precious Sylvia. I got their announcement the same day you did and I treked down to Toni's for coffee that night, hoping to be alone while I readjusted my mental balance. You were a regular old buttinski with your long face and clouded eyes, but I certainly did admire the way you fathered that poor cat. That's why I felt the urge to try to perk you up at bit."

"Funny world, isn't it?" Morton returned, reaching out to pat her shoulder caressingly. "As near as I can make out, you and I are a couple of consolation prizes, aren't we?"

"We-ell—" Norma sighed happily, "Maybe—"

JUDGE ASSERTS PAPERS HELD FOR MONTH

Because the mills of justice have been grinding too slowly in city police courts, Judge James B. Drew yesterday exhorted city magistrates to speed up delivery of informations in the cases of offenders held for court.

The request was made specifically to Morals Court. Many informations are not sent to the courts for 30 days after summary hearing, Judge Drew said, making plain that [illegible] courts.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H Phillips since 1875.

PROGRESS in radio each year is measured by the accomplishment of the 200 electrical and acoustical engineers at work in the research laboratories of RCA and its associated companies—General Electric and Westinghouse.

They set the standards for the industry.

Their three most notable contributions to the art in the past five years have been:

1. The RCA Super-Heterodyne receiver, with its super-selectivity and high sensitivity—the finest achievement in radio.
2. The RCA Dynamic Speaker—incomparable for its fidelity of tone, musical range, and flexibility from a whisper to the full volume of a brass band.
3. Alternating-current Radiotrons, providing simplified, dependable, inexpensive A.C. electric operation from the house current.

Now all three of these great advances in radio design have been incorporated in the new "60" series of Radiola Super-Heterodynes.

Not only do the new Radiolas surpass in performance the finest radio instruments heretofore produced, but they are priced to place them within the reach of millions of American families. The unrivalled manufacturing resources of RCA and its associated companies make this possible.

The new RCA sets are fine furniture as well as wonderful instruments. New cabinets of selected woods and special finishes have been designed by a committee of leading artists and cabinetmakers.

Any RCA Radiola Dealer will gladly demonstrate one of the new Super-Heterodynes in your own home—and tell you how you may readily purchase it on the RCA Time Payment Plan.

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Dawson One of Most Valuable Relief Pitchers in Majors—Polo Grounds Homers Keep Giants in Race and Handicap Cardinals—Yankees Almost "In" Despite Their Defeat Yesterday.

PITCHER JOE DAWSON of the Pittsburgh club, whose fine work in the closing rounds of the overtime first game enabled the Pirates to get an even break in the double-header at Boston yesterday, is one flinger who has not received his share of credit in discussions of valuable relief hurlers in the major leagues this year.

Joe Dawson.

Dawson has not made a great showing as a starting moundsman, as he has pitched only one full game, that against Larry Benton in New York on July 24, when he was defeated, 6 to 3, and his record for the season is only seven victories and six defeats, but as a relief chucker he has done a whole lot for the Buccaneers and is entitled to be ranked with the best rescue boxmen in the big show.

JOE has been lifted out of seven games, but in a total of 22 others he has done yeoman service in the role of a relief man. In his last 10 calls to the mound in emergencies he has allowed only eight runs in a total of 38 innings pitched, which is an average of less than two runs per nine innings.

And relief pitching calls for some exceptional stuff, when it is considered that it is no easy matter to step in there and stop a club that has started on a hitting streak. Dawson will not rank high in the column of pitchers' percentages, but in effectiveness as a relief hurler he has been one of the best men in either big league.

THE Pirates' hopes of being able to pass the Cubs before the finish and capture third place were jolted again yesterday, when the Bruins added half a game to their advantage by beating the Phils while the Bucs were being held to a standstill by the Braves.

Even if the Bucs win all of their remaining five games, the Cubs can beat them out for third place by winning four of their remaining seven contests.

THE home runs peculiar to the Polo Grounds are keeping the Giants in the National League fight and may yet win the pennant for them. Another bunch of homers saved them from losing valuable ground yesterday while the Cards were beating Brooklyn again. Some of the New York homers are real, but the majority are pop flies that would be easy outs in a park of proper size. The edge the Giants have in that respect is one of the biggest handicaps that the Cards are up against in the fight down the stretch. The difference between the leading two clubs in the American League also remained the same yesterday, as both the Yankees and Athletics went down to defeat. But New York is almost "in" as a result. If the Yanks only break even in their remaining six games, the A's, who will play only 153 instead of 154 contests, will have to win all of their remaining five events to beat them out.

Frank Brown.

FRANK (BULL) BROWN, rated by leading men throughout the country as the best umpire in the minor leagues, and who would be on John A. Heydler's staff but for the fact that he resides in a National League city, expresses the opinion that the Pittsburgh club made a wise move in buying back Catcher Roy Spencer from Indianapolis.

"Spencer is a much improved catcher," said Brown upon his return to his Pittsburgh home yesterday following the conclusion of the American Association season. "He is one of the best in the minors in many ways, but what I like best about him is the fact that he calls for very few pitchouts when opponents are likely to attempt any base-stealing. He is willing always to take a chance on being able to throw his man out with the pitch coming right over the plate. Hurlers do not have to waste many pitches when Spencer is catching. Besides, his hitting was consistently hard for the season. I feel sure that he will help the Pirates."

BROWN also is loud in his praises of Steve Swetonic, the Pittsburgh boy who pitched great ball for the Indianapolis pennant winners.

"He has plenty in the matter of stuff," said Bull, "and backs it up with an iron nerve. He cannot be drafted, but I'll be surprised if some big league club does not buy him."

THE Pittsburgh umpire officiated in the sensational 1-to-0 12-inning game at Indianapolis Sunday in which Indianapolis cinched the pennant by defeating Toledo, Dan Boone getting the decision over Ed Pfeffer after a hard-fought slab duel. Brown's umpiring during his American Association engagement was of such a high order that he is assured of reappointment for 1929, as shown by the following letter, which he received from President T. J. Hickey, of the Association, at the close of the season: "Your work has been entirely satisfactory to me, and I am very much pleased at being able to secure you at the time we did. You can make your plans for continuing with the Association as long as your work is of the caliber it has been during the past season. I wish you a pleasant winter and extend kindest personal regards."

Roger Conti.

ONE of the foreign entries that had been counted upon for the next world championship 18.2 balkline billiard tournament, to be held in this country the coming winter, will have to be stricken from the prospective list.

Roger Conti, of France, who had been considered a certain starter, will not compete, according to B. E. Bensinger, who has just returned from Europe. He says Conti informed him he will not be able to get away from his big Paris billiard academy this year.

HOWEVER, there will be enough other foreign and American entries to make the competing field one of the largest

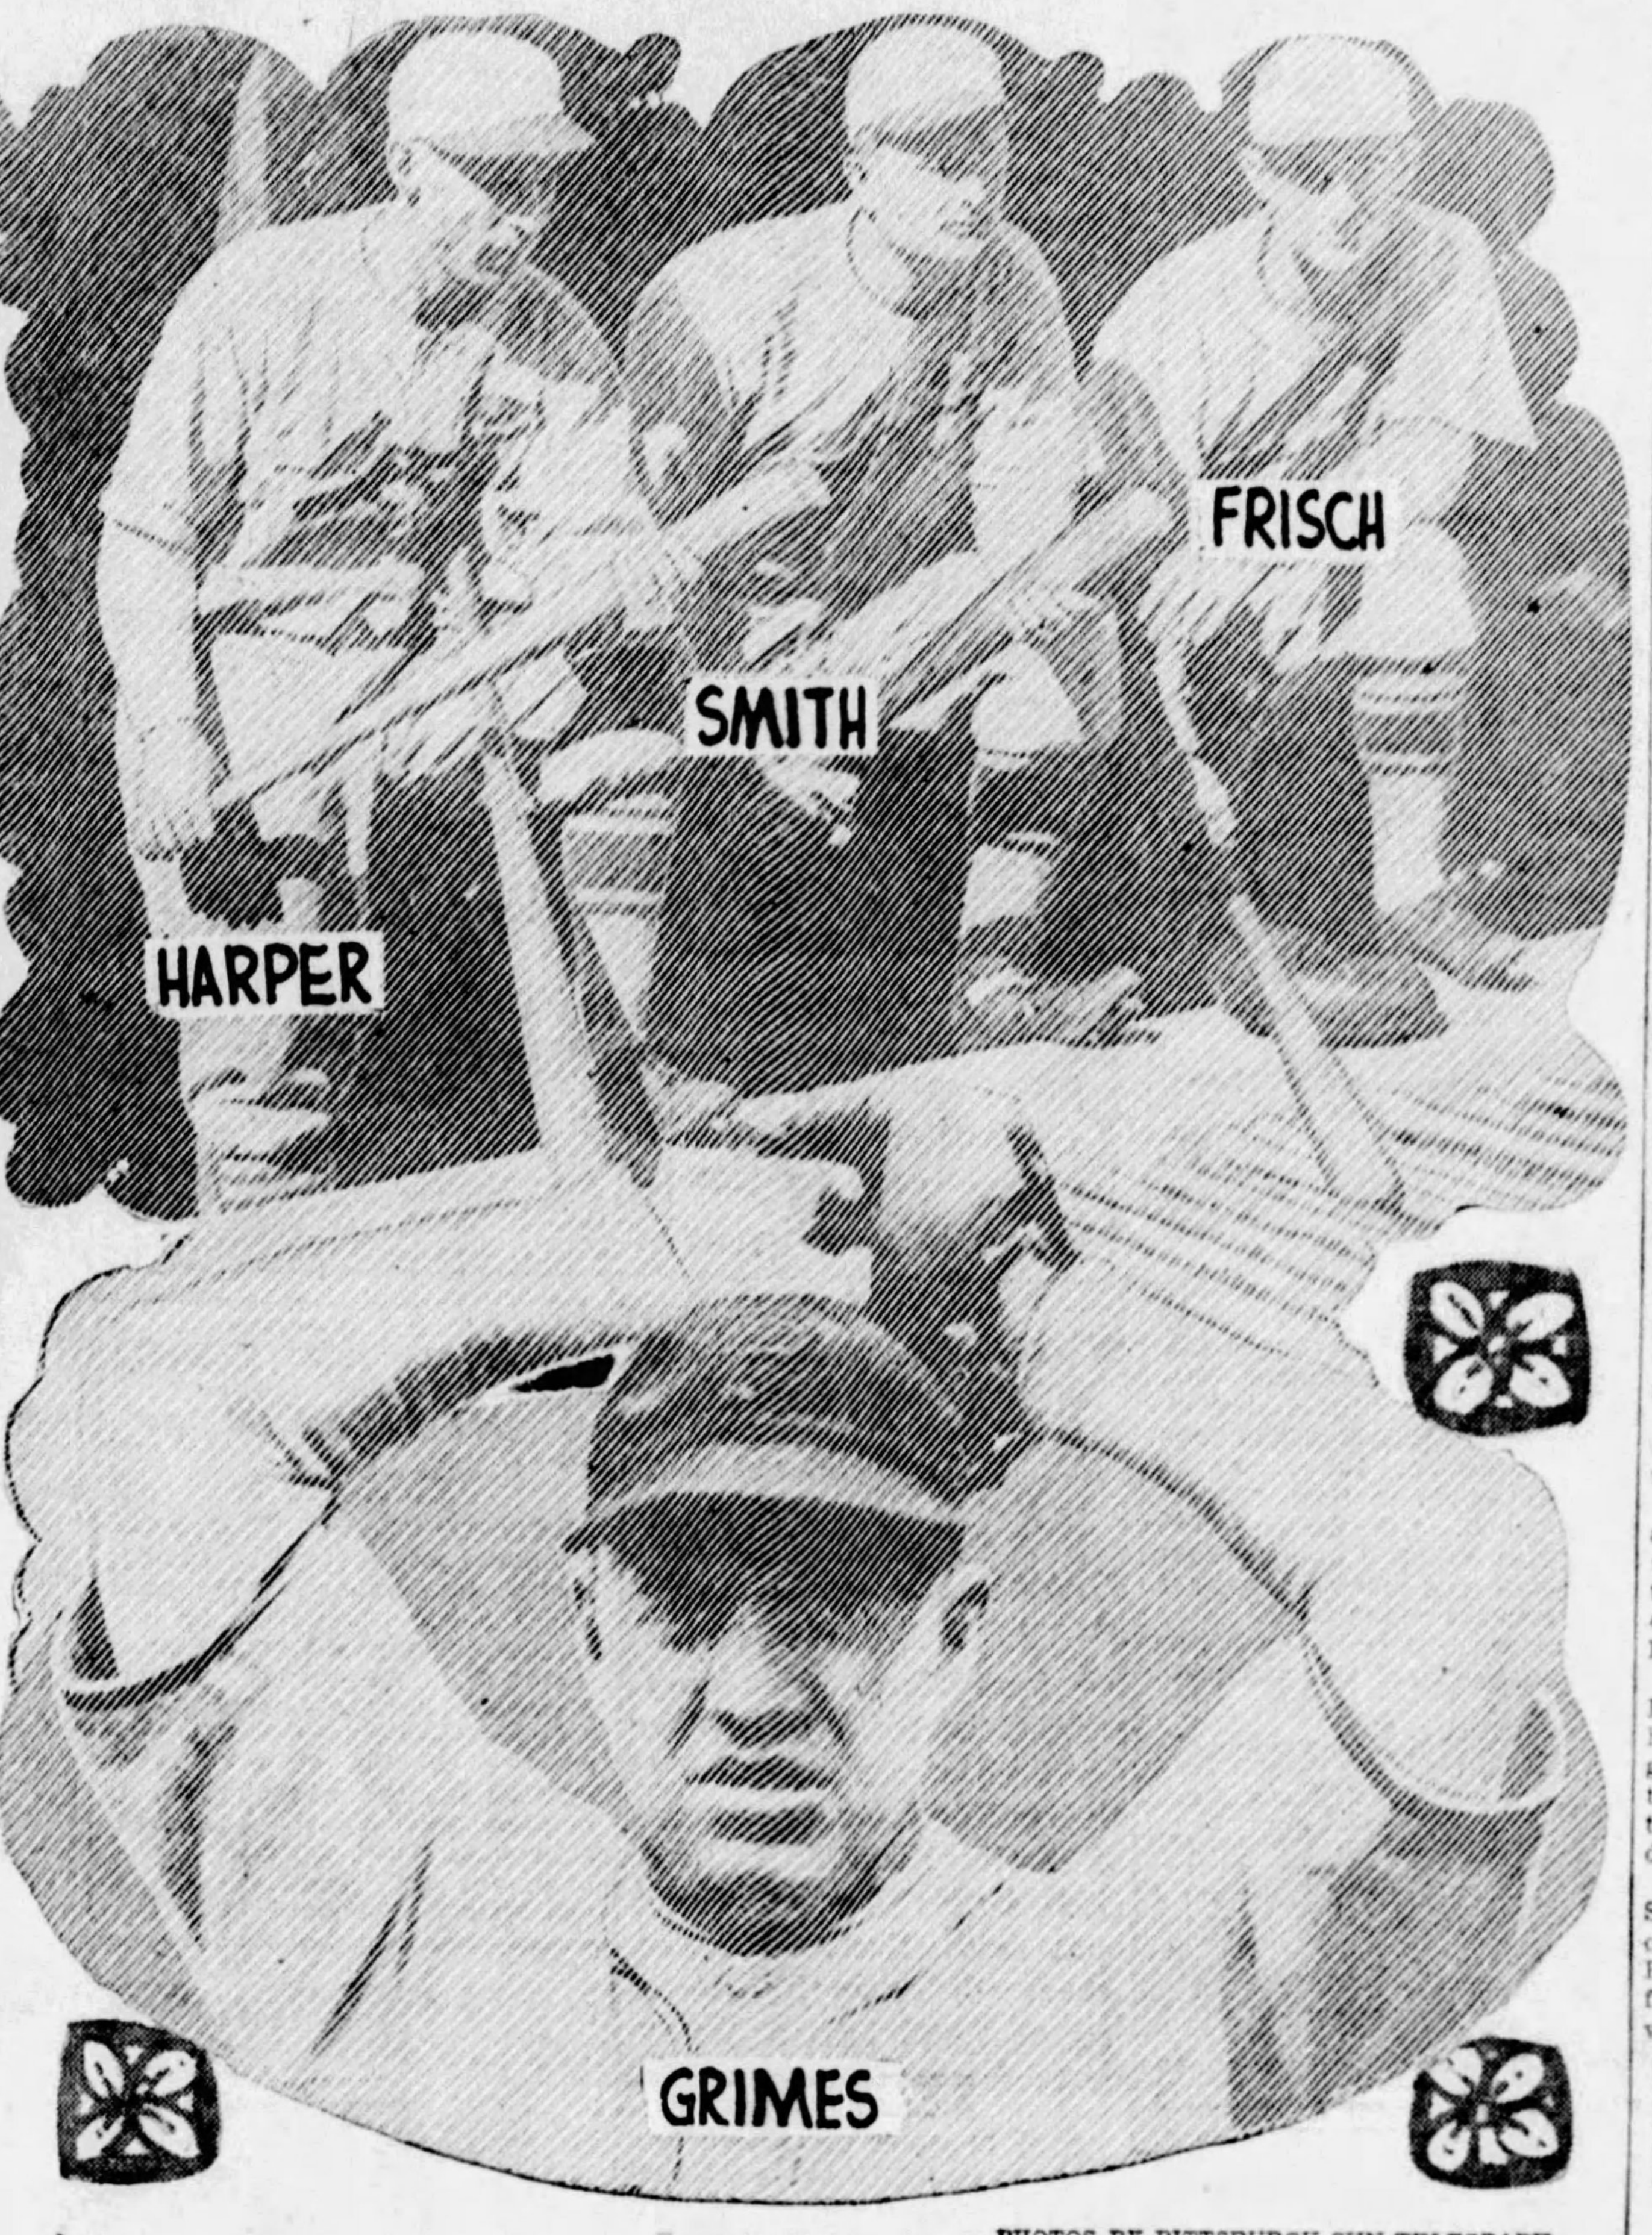
GHOSTS HAUNT HIM

John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, once more is beset by the ghosts of ball players he has traded down the river and who now have come back to bar his path to the National League pennant this year.



PHOTOS BY PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH.

ALL FORMER GIANTS

In the recent series in New York, George Harper, former Giant outfielder, who was traded to the Cardinals early this season, hit three home runs in one game to beat the New York club that is fighting it out tooth and nail with the Cards for the pennant. Earl Smith was released by McGraw years ago, only to wind up with the Cardinals, via the Braves and Pirates. Frisch was traded by McGraw for Rogers Hornsby, who did not tarry long in New York, and now Frankie is one of the main factors in staving off the Giants' strong bid for the flag. Grimes was traded by New York to the Pirates last winter for Vic Aldridge, who finished the season in the International League, while Grimes has just turned in his twenty-fifth victory. If McGraw only had these athletes back on his club, he would have had the pennant sewed up weeks ago.

YANKS ALMOST "IN;" GIANTS PERSISTENT

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The two-game lead of the New York Yankees now looks like money from home, and Philadelphians who heard rumors of Connie Mack's Athletics winning the American League pennant know it was merely some of the neighbors talking over the dear, departed days of 1914.

Alvin Crowder's twentieth victory of the season at St. Louis yesterday proved all but fatal to the 1928 hopes of the Mackmen, who thereby lost their third game in four days and face an all but hopeless task in their pursuit of the elusive championship.

Their great drive to the top, during which the Athletics overcame a Yankee lead of 13 games in August and early September, apparently took all the Philadelphia club had to give this year.

FACE TOUGH TEST

The situation today is simply this: The Athletics have five more games to play; the Yankees six. During that brief span (as major league pennant races go) Philadelphia must overcome an advantage of two full games enjoyed by the world's champions.

The standing of the clubs is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	Games to play
Yankees	96	52	.649	6
Athletics	94	54	.635	5

If the Yankees break even in their remaining games, the Mackmen must win all five of theirs to capture the pennant by the margin of half a game. If the world champions win four out of six, nothing their rivals may do can prevent Miller Huggins' club from retaining the championship.

Even if the crippled Yanks succeed in adding only two games more to their winning column, the Athletics have to win four out of five to finish in front.

The downfall of the Mackmen dates from the series in which they engaged the world champions in New York during the week of September 9, when that series opened, the Athletics were in first place, having fought their way to the top in one of the gamest uphill struggles in the history of baseball. The Yankees took three out of the four games played, and the race was as good as over.

It was said that the Athletics were a great road club, and that they would overcome New York's two-game lead when both teams swung into the West.

Four days ago Philadelphia was once more within striking distance of the goal. The Yankees led by a single game, and were a badly crippled ball club, disrupted by injuries. They were able to win only two games out of the next four, a

SPEAKING OF SPORTS
by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

ALL of the smart men are not in the boxing racket, despite the presence in their ranks of the eminent Jack Kearns, who on occasion can put the famous Mr. Shylock to shame when it comes to driving a bargain. Eddie Mead, manager of Joe Lynch at the time the latter was bantamweight champion, proves the case.

Eddie has been manager of Joey Ross, the Jersey City flyweight, who is generally rated one of the leading contenders in his division. Johnny Keyes of New York was anxious to add Ross to his string and made overtures to Mead for the purchase of his contract. They dickered and couldn't come to terms. Mead wanted $2,500 and Keyes couldn't see him. Finally it was suggested that they toss, the proposition being that if Keyes lost he would pay $2,500 and if he won Mead would get just one cent.

Mead lost.

Temple University has a star football player named Gugle. Of course, he has been nicknamed Barney.

TONY ROSS, Carnegie lightweight, who handily defeated Harry Dudley, the veteran Negro welterweight, in his last appearance here, is coming from Indianapolis with Chuck Wiggins when the latter arrives for his bout with Garfield Johnson which will be the feature of the opening show at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. Ross now is under the management of Ray Alvis, who also handles Wiggins and Young Jack Thompson, the California Negro star, who recently knocked

BUCS, BRAVES DIVIDE; HILL'S ARM HURT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Well, folks, now that the Pirates are out of the flag race entirely and Paul Waner close to being eliminated from the competition for the league's batting crown, there is not much left to do but sit back and watch the fine scraps in the two big leagues. The Freebooters are all set to finish the season in fourth place, it would seem, in view of yesterday's developments.

Before the doubleheader with the Braves got under way, the Pittsburghers felt they had a pretty fair chance of overtaking the Cubs. But the Tribe held the Buccos to an even break while the Cubs were downing the Quakers, so the Bears are three full games ahead of the Pirates with the race close to the end.

BUCS WIN FIRST

The Pirates won the first game of yesterday in 10 rounds, the score being 3 to 1. The victory, however, cost the services of Carmen Hill probably for the remainder of the season. Hill was struck on the pitching arm with a liner from Heinie Mueller's bat in the sixth. Carmen was taken out for treatment and today his arm is quite sore.

This contest brought a more severe accident to Pitcher Ben Cantwell, of the Braves. A smash from Adam Comorosky's bat in the second round broke Cantwell's left thumb. The Braves landed the second fight, 4 to 2, after a stiff engagement featuring Homer Blankenship and Bob Smith. The Texas Leaguer gave a fine account of himself, but the Tribe solved him for a couple of tallies in the eighth that decided the fight. Smith was in exceptional form all the way.

DAWSON-DELANEY DUEL

Joe Dawson and Arthur Delaney had quite a duel in the opener after Hill had left the contest. Dawson emulated his fine relief of a few days ago when he rescued Remy Kremer and again he was rewarded with victory.

Handicapped in his pitching division, Manager Bush stated he would use Ervin Brame or Kremer in today's contest. Kremer may not be able to work, his arm still being sore.

The duel between Manager Hornsby, of the Braves, and Paul Waner, of the Pirates, was much one-sided. The Pittsburgh ace could not produce a hit in either game, while Hornsby made several, besides getting a flock of passes. The Big Chief of the Tribe is almost sure of winning the crown as a result of the day's play.

Having much more popularity than Rogers Hornsby, Paul Waner was the big sentimental favorite to win the batting crown. But the Rajah appears to be just about "in" with the prize as a result of his big day while Paul was slumping. Even those who dislike Hornsby's

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Certain major league ball teams, including the Pirates, will not make much money this season, but the owners of these clubs may get a little consolation when they view the situation in Boston as it concerns the Braves.

A report is out that Tribe owners are "in the red" for a quarter million. The recent audiences reflect the indifference of the fans toward the National League entry. The Reds played three dual bills with the Braves last week, one twin affair being staged on Saturday. The total attendance for the three bargain attractions was reported to be something like 5,000.

The dual clash of the Pirates and Braves drew less than 2,500 paid admissions. Of course, this represents a loss for the visiting team as well as the home club.

HILLMAN LEAGUE ELECTS

The Hillman Duckpin League held its annual meeting yesterday to organize for the coming season. W. Bruce McKibbin was elected president, H. J. Vollmer, vice president and William H. Matthews, secretary and treasurer.

MRS. HURD DEFEATS HELEN PAYSON

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., defeated Mrs. Austin Pardue, Chicago, 7 up and 6 to play today in the first completed match of the first round of the women's national golf championship. Miss Orcutt was 6 up at the turn and won the twelfth after the tenth and eleventh were halved.

Miss Orcutt's out score of 37 represented four under par. She was hitting her shots with great force and appeared to have perfect control of her putter.

Marion Hollins, former champion, defeated Miss Betty Guthrie, New York, 7 up and 6 to play, while Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, won from Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, 7 and 6.

Mrs. D. C. Hurd defeated Miss Helen Payson, 2 up, by winning the 18th, where she drove the green while here opponent was in the rough.

Mrs. Harry Pressler, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., Boston, 2 up and 1 to play.

Miss Edith Cummings, of Chicago, and Mrs. Harley G. Higbie, of Detroit, were staging a battle royal, the Chicago woman sinking a birdie 4 at the ninth to go 1 up. Both had medal scores of 42.

Glenna Collett was 1 down to Beatrice Gottlieb after four holes had been played. The Providence girl was slicing her woods. She had to drop a 20-foot putt at the fourth to get a half after her opponent had driven the 205-yard green.

Marion Turple, New Orleans, Southern champion, took a lead of one hole over Mrs. G. H. Stetson, Philadelphia, 1926 champion, at the fourth hole when the Southern girl was on the green from the tee.

Sandlot Football

by TOM BIRKS

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA followers of the independent football code came mighty close to watching the great Gibby Welch in action locally this fall. Pitt's great all-American ball-toter dropped off at Latrobe to talk matters over with Manager Kennedy of the McChesneytown Football Club, which at this time carries two former Notre Dame captains, Clem Crowe and Edwards.

Gibby was on his way to New York to dicker with the Yankee professional aggregation, and had he not signed with the Yanks it is quite possible he would have been seen in Western Pennsylvania.

Had Welsh signed with McChesneytown, local defenses would have had a sweet time trying to stop Crowe, Edwards and Welsh. The Latrobe outfit is a wonderfully well coached team, and is the greatest drawing card in the tri-state district. With Burns coming back into the fold, it is possible the Latrobe eleven will play at least three games in this section. Manager Kennedy is dickering with Burns, McKeesport Olympics, and Bridgeville Firemen for a tilt at the speedway.

Zoltac, the great plunging fullback of the East Pittsburgh Firemen, sure made a hit with the McKeesport fans Sunday. Few players have received the ovation that came Zoltac's way when he was lifted out of the game by Coach Sullivan after it was won. Zoltac's play appeals to the crowd, and there is no player in the tri-state district as capable of tearing off five yards when the yardage is needed as the big Valley boy.

PIRATES

Carmen Hill was struck plum on his right elbow, the force of the ball giving him much pain. It is probable that Carmen is through for the season. With Kremer also suffering from a sore arm and Fussell ill, the Pittsburgh staff is well "shot." However, only five more games remain on the schedule.

Sparky Adams was the hero of the extra-inning scrap, the little second-sacker uncorking a three-bagger to left-center with one out in the tenth, that carried the thrill of victory. The Pirates then made another run largely through the speed of Lloyd Waner who gave a show of his speed in scoring from first on a single to right off Traynor's bat. Sprout followed Adams with a hit and when Pie connected safely Sprout carried the mail home a la Paddock.

Both lead-off batters started the opener with basehits. But there was no scoring in the first round.

Glenn Wright made the first move toward the Pittsburgh tally of the second inning. Glenn singled on the infield near second and Comorosky followed with his hot shot that took Cantwell out of action. Hemsley couldn't help the cause, but Hill came through with his first hit, a drive to center and Wright scored.

Hornsby hung his three-bagger on the rightfield wall at the start of the home half of the second. The Rajah rode over on Mueller's fly to L. Waner, but the Braves were through scoring so far as this contest was concerned.

Delaney and Hill sailed along in a beautiful slab duel from the second until Carmen of Corry had to take his departure in the sixth after being struck in the arm with Mueller's drive. When Dawson came onto the scene he showed dandy form, but Delaney continued to carry on in a delightful manner until the tenth, with one out, Adams connected for his three-bagger that broke the spell and led to the triumph.

The nightcap was anybody's fight right up to the eighth when the Braves scored twice. Mueller and Bell hooked up two doubles in the second to produce a run, but the Pirates forced a draw in the fourth when Paul Waner worked his way around.

Partly through an error, George Sisler broke the tie in the sixth, which he opened with a single. Hornsby's hit sent him to third and he tallied on a force play.

Mueller singled with one out in the eighth and Bell came through with his second double, scoring Heinie. Farrell connected for a single to score Lester of Harrisburg.

Wright started the ninth for the Pirates with a single, but he was still on first with two out when Brame batted for Blankenship. Ervin walloped a hot double to right that scored Glenn, but Smith checked the rally right at that point.

M'DONOUGH MAKES POOR START

By TOM BIRKS.

BERNIE M'FARLAND, former champion and one of the favorites in this year's competition, set the pace with a 68 in the first half of the 36-holes qualifying test in the annual city golf championship at the Schenley public links today. McFarland's 68 represents two over par, but his round was regarded as exceptionally good in view of the fact that the weather was too frigid for low scoring.

Following close behind McFarland were Robert Graham and Carl Kauffmann, finalists in the city tourney last year. Graham shot a 70 for the first 18 holes today, and Kauffmann, national public links titleholder, finished with a 71.

One of the big surprises of the morning's play was the failure of Pat McDonough, former city champ, to place among the leaders. McDonough came in with a poor 89, which almost eliminated him from title consideration. Indications are that nothing higher than 164 will qualify for the title flight, which means that Pat will have to score 75 or better this afternoon if he is to get into the select circle.

The second half of the qualifying test is being played this afternoon. The scores:

Bernie McFarland, 68.

Robert Graham, 70; Carl Kauffman, 71; J. G. Wyman, 72; M. H. Bochert, 74; J. Pasnik, 76; Frank Petrollo, 77; A. G. Wallstadt, 77; E. Swartz, 78; Tex Wessel, 79; M. Lapchick, 79; J. Ryan, 79.

J. A. Bostford, 80; H. Stevenson, 81; N. Galido, 75; P. J. O'Malley, 77; J. F. Lally, 78; W. S. Phillips, 78.

D. L. Lausche, 82; A. Sweetser, 82; J. W. Pratt, 83; J. A. Blair, 84; A. C. Hughes, 84; H. M. Perrin, 84; G. F. Woods, 85; A. S. Brandon, 85; Dick Brown, 85; M. J. Wahlwoth, 86; J. O'Rourke, 87; Sam Turosy, 87; J. B. Rosenberg, 87; George Lumsden, 88; W. Hutner, 88; Pat McDonough, 89; A. G. Blostain, 89.

W. Piakel, 81; H. D. Evans, 82; W. Gordon, 82; C. S. Tezover, 82; N. Holyake, 82; D. Lindsay, 83; Roy Carson, 88; O. Sigal, 88.

O. M. Lloyd, 90; R. H. Decker, 90; M. C. Adams, 90; R. Ellis, 90; G. H. Rapp, 90; R. G. Lunden, 90; R. B. Bright, 90; R. E. Arnold, 90; W. S. Wallace, 91; Burt Harris, 95; W. Harris, 95; J. Keenan, 95; M. L. Inshal, 98.

PETERS BEATEN BY DAVIES

NEW CASTLE, Sept. 25.—In 10 rounds of sensational fighting, Willie Davies, of Charleroi, won the decision over Ernie Peters, of Chicago, at Jolly Bowl here last night. They fought at 114 pounds.

Howard Mayberry, of Wilkinsburg, won the decision over Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland, in the six-round semi-final. Bobby Burns, of Pittsburg, and Steve Gott, of Lorain, fought a fast six-round draw. Joey Goodman, Norfolk, won the decision from Eddie Smith, of Cleveland, in their four-round bout, while Tom O'Leary, of Cleveland, won the four-round opener from Johnny Haggerty, of Pittsburgh.

SHORT SPORTS

PAT BIGGERT took the lead for the president's trophy in the first 18-hole round of the 36-hole play for the club championship of the Hotel, Club and Restaurant Golf Association over the Alcoma Country Club course yesterday. He had a gross 85. Herman Koch was second with 89. The final round will be played at Edgewood, October 9.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 25—Play began here today in the annual invitation amateur golf tournament over the Riverside Golf Club course. Many Pittsburghers are in the event.

NOTES of the BOXERS

GARFIELD JOHNSON, local Negro light-heavyweight, is training in New York under the direction of George Engel, former manager of Frank Klaus and Harry Greb, for his 10-round windup bout with Chuck Wiggins, which will feature the reopening of Motor Square Garden for boxing next Monday night.

Terry Lingo, of the North Side, winds up his hard training today for his 10-round return bout with Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, in the Palisades Roller Rink, McKeesport, tomorrow night. After that battle Terry is slated to go against Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, in the main bout at Washington, Pa., next Monday night.

Mike Moran, of Mt. Washington, and Jack McFarland, of Wilkinsburg, meet in a 10-round battle at Fairmont, W. Va., Friday night.

Jack Barry, clever local welterweight, boxes Dwight Fryer in a 10-round main bout at Little Rock, Ark., October 8. Fryer recently knocked out Basil Galiano and is a good attraction around Little Rock. Barry also will appear in the semi-final to a return bout between Tommy Freeman and Gorilla Jones, which will be held soon in Cleveland. Barry has been busy boxing out of town during the summer, meeting Johnny Carey, Freddie Boylstein, Sailor Freedman, Bucky Lawless, Paul Pirrone, Herb Brodie and Larry Brignolia twice.

Nick Susnell and Frank Monroe, boxers, are requested to call Reed Brown at Lafayette 5820-R today.

Frankie Porto, of Clairton, and Eddie Weygant, of New Castle, have been matched for the semi-final to the Midget Wolgast-Lew Goldberg bout at Centennial Field, New Castle, Thursday night.

The Mike McTigue-Tuffy Griffiths fight scheduled at Chicago last night, was postponed on account of cold weather. It will be fought Thursday night. The Sammy Mandell-Jimmy Goodrich bout at Flint, Mich., was postponed until tonight.

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has completed his program for tomorrow night with the signing of Jack McCarthy, of Pittsburgh, to box Bob Severin, of Tarentum, in the second preliminary at 145 pounds and Al Waldeck, of Tarentum, to meet Al Radicy, of Pittsburgh, at 130 in the opener. Dominick Profio and Jackie Murray will meet in the semi-final.

Ike McFowler, Negro heavyweight, of Johnstown, is holding out for a stiff guarantee for a return battle with Joe Packo at McKeesport on the night of October 10.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, and Joe Elrene, of the North Side, been matched for the semi-final to the Terry Lingo-Freddie Fitzgerald bout at Washington, Pa., next Monday night. Tommy Hileman, of Donora, will meet Mike Hogan, of Pittsburgh, in the second bout.

Chuck Wiggins boxes Jimmy Byrne, Louisville southpaw, in a 10-round bout at Chicago tonight. Bobby LaSalle and Jack McCarthy meet in the semi-final.

ONE KNOCKOUT MARKS TRADERS' MITT SHOW

Only one knockout was recorded in the open air amateur boxing show of the Twenty-seventh Ward Athletic Club last night. Billy Winso of the Duke O'Hara Club, hung up a technical kayo over Jack Petro of Clairton, in the third round of the main bout in the 160-pound class.

One bout required an extra round to decide the victor, Eddie Hebine of Clairton, finally getting an edge over Sharkey Lesko, of the Duke O'Hara Club. The summary:

112-pound class—Tony Marino, Duke O'Hara Club, defeated Johnny Warner, Clairton, in three rounds.

118-pound class—Paul Balenti, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., defeated Steve Buzy, Willow Club, in three rounds.

135-pound class—Eddie Hebine, Clairton, defeated Sharkey Lesko, Duke O'Hara Club, in four rounds.

147-pound class—George Bretch, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., defeated Bob McDowell, Willow Club, in three rounds.

160-pound class—Billy Winse, Duke O'Hara Club, knocked out Jack Petro, three rounds.

U. S. Polo Team In Drastic Shakeup

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—A drastic shakeup in the United States' international polo team was announced last night by the defense committee of the United States Polo Association. Under the revised lineup, Winston Guest, former Yale star, will replace J. Cheever Cowdin at back, and Stephen Sanford will play No. 1 position instead of W. Averell Harriman. Capt. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., will remain at No. 2 and Malcolm Stevenson at No. 3.

DAVIS-ELKINS FANS CELEBRATE VICTORY

ELKINS, W. Va., Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Asked how the "victory" celebration passed off at Elkins last night, a citizen answered: "They just about tore this town down." About 2,500 citizens and students joined in the celebration.

The "victory rites" had their inception when President James E. Allen, of D. & E. declared a half-holiday. The students paraded in the morning and in the afternoon hired a hall for a dance. Tonight there was a big bonfire on the campus and President Allen and H. P. Mullennex, of Pittsburgh, president of the alumni association, addressed the crowd.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Earl Sande scored his first victory as a trainer yesterday, when he saddled Chantry, winner of the Bell Rose claiming stakes, feature at Aqueduct. Chantry was at odds of 15 to 1, largely because of a disappointing showing in his last start.

Moorhead Pleases Tartan Mentors

GLENN MOORHEAD, a veteran halfback and a product of Bellevue High may be one of the surprises of the Carnegie Tech backfield when it faces Westminster College at Youngstown, Saturday. Moorhead must not be overlooked among the backfield men. He is doing excellent work and the Plaid mentors have been highly pleased with his work.

Moorhead is expected to be one of the main cogs of the Tartan machine this fall. His work against the Oregon Aggies last season is well remembered. It was none other than Moorhead that saved the Tartans from defeat against the Aggies when he raced nearly the entire field for an important touchdown.

Weaknesses have cropped out which the Plaid tutors hope to remedy before the Westminister contest. If the Coaches Steffen and Waddell see fit, the Plaid varsity grid candidates will scrimmage out Joe Dundee, the welterweight champion.

Writing from Lake Leelanau, Traverse City, Mich., Tony says he has been training with Wiggins there for the latter's bouts and is in great shape and hopes to appear often in Pittsburgh during the coming season. His manager is trying to book him on the Motor Square program next week. Ross, by the way, is Pittsburgh's only real globe-trotting fighter. He boxes anywhere and everywhere that he can obtain matches and has fought probably a smaller percentage of his bouts in his home town than any other boxer of ability this city has boasted in years.

DOWN in St. Louis, Dr. Al Sharpe, the new head coach at Washington University, where Bob Higgins, of Penn State, formerly held forth, had only 30 men on hand when the training season got under way a week ago, and his first game is set for next Saturday against Westminster College, of Missouri, a team that held Washington to a 6-6 tie last season. Some 20 more candidates are expected to report with the opening of the college year. Despite his small squad, the former Cornell mentor, who will have Ollie DeVictor, former Pitt trainer, as his conditioner of athletes this fall, is not discouraged.

"Give me material for two elevens and I'll get by all right," he said when asked for his view of Washington's prospects. "I can concentrate better with a small squad and am certain I will get satisfactory results."

JOHN HEISMAN, former Georgia Tech, Penn and Wash-Jeff coach, who now is at Rice Institute in Texas, remarks on the change of methods in coaching in recent years. The coaches do not go in so much for fundamentals as they once did, he observes, for the very good reason that they do not have to. The average high and prep school player comes up to college better prepared nowadays than he formerly did, Heisman declares, and the coaches find it more profitable to put in their time striving early for team play by drilling on perfection in running off plays. The result is that, except in individual cases, where players are known to be weak in certain departments, there is no prolonged training in line-charging, tackling, blocking, falling on the ball, stiff-arming and the other fundamentals.

All of this may be true, and, if it is, it probably accounts for the poor showings of some of the better known elevens on occasions. Nebraska, against Pitt last year, for instance, showed a woeful weakness in the simple fundamental of tackling in the open. This single defect led directly to its defeat by Pitt in one of the most spectacular games ever played in the Stadium. The Cornhuskers displayed great offensive power and scoring ability, but were correspondingly ragged on defense. It is a good bet that they were given plenty of tackling practice AFTER that defeat.

Felix Grange, former champion of France, will arrive before November, and Edouard Horemans, of Belgium, the present champion, also will reach the United States in a few weeks. Kinrey Matsuyama and another player to be selected later will represent Japan. Willie Hoppe, Jake Schaefer, Welker Cochran and Eric Hagenlacher, all former world champions and now in this country, will also be among the contestants.

Welker announced his withdrawal from professional billiards some time ago but intimates now that he will be in the tourney after all.

THIS week brings something new in American lawn tennis—the first professional championship tournament of real international character ever held in this country. It will open tomorrow afternoon at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, New York.

The fact that the tourney is to be played on courts where only amateur tennis has been played before, and has been underwritten by the U. S. L. T. A., is of great significance. It shows that professional tennis is now on a firm basis in this country and has the support of the amateur body.

INTEREST in the pro tennis event naturally centers around the chances of Vincent Richards, foremost American player, against Karel Kozeluh, of Czechoslovakia, who has not been defeated since he lost to Watson Washburn in 1919 after an absence of four years from the courts, and who has been proclaimed by Richards, Tilden and others the greatest tennis player in the world, either amateur or professional.

Richards and Kozeluh, who have placed first and second in the seeded group of eight in a field of 30 entrants, are favored to meet in the final.

THESE American and Czechoslovakian stars have already met on the courts, Kozeluh having defeated Richards twice in Prague and London and again in a third match in New York Sunday. Despite the victories of Kozeluh, American tennis experts are predicting that he will have lots of trouble beating out Richards in this week's tournament. Vincent himself, it must be remembered, has no mean record himself. He has won five professional championships and eight amateur championships, counting doubles, without reckoning his victories in the boys' and junior classes. In the opening matches tomorrow afternoon, Richards will meet Vladium Terentieff, formerly of Russia, and Kozeluh's opponent will be John Collom.

against the Plebes this afternoon. It will mark the final skirmish for the Tartans.

Daily workous will be held all of this week. A large delegation of Carnegie Tech followers is expected to make the trip to Youngstown.

PITT

The net result of the scrimmage between Coach Jock Sutherland's Pitt varsity and the stubborn Panther freshmen in the first workout of the week yesterday afternoon somewhat nettled Coach Sutherland, who watched the frosh throttle varsity plays.

The Panther first string was anything but impressive last week and yesterday's showing was particularly disappointing because Pitt is scheduled to open the season Saturday with Thiel College.

With three more days of hard work remaining before Coach Sutherland will be ready to select his starting lineup for the opener, the Panthers still have ample time to flash some satisfactory stuff.

Daugherty, Clark and Johnson, freshman backs, did some great defensive work yesterday, discounted a bit by the fact that the yearlings are familiar with the varsity plays.

Another brisk workout is on the practice menu this afternoon.

DUQUESNE

Goaded on 30 minutes' straight on the defensive, Duquesne's generally-accepted first team tore through their opponents in yesterday's scrimmage for a 50-yard gain in five plays. Elmer Layden, of course, has no official first team, but the players and managers have about figured out which team is considered the first. In its 50-yard debacle the backfield had Devinney at quarter instead of McCarthy. McCarthy is the steady, powerful type with good kicking as an asset. Devinney is a brilliant, shifty ball carrier, small, light and fast. Mac was considered to have the inside track on account of his experience of last year, but Devinney has replaced him in two scrimmages.

Ebert and Czinki played right and left end respectively, they have been alternating with nine other prospects for the past week and Layden obviously is seeking for a good end combination.

PENN STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Penn State's line looked stronger today with the return of Jack Martin, veteran guard who had been injured. Lebanon Valley will provide the opposition on Saturday.

Season Opens Here Friday

THE last hard scrimmage sessions prior to the opening of the scholastic title chase, on Friday, are being held in City League gridiron camps today. Drills tomorrow and Thursday will be of a light nature, with the coaches "polishing up" their charges for the inaugural fights.

Although Section I boasts three potential city champions in Westinghouse, defending titleholder; Schenley and Peabody, the real fireworks on Friday will be set off in Section II, where the teams, although generally weaker, are more evenly matched. The Allegheny-South Hills and Carrick-Oliver duels, on the opening day card, should be close and hard-fought.

Westinghouse is expected to encounter little difficulty in subduing South and Schenley rules a prohibitive favorite to down Fifth. Peabody, the only other Section I member to swing into action Friday, will work out against North Braddock in a non-league affair. Perry, like Peabody, will open with a non-league encounter, but Jeannette, its foe, on Saturday, is far from being a set-up, and the battle should give the North Siders much more exercise than many City League jousts will provide.

The W. P. I. A. L. race, which is open to those outlying districts where the athletes grow big and the teams wax powerful, is to get away over the week-end with the strong battling the weak in the tune-up tilts. Few, if any, games will find potential champions opposed. Some 20 of these contests are billed for Friday and the other elevens will do battle the following day.

The new W. P. I. A. L. race looms as a fairly open affair. Greensburg, defending champ, has another strong team, but it will need all its strength to stave off challenges from New Castle, Charleroi, Washington, Turtle Creek Union, Norwin, Clairton and others who are qualified to wear the crown gracefully.

FITZGERALD, BROWN WIN IN OIL CITY SHOW

OIL CITY, Pa., Sept. 25.—(OP.)—Freddie Fitzgerald, 139, Youngstown, O., won from Civi Osburn, 139, Cleveland, by technical knockout in the third round of a 10-round bout here last night. Al Brown, 147, Youngstown, O., technically knocked out Johnny Orr, 144, Oil City, also in the third round.

Young Duido, 146, Sharon, won from Johnny Hahn, 146, Oil City, six rounds, and Nick Sevaro, 130, Meadville, drew with Johnny Mitchell, 136, also of Meadville, six rounds.

Yanks About "In"

golden opportunity for the Mackmen. Instead of seizing the opportunity to catch and pass their rivals, Connie Mack's men tossed away three ball games, winning but one in the same period. Yesterday's defeat at the hands of the St. Louis Browns probably was the final straw to break the White Elephant's back.

The Athletics made as many errors as they did base hits, which is no way for a club with pennant aspirations to act at any stage of the race.

NATIONAL IS CLOSE

Meanwhile, the National League race remains as close as court plaster, with the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants still separated by a single game and neither showing the slightest inclination to capitulate.

The standing today is:

	W.	L.	Pct.	Games to Play.
Cardinals	91	57	.615	6
Giants	90	58	.608	6

The Cards have two games to play at Brooklyn, three at Boston and one at the Polo Grounds. The Giants meet the Reds once more and then engage the Cubs in a four-game series before meeting the Cardinals in the final game of the season.

Both National League contenders are showing the strain of the desperate stretch finish, yet both are fighting with spirit and vigor. Neither has an altogether dependable pitcher left for duty, but each club is hitting the ball hard and effectively.

It will not be at all surprising if the National League race is fought out to that last September Sunday when the rivals for the 1928 pennant meet at the Polo Grounds and settle matters between themselves.

PITCAIRN NINE OUT TO WIN SECOND GAME

The Pitcairn shops baseball team which took the first of a series of three games from the Philadelphia Terminal Division team at Altoona, last Saturday, for the championship of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will play the Terminal team in the second game in Philadelphia, Thursday afternoon. If a third game is required it will be played in Pitcairn the following week.

Hilty, the Pitcairn twirler who stopped the Philly sluggers in the game at Altoona, is being depended on to repeat at Philly next Thursday.

SANDE ENTRY WINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(INS.)—Earl Sande, once the country's leading jockey, is off to a successful start as an owner and trainer. He saddled his first winner yesterday, only 10 days after he had hung up his riding togs, when his two-year-old filly Chantry won a $3,000 race at Aqueduct. Chantry paid the lucrative odds of 15 to 1.

CHESS MASTERS DRAW

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Three of five adjourned games in the international chessmasters' tournament were drawn yesterday. A fourth was begun, but adjourned a second time. Dr. A. Vajda is tied for first place with Jose R. Capablanca.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New Castle—Willie Davies defeated Ernie Peters, 10 rounds; Howard Mayberry defeated Mickey Dugan, 6 rounds; Bobby Burns and Steve Gott drew, 6 rounds; Joey Goldman defeated Eddie Smith, 4 rounds; Tom O'Leary defeated Johnny Haggerty, 4 rounds.

At Williamsport—Pete August defeated Dorey Shimar, 8 rounds; Ralph Wagner knocked out Honey Boy Shimar, 2 rounds; Eddie Leroy and Steve Nitchie drew, 4 rounds.

At Jersey City—Sailor Tiny Debolt won on foul from Barney Zedlacki, 5 rounds.

At Cincinnati—Augie Pisano defeated Vincent Hambright, 10 rounds; Harry Kreindler defeated Kid Monk, 6 rounds.

At Oil City—Freddie Fitzgerald knocked out (technical) Civi Osburn, 3 rounds; Young Guido defeated Johnny Hahn, 6 rounds; Nick Sevaro and Johnny Mitchell drew, 6 rounds.

At Brooklyn—Tommy Grogan defeated Sammy White, 10 rounds; Georgie Deschner won on foul over Phil (K. O.) Kaplan, 4 rounds; Dominick Petrone defeated Sammy Chernoff, 6 rounds; Boley Matalavage defeated Barney Shaw, 6 rounds.

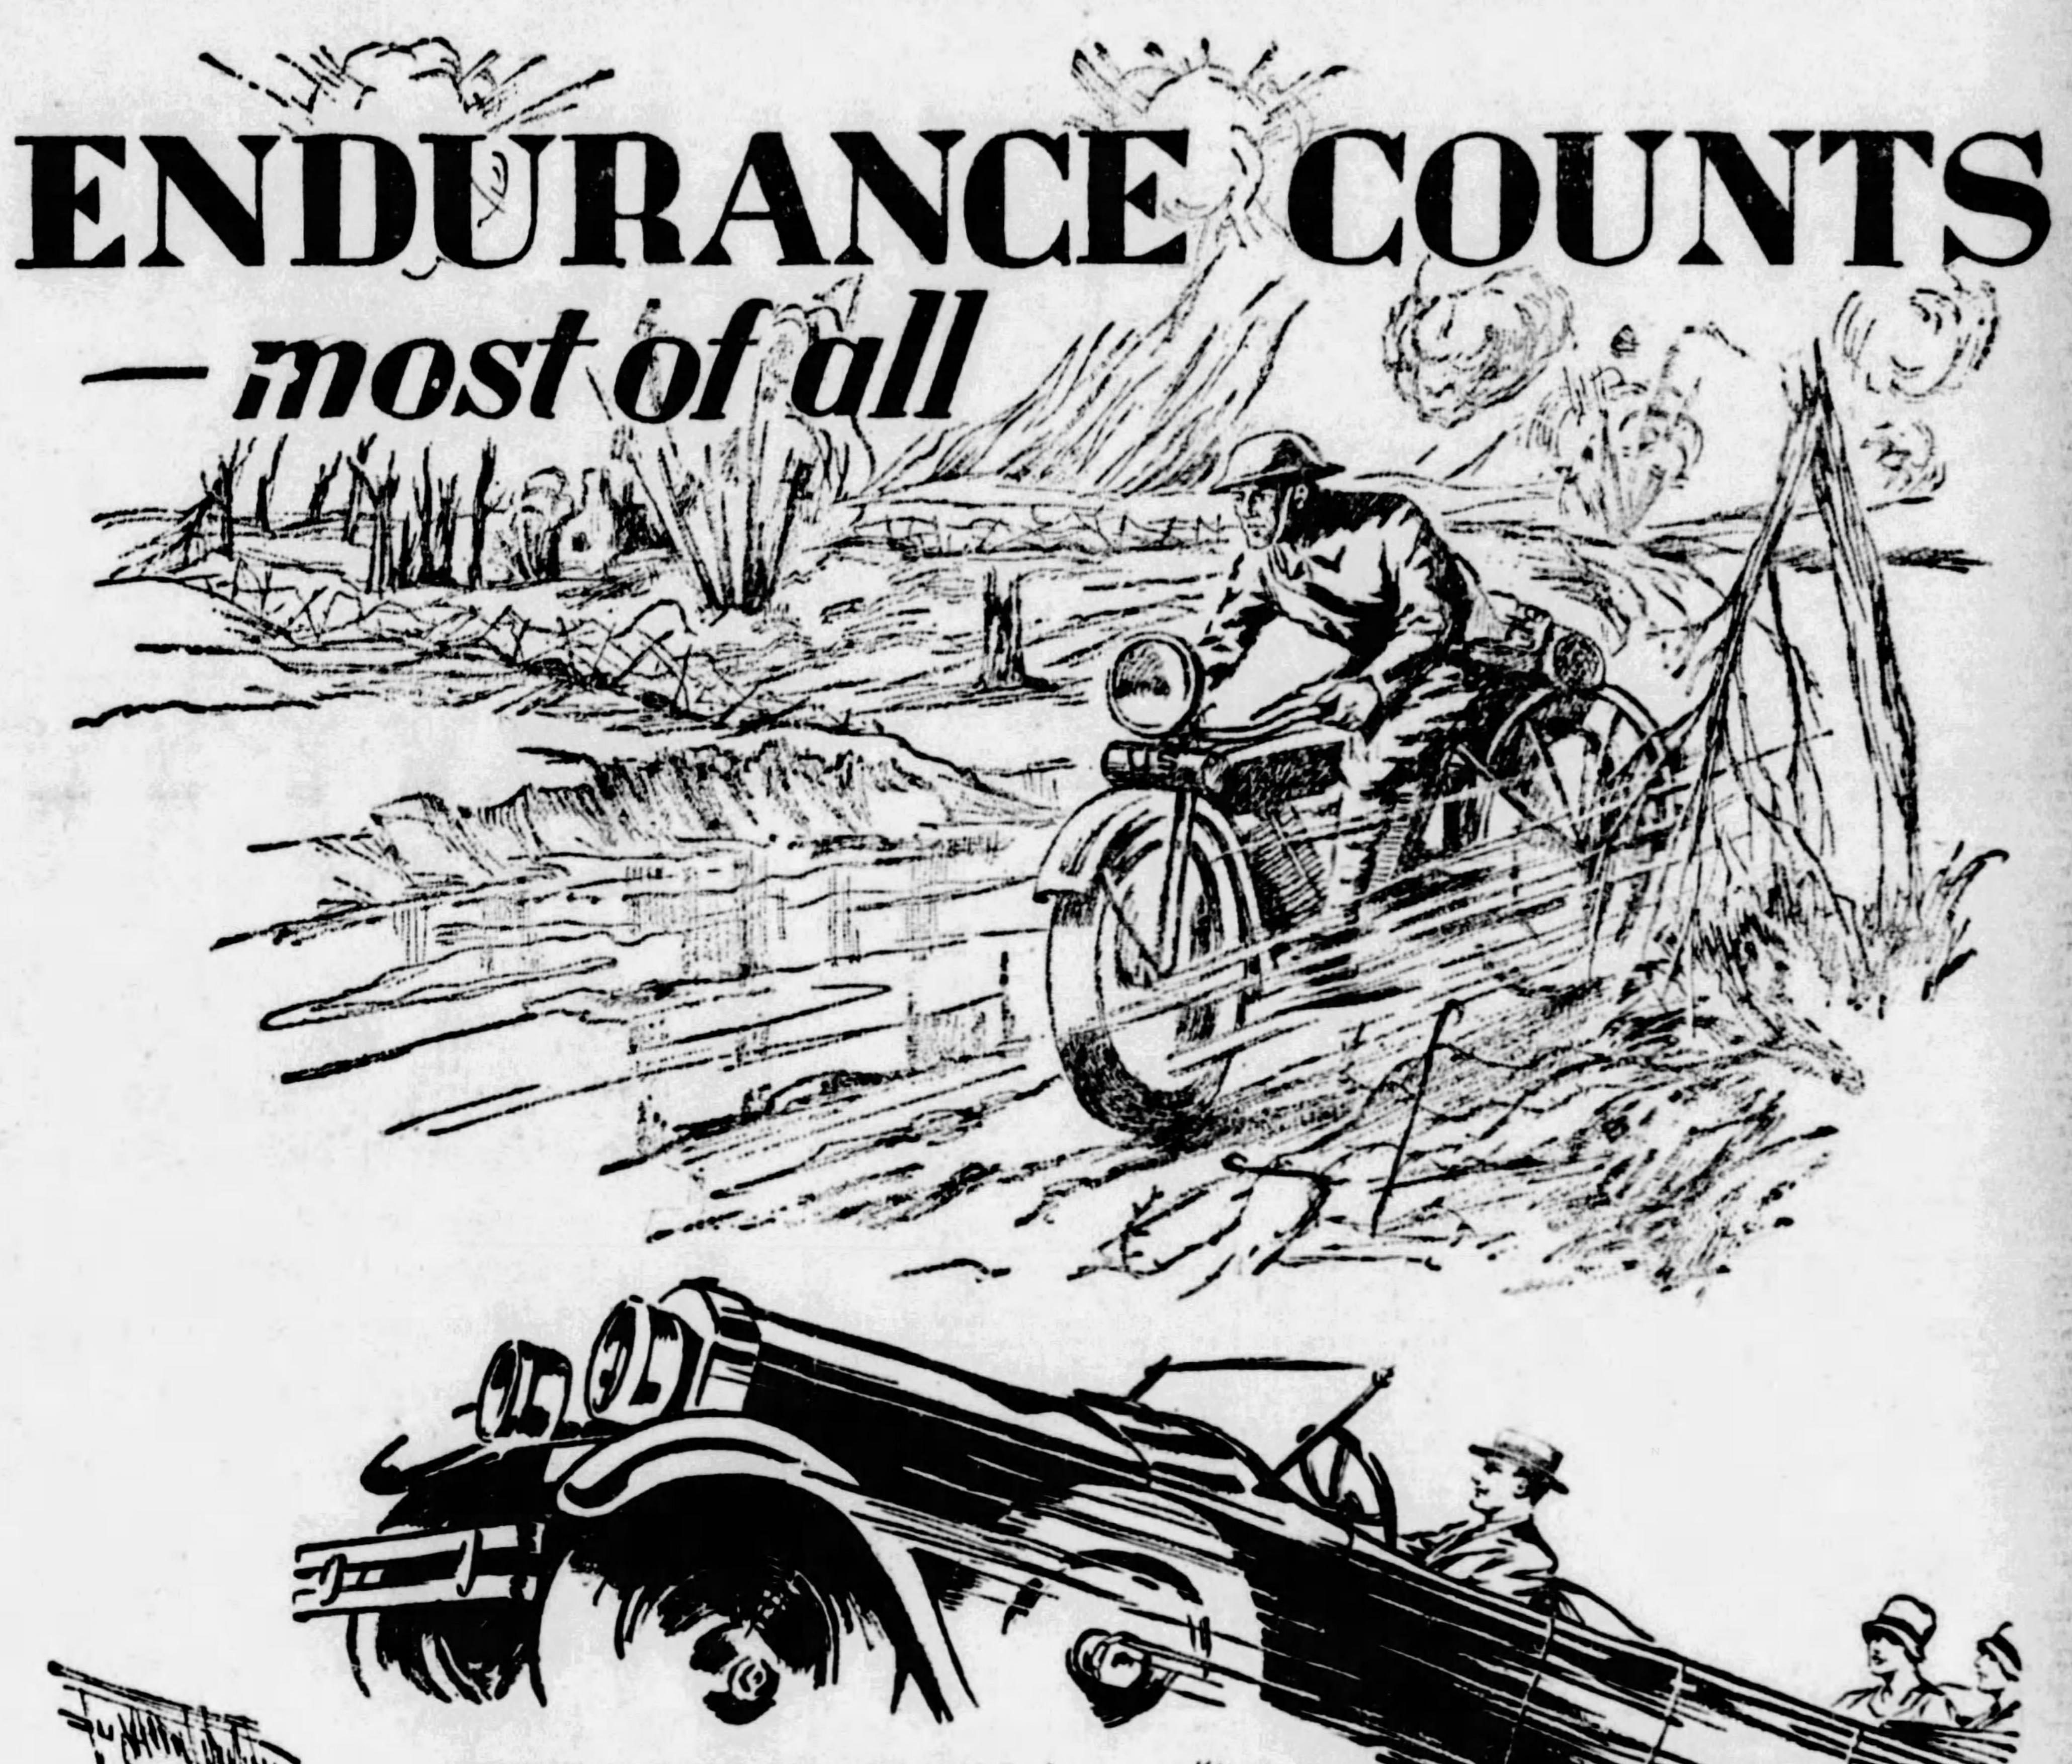
At Fall River, Mass.—Benny Carter won by technical knockout over Frankie Dundee, 4 rounds.

At Troy, N. Y.—Nick Testo knocked out Eddie Dempsey, 10 rounds.

At Buffalo—Freddie Mueller defeated Pete Petrolle, 10 rounds; Arture Sheckels defeated Joe Trippe, 6 rounds.

At Lynn, Mass.—Jack Britton defeated Mickey Sears, 10 rounds.

ENDURANCE COUNTS
—most of all



LUBRICATING ENDURANCE does not "happen." Waverly Oil's "long-wearing" ability is the result of extensive laboratory research and expert handling from "crude to curb."

We could tell you of the high premium that Waverly pays in order to select its crude from the finest wells in the world—we could describe Waverly's Exclusive Refining Process that removes every last trace of the non-lubricating elements or we could explain the rigid specifications and careful check-up that insures against substitution but nothing we could say is as convincing of Waverly's high quality as an actual trial in your own motor.

Waverly means ENDURANCE—mile after mile of care-free driving—year after year of motor youth. There is longer life in Waverly Motor Oil—use it—prove it to yourself.

This Plan Will Send Your City and Business Ahead.

By B. C. FORBES

MOST cities are keen to attract new industries, but are they equally keen in their support of them once they are attracted?

Is it not too often true that a business, like a prophet, is little honored locally? More than one manufacturer has told me that he gets less business from local and nearby territory than from the people in other sections.

Can anything be done to strengthen and develop your home-city enterprises?

"THE biggest result has been the one we least figured on," I have been told in city after city which has conducted aggressive community advertising.

"The effect upon our own people alone has been worth the price. The prominent presenting in the advertising pages of our local newspapers, as well as in national publications, of the different things our city could boast has given our own folks a new sense of pride in their community.

"It has stirred many of them to new enterprise. It has inspired them with fresh confidence in the city's future. It has stimulated interest in all civic matters.

"It has even caused a lot of stores and other establishments to spruce up."

READERS of this column were told recently of the success achieved by "Baltimore Products Week," during which practically every window in the business section was given over to the display of locally produced goods.

The crowds that were attracted astonished everybody. Sales immediately went up and the mental effect upon the people of Baltimore was greatly worthwhile.

WHAT was then written creates widespread interest.

Through the co-operation of John P. Mack, of the American City Bureau, which has worked with various chambers of commerce in this helpful line of activity, these facts have been obtained:

At Pittsburgh, under the title of "Pittsburgh Progress Week," the program included over 500 exhibits.

This was shortly followed at Detroit, where a "Let's Know Detroit" movement resulted in more than 2,500 displays.

Toledo, O., mustered 700 exhibits for "Toledo Achievement Week," which brought hearty commendation from nationally-known concerns who participated.

Such concerns as the Toledo Scale Company, Conklin Pen Company, Willys-Overland, Devilbiss Company, Champion Spark Plug, Electric Auto-Lite Company, Owens Bottle Company, Tillotson Company, American National Company and others all expressed great satisfaction with the program and congratulated the Chamber of Commerce on its management.

SAID C. C. Cobb, general manager of the Conklin Pen Company:

"Acquainting the people of a city with those products manufactured in that city is a very worthwhile thing to do because too frequently the pastures look greener elsewhere.

"Our company displayed several exhibits in downtown store windows and in some of them had employes actually engaged in manufacturing in order that passersby could see a practical demonstration of the work and care exercised."

EXPERIENCE has proved that it is essential that the exhibit be made on a decentralized basis, as there is too much expense and too meager an audience when a centralized exposition is held in a large armory or other spacious building, where the cost of rent for space, for constructing booths and other items invariably makes necessary a charge for admission.

With exhibits scattered throughout the city in store windows, bank lobbies, hotel lobbies and other suitable places, the crowds attracted are tremendously increased and the expense is reduced to the mere cost of transporting the exhibits to the display space, decorating them with suitable signs and later removing them.

Perhaps still more important is the fact that the co-operation of merchants who lend suitable display windows serves to create closer understanding between the retail and industrial manufacturing elements of the city and gives to each an opportunity to become more familiar with the other fellow's business methods and products.

OTHER cities that have conducted "achievement week" or "home products week" programs during recent months include Binghamton, N. Y.; Joliet, Ill.; Cincinnati, O.; Paterson, N. J.; Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Troy, N. Y.; Lansing, Mich.; Saginaw, Mich.; Flint, Mich.; Denver, Col., and Portsmouth, O.

SUPPORT home industries and home industries will support your city and send it ahead.

NEWS AND VIEWS

Market Tone Irregular.

Reactionary tendencies were in evidence in sertain sections of the market today, but the pronounced strength in copper stocks and some of the oils served to sustain the general tone. A few scattered specialties showed marked improvement, but as a rule stocks were for sale, especially the trading favorites in which the speculative movement had been concentrated for the past few sessions. Call loans were unchanged on the opening at 7½ per cent, but the money market was comfortable and observers were expecting an easier rate. The Street was inclined to disregard the money factor, but more conservative commentators continued to point out the unfavorable potentiality of the present excessive cost of carrying stocks. Steel common sold close to yesterday's high in the first hour, but dropped off later, and Hudson Motor, newest favorite in that division, broke back after making a strong start. While the oils and coppers maintained their group strength, there was nothing spectacular in their advances, their sponsors evidently feeling satisfied to hold them a little above yesterday's averages in the face of the recessions in other directions.

Despite calling of about $10,000,000 around the noon hour, money remained comfortable and by mid-afternoon the call rate receded to 7 per cent. Time funds showed no change with dates up to 90 days bringing 7½ per cent and the longer maturities quoted again at 7¼.

Coppers Move Higher.

Coppers were strong again today, reflecting the continued strength in the metal situation and the higher prices established in the trade during the past two business days. Leading authorities are not anxious to see the quotation for copper in any sensational advance, but their efforts for stability have met with increased buying from consumers, some of whom had delayed placing contracts for nearby requirements. As many dealers have sold all their copper for the next three or four weeks, it has been the bidding of users desirous of getting metal that has aided the situation.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Blaw-Knox Stock Split in October. Company Always a High Earner—Coal Volume Good, Adverse Factors Loom.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE capital stock of the Blaw-Knox Company will be split into more units in the near future. The directors have called a special meeting of stockholders, to be held on October 11, to ratify a change in the authorized capitalization from 360,000 shares of $25 par value to 1,500,000 shares without par value.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT of the details of distribution of the new stock has been made. One report is that the directors will give two shares of new stock for one of old. At present about 276,325 shares of old stock are outstanding.

Such a split would result in the distribution of only 552,650 shares of new stock, or slightly more than one-third of the authorized amount.

THE balance, according to the rumor, will be held in reserve to pay stock dividends in the future. The company has been liberal in this respect in the past. A stock dividend of 10 per cent was paid in January of this year. Other stock dividends of 60 per cent in 1924, 20 per cent in 1920 and 50 per cent in 1912 have been paid.

BLAW-KNOX stock is now on a $3 annual dividend basis. An extra dividend of 50 cents was paid last year in addition to the regular quarterly dividends.

The company has been showing a large margin of earnings in excess of dividends.

In the first half of this year net income was $691,864, or $2.50 a share. In the entire year of 1927 $1,352,026, or $5.20 a share, was earned.

BLAW-KNOX makes a remarkably wide range of products. Portable steel buildings, clam-shell buckets, road-building and cement-handling equipment, fabricated structural steel, furnace appliances and steel towers for transmission lines are included in its output.

The stock has been one of the most active on the local exchange. It closed yesterday at 121.

COAL operators have little complaint with the present volume of their business, but prices are still discouragingly low.

With the approach of winter weather some strength has been shown in lump coal, but this has been offset by a corresponding drop in other grades. The price yield per ton from mine run has shown little variation from its low point.

A FAVORABLE aspect of the future is that stock piles have been brought down to a normal level.

Industry and transportation have at last eaten up the surplus piled at the beginning of the strike. This surplus made the coal buyer a very independent proposition.

BUT against the elimination of stocks there are two adverse factors in the future. The lake trade will soon be brought to an end by winter. The signing of agreements in several districts increases the number of mines able to dig coal.

NO AGREEMENT has been made, but for all practical purposes the strike in this district is ended. Miners are plentiful at the existing non-union wage. Mines are still being picketed, but this offers little interference with operations.

THE Hillman Coal and Coke Company, which closed its union mines at the beginning of the strike and has since confined activities to open-shop districts, has made the first attempt to resume mining at former union workings. The Pike mine has started production. Only old employes are being given work.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company again established a new high record for nonunion production in this district. Last week 230,050 tons were loaded. This compared with a previous record of 220,309 tons in the week ended August 25.

LONE STAR GAS AT NEW HIGH ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

COLUMBIA MERGER TALK FORCES SHARES UPWARD

Lone Star Gas took the lead of the market at the start of business on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today and by the end of the first hour had pushed up to new high ground for all time.

Recent activity in Lone Star is in line with improvement in the oil and gas industry generally, but there are understood to be special factors bearing on Lone Star, among which are a rumored consolidation of the Lone Star properties with Columbia Gas and Electric. There have been various rumors as to just how this deal will be consummated and the street has heard several stories of purported exchanges bases, but to date there has been no official intimation as to what exchange will be made, assuming the ultimate success of the reported negotiations.

Lone Star issued new stock to the stockholders several months ago at $25 a share on the basis of one new share for each three held. There is enough unissued stock in the company's treasury to allow a generous stock dividend and some traders active in the stock over the past year or so are of the opinion that some such action may be taken. Lone Star's business this spring and summer has been better than at any time in its history. An evidence of this is the fact that in the month of July as well as August, the company operated at a profit for the first time in these two months.

In other quarters the market was rather quiet, but a steady price tone prevailed. The strength noted in First National Bank shares yesterday was seen again today when the stock moved up another 5 points on a small lot sale.

A wide assortment of stocks made steady progress during the morning and at midday nearly a score had entered new high territory. Wright Aero jumped 4 and Industrial Alcohol 3 points, while Granby extended its gain to nearly 3 points. Amusement shares joined the upturn, Warner Brothers issues and Keith-Albee advancing about 2 points. Call money held at 7½ per cent.

Blaw Knox failed to respond to the announcement of the contemplated splitup of the shares. The issue was very quiet with the price again holding around 120, the level to which it sagged followings last week's sensational rise to 125. Announcement of the capital change will be found in George H. Snyder's column, "Round Table of Business," in today's Sun-Telegraph.

The general list was rather quiet and prices showed only minor changes. Pittsburgh Brewing common sold again at 5 while the Arkansas stocks ranged around the prices at which they have been selling for a month. Glass stocks were quiet but prices held steady.

HEAVY SELLING TURNS STOCKS REACTIONARY

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—(AP.)—Heavy selling for both accounts turned the course of prices reactionary today after an early outburst of strength had carried more than a score issues to new high levels. Except for the calling of about $10,000,000 in loans, presumably in reflection of the semi-weekly adjustment by banks of their position at the Federal Reserve, there was nothing in the day's news to influence the selling movement. Brokers generally were inclined to regard the setback as a natural correction of a top-heavy speculative position.

Brokers reported that the belief had been growing in speculative circles that no serious reaction was likely before election day, although obviously there was nothing tangible on which such an opinion could be based. Thousands of small speculators have been attracted to the market in the hope of making quick profits. "Bear" traders, sensing an unhealthy market condition, began to hammer stocks around midday, being aided in their operations by the fact that the ticker had fallen 40 minutes or more behind the market.

So quick was the decline in some issues, and so late the tape, that prices on the floor, in some cases, were several points away from those appearing on the tape. When this information was circulated throughout the country over the private wires of brokers, selling pressure increased.

Montgomery Ward dropped from an early high of 258½ to 250. Murray Corporation dropped 10 points from its early high and Radio and Greene Cananea Copper sold 5 points below yesterday's final quotations. General Motors, Hudson, Atlantic Refining, Case Threshing, Pressed Steel Car preferred, Johns Manville and Rossia Insurance were among the many issues to dip 2 points or more.

Freeport Texas and Allied Chemical retained most of their early gains of 3 and 4 points, respectively.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—With no sales reported raw sugar was unchanged early today at 3.99c for spots, duty paid, with store sugars available at this level and bids of less probably acceptable in some quarters.

The raw sugar futures market opened at declines of 3 to 5 points with some of the active positions selling into new low ground for the season. The decline was due to renewed long liquidation, and to selling by houses with trade and Cuban connections promoted by continued slow demand in the spot market and the easier London cables. Shorts covered on the decline, and there was a partial rally, although the undertone was still unsettled with prices at midday about a point above the lowest and from 3 to 4 points below the previous close.

In refined the demand continues of a hand-to-mouth character with prices unchanged at 5:40c for fine granulated.

WESTINGHOUSE SERVES EVERYWHERE

1/200TH or 8000 horsepower

..Westinghouse quality pays power dividends

There are Westinghouse electric motors for driving delicate mechanisms that require only one two-hundredths horsepower — and Westinghouse motors for great machines that take 8,000 horsepower. In between, there are Westinghouse motors of all sizes and all kinds, for every job where there's a shaft to turn.

That's why Westinghouse can give you exactly the right motor for your work—whether it's shoe repairing or making steel—a motor that won't be overloaded or underloaded, a motor that will give you all the power you need at the lowest power cost.

And, after you get your motor, Westinghouse quality built into it and Westinghouse service available for it will keep it right—for ten, twenty, thirty years.

Robert H, Dake, of Pittsburgh, who recently was among the prize winners in the airplane "derby" from New York to Los Angeles, made his return trip profitable by winning the Los Angeles-Cincinnati flight for Class A airplanes, machines able to keep in the air all the time between official control stops. Dake's flying time between the California and Ohio cities was 25 hours, 16 minutes and 42 seconds, his exploit earning him a prize of $2,000 and the distinction of having successfully participated in two notable flights within a short period.

Dake is the first Pittsburgh man to raise aloft the torch left by Perry Rodgers, native of Pittsburgh, who was the first aviator to make a transcontinental flight, and for whom Rodgers Field is named. Rodgers flew alone in the summer of 1911. Dake was one of a number of competitors who started from New York and later from Los Angeles, and he was the first among eight finishers of the latter flight. That is one of the sign posts of the progress of aerial transportation in 17 years. Try to picture that in the next 17 years.

A Cheerful Swede

And a Brave Man.

THIS IS CAPTAIN LUNDBORG.

The whole world has read about Lundborg, the brave Swede, who flew to the Far North, landed his plane on the dangerous, broken ice and carried Gen. Nobile to safety.

That should have been enough achievement in one man's life, but it wasn't enough for the Swede, Lundborg.

Having saved Nobile, he immediately flew back, tried another "impossible" landing, smashed up his plane and found himself buried in the Arctic, in place of the man he had saved.

This is printed to show you how a brave man takes things calmly.

Stranded, his machine smashed beyond mending, with little or no hope of being rescued, Lundborg, the Swede, settles down cheerfully, smiles, lights his pipe and waits to see what will turn up. He's the man in front, in the picture.

It is the spirit shown by many other Swedes, a race often misunderstood in this country.

It is the spirit that carried Charles the Twelfth with a handful of men through Poland and Russia, on to Turkey. It is the spirit that made Charles defy the whole Turkish power, Sultan, army and all, lock himself in his house and threaten to set fire to it to burn himself up rather than surrender.

A good Swede is a good friend, good fighter, brave man. Lundborg proves it, although no proof was necessary.

Poor Lady Cynthia

One Rose Leaf Is Crumpled.

Lady Cynthia Mosley, granddaughter of Levi Leiter, of Chicago, daughter of the late Lord Curzon, viceroy of India, is a Socialist and tried to be a Labor Member of Parliament. Her husband, who will be the sixth baronet Mosley, IS a labor member, and Lady Mosley says she wants to be called plain "Mrs." All very fine and democratic.

But there's a fly in the ointment, a crumpled rose leaf in the mattress. Lady Cynthia says society cuts her because she is a Socialist-Laborite.

That is an interesting illustration of what Charles Fourier calls the "cabalistic" passion.

You may study it at Newport and Cowes, among savages with their mysterious initiations, and among children, with their secret clubs.

No one knows the heart pain of miserable, foolish women trying to get "in society."

It is only equaled by the boredom of those who are in, and forever peeking out, in search of something amusing.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Is the Earth So Lonely?

IT IS rather difficult to understand the opinion said to have been expressed by Prof. H. D. Curtis, of the Allegheny Observatory, that "it is quite possible that the earth is the only planet on which life exists, and that man, as the highest expression of life, may therefore stand as the somewhat lonesome monarch of the firmament."

No doubt some representatives of the race of man feel that they are monarchs of the firmament, but a little reflection on known facts ought to convince them that their attitude resembles that of the peacock, or the turkey gobbler, dominating the barnyard. The earth is a very small barnyard, even when measured by the scale of this little solar system of ours, so that the peacock with its tail spread looks truly impressive amidst the humbler denizens of the place.

But we know, on one hand, that the universe contains thousands of millions of suns, the majority of them probably larger than ours, and, on the other hand, that in every investigation we invariably find the elements constituting the physical basis of life present in all parts of the universe.

I have no doubt that some day, when telescopes become powerful enough, we shall be able to see planets revolving around some of the other suns. At present we can only infer their existence from the general uniformity of nature. The argument which has been advanced that, on the "planetesimal" theory, the chances are almost infinitely small that any star should have planets attending it, only reacts against that theory itself. Great numbers of stars have satellities so large that they can be detected visually and by the effects of their attraction. Most of these shine like smaller suns attending larger ones. Some of them, however, show no light, just as if, like true planets, they had passed out of the luminous stage of their existence.

Even our sun has one planet—Jupiter—huge enough to have been visible from a distant part of space, when it was in the incandescent state, like a small, secondary sun, attending ours. The surface of Jupiter is about a hundredth of that of the sun, so that when it was as hot as the sun it would have had a stellar magnitude only five steps below the sun's.

To be sure, the earth is the only one among the eight principal planets revolving around the sun that we absolutely know possesses inhabitants, but there are fair reasons for thinking that Mars and Venus may also be inhabited. No one would expect that all planets should bear life of just the same kind, or simultaneously; but surely if even only one in eight of the sun's planets is the abode of life, common sense teaches that the chances in favor of the existence of life in many of the millions of planetary bodies that the plainest analogy justifies us in supposing to be circling around other suns, are practically certain.

It is largely due to the assumption that man is the only creature cared for by the Almighty that the idea of the loneliness of the earth as an abode of intelligent life has arisen. If astronomical investigations showed the rest of the universe to be different in its composition and its laws from the earth, or from the solar system, that assumption might appear less unreasonable; but all of our studies agree in showing that the universe is one in substance and one in causation and action.

PERIODICALLY we are presented with trick remedies to get rid of mosquitoes. This time it is the proposal for the control of the pest by the importation of "cannibal" mosquito alleged to have been recently discovered in France.

The scientists of the Department of Agriculture say there is no scientific basis for believing in the existence of a cannibal type of mosquito. It is apparently a myth built out of a casual report from a doctor in the French colonial army service in Africa.

Five years ago the bat roost was offered to end the mosquito plague. Bats live on mosquitoes when they can find them. The bat roost was a patented pyramidal box studded with shelves for the sleeping bats to hang from in the daytime.

At night they were to sally forth and clean up the mosquitoes; then return to their roosts and produce enough guano to make the bat roosts a paying proposition, according to the inventor.

The Department of Agriculture says that the suffering public must continue to rely on such known measures as abolishing mosquito breeding places, screening rainwater barrels, tanks and cisterns, treating pools and ponds with low-grade kerosene oil, etc.

Price of Success

WHEN you are tempted to complain that you have not been given a square deal in life have you ever considered the good breaks you have enjoyed?

You might have made more of yourself if you had been willing to make a sacrifice, but you could not see it.

Isn't this a fact?

You have not made every effort possible to improve your condition.

As you look back can you not see where harder work, more study, more serious concentrated endeavor might have landed you higher?

It is bad to realize that it is your own fault that you are not farther advanced, but it is worse to know that fundamentally you were unwilling to work hard enough.

Others were not only willing but eager to work as hard as need be, to succeed.

They denied themselves pleasures, such as you enjoyed, at a time when strict attention to the main object meant much to them.

You could not see the necessity, or you were too weak to resist.

Now, you find yourself out of the race and having a great struggle to keep up with the tail-enders.

You must continue your efforts.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Desire

WHAT brings the soldier to a throne,
The beggar to renown.
What drives man on to claim his own,
Be it a sword, a crown?

What is this strange, resistless force
No power can oppose,
That, sweeping on its changeless course,
Still deeper, greater grows?

To reach the goals they love so well
Brave spirits must aspire
Through this most pure and potent spell,
The magic of desire!

Always it gleams along their road
With white, undying fire,
A lure, a lantern and a goad,
The magic of desire!

Great Passages from the Bible

The Book of Jonah

Chapter I—Jonah's Great Adventure.

NOW the word of the Lord came unto Jonah and son of Amittai, saying, Arise, go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it; for their wickedness is come up before me.

But Jonah rose up to flee unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord, and went down to Joppa; and he found a ship going to Tarshish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them unto Tarshish from the presence of the Lord.

But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man unto his god, and cast forth the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them. But Jonah was gone down into the sides of the ship; and he lay, and was fast asleep.

So the shipmaster came to him, and said unto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us, that we perish not.

And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is upon us. So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

Then said they unto him, Tell us, we pray thee, for whose cause this evil is upon us: What is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? what is thy country? and of what people art thou?

And he said unto them, I am an Hebrew; and I fear the Lord, the God of heaven, which hath made the sea and the dry land.

Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said unto him, Why hast thou done this? For the men knew that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them.

Then said they unto him, What shall we do unto thee, that the sea may be calm unto us? for the sea wrought, and was tempestuous.

And he said unto them, Take me up, and cast me forth into the sea; so shall the sea be calm unto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you.

Nevertheless the men rowed hard to bring it to the land; but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was tempestuous against them.

Wherefore they cried unto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let us not perish for this man's life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

So they took up Jonah, and cast him forth into the sea: and the sea ceased from her raging.

Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows.

Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonah. And Jonah was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

I RECKON it's true that there is a lot of grief among new married couples about cooking. They say the man generally does the best he can, and smiles and grins, and acts as if he didn't mind the biscuits, until the bad cooking gets the best of his stomach, and then he begins to get cranky. That's when the trouble starts and he starts to telling the truth about the biscuits.

I heard about a guy that married a writing woman. She gave up her career to marry him and make him comfortable, so he tried to appreciate. But one day she brought in a terrible looking thing that was several stories high and kind of caved in on one side.

He says, "What do you call this thing, darling?"

"Why," she says, "that there is a cocoanut cake."

He didn't say anything for quite a while. And then he says, "Say, Angeline, I think you got too much imagination to be wasting it on cooking. You ought to go back to writing, and we'll hire a cook. Anybody that calls that there a cake can write darn good fiction."

Not What He Meant

THEY were sitting together in the moonlight.

"And," whispered the girl bravely—"and if poverty does come, Cecil, we will face it together!"

The reckless youth pressed her to him fiercely.

"Dearest," he replied, "the sight of your face would scare the wolf away!"

Ever since he has wondered why she returned his ring.

New York Day by Day
O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The metropolis is a perfect hide-away for innumerable women from all over America who, suddenly thrown upon their own resources, seek protection of the city's immensity to rebuild their lives. New York is never questioning. A past is of little interest.

Most of these women have been deserted by their husbands. Out of a clear sky, in many instances, they find themselves homeless, penniless and faced with the problem of supporting children. Some men are that way, and it is estimated there are 50,000 such deserted wives in the city.

They open small tea rooms, canvass from door to door, serve as governesses, cafe cashiers and follow other occupations requiring no long training. They form an army of shabby gentility for nearly all have seen better days.

There are few cities where helping hands are so quickly extended to struggling women as this. A hundred and one different charity societies are formed to ameliorate the unhappy plight of mothers left suddenly with broods to face the world.

Employers have found such women are a little more inclined to appreciate jobs than younger women merely trying to find a place for themselves until they marry. A list of deserted wives who have met success here would be quite amazing.

One deserted wife sent two daughters through fashionable schools from her profits in selling lingerie at doors of stage dressing rooms. Another built up a large importing business. Several others succeeded in establishing chains of restaurants.

Welfare workers at terminal stations report an average of 10 deserted wives arrive in New York daily with absolutely no asset save indomitable courage. They are chiefly women past middle age and of obvious refinement.

Professional dog thieves work in pairs and make handsome profits. After stealing a dog, they await the inevitable lost ad in newspapers. Then one calls and informs the owner he has seen a dog answering a description of the lost pet at a certain address. The owner calls, is told the animal just wandered in, reclaims it and the rascals share the reward. Courts show dog thieves little mercy.

New York is calloused to the spectacle of tipsy young girls in public. In almost any cafe at night they come in buoyantly bunned, usually with escorts, but sometimes just wandering about alone and for no good purpose. Their manner is saucy. Waiters prefer men with obstinate jags to a cock-eyed flapper. She does not know what she wants but wants it in a hurry or somebody is going to get a piece of her mind.

I wonder if telegraph office clerks are thoughtful or merely saving time when some embarrassed author of a lovey-dovey night letter hands them the message and they count the words backward.

* * *

It is funny how when most of us hand in an important telegram we have a feeling the clerk does not consider it important whatever and may not even send it. There is an inclination after we leave to go back and stress just how important it is.

* * *

As an adorer of frankness, I enjoyed overhearing a rather vixenish dowager introducing a tituppy gentleman trotting along doglike behind her to a lady friend. "This is my husband," she said and snapped: "He's a perfect fool."

* * *

A smart idea in that for a Frankness League. Why not describe the person we introduce? People should be warned when meeting congenial idiots. Or the fellow who wants to tell you about his trip to Europe.

The Williamstown Institute

By DR. FRANK CRANE

An Institute of Politics recently met at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass. Some 200 or more college professors, editors, diplomats, army and navy officers and others interested in foreign affairs attended.

A Turkish feminist, Halide Edib, lectured on affairs in Turkey.

Although this meeting was entirely unofficial it was significant none the less.

It always helps when people of different nations and races get together and talk things over.

There have been a good many sneers at "Just talk," but talk is an innocent outlet. The more you talk the less you fight. When people meet together and compare ideas they find that their differences are not so great after all.

This Institute has discussed such questions as the League of Nations, reparations, war debts, Bolshevism in Russia and Fascism in Italy.

It has been a good thing to get these questions out in the open and air them. Any one of them contained the seed of war if it had been smothered.

Almost any idea can become septic and dangerous if it is only kept bottled up.

When a Bolshevist, or any other wild-eyed performer, shows signs of functioning, it is a good thing to get him on a soap box in the public square, or hire him and let him orate to his heart's content. His gas, spent in the open air, is speedily diffused, and hurts nobody, whereas if he were locked up in a cell the popular imagination would speedily make a menace of him.

By talking a thing over publicly we soon get tired of it. Most important issues that were once subjects of furious debate have disappeared because people were bored.

Very few of the great issues in church and state have ever been settled. The audience simply got sleepy and left.

If such meetings as this Institute and others had not talked over the Dawes Plan, the Lausanne Treaty and other hotly argued subjects, they might have plunged Europe into another war and destroyed Western civilization.

By all means let us talk. Only the dumb are dangerous. Everybody wants to fight a person who will not say anything. If a man has reasons for his conduct you can bring up counter reasons, but if he will give no reason at all the only alternative is to sock him.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By LEOLA ALLARD.

A NEW YORK banker says he has to go without all fattening foods because his wife is dieting. The only things permitted on what he laughingly calls his table are things that will not make fat.

The banker, dining at the home of a friend the other night, ate four helpings of mashed potatoes. He said it was orgy for him. He told why.

But, of course, there is this to be said of it: his diet is improving his wife's figure immeasurably.

Dr. Alex Hershfield, Illinois state alienist, says that the excessive desire for approval is strongly imbedded in the male. That men are quite as vain as women.

It must have been news. The papers all printed it. But it was news to men only. If women didn't know that they wouldn't know where their next month's diamonds were coming from.

A Los Angeles woman gets a divorce by telling the court that her husband took her to gin parties and then spanked her and locked her in the garage for drinking. The court said if he took her to such parties he was automatically registering his approval of her drinking.

Sometimes men don't "take" wives to gin parties. They don't even want them to go, but they don't want to miss the party, and so it comes about that they both arrive.

Another coast wife divorced her husband for giving her rubber checks. That's a new way of never refusing "the little woman" anything.

A sheepherder of Idaho and his genial, healthy, contented wife have had 17 children. Seven are living, the oldest 17. They had four pairs of twins and a set of triplets. Their name is Stranger—Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stranger.

They have the Christian spirit. Whenever they see a little stranger they take him in.

Fewer persons are marrying in New York, and the writers of editorials say that if the new legislation that makes marriage more difficult prevents unions among persons who should not marry, everything is all well and good. If the result is to discourage or prevent proper marriages, and to encourage illegal unions, the laws are unsound.

The real idea back of all this is that women are becoming so independent they can look after themselves and they don't marry merely in order to dress well and eat regularly. It's only the natural outgrowth of these "equal rights" they keep woofing about. The final result, a hundred years from now, certainly will be interesting. The general idea, and probably the right one, is that women only think that's what they want.

From London comes the news that summer muffs for ladies are provided with an aluminum box filled with salt and ice, to keep the lady's hands cool. "American men," says the New York American, "have known for a long time about the chilly mitten." It then suggests that New England will probably furnish the news that the ladies are massaging their shoulders with ice—"and that will not be news, either."

But being a woman, I arise to remark that what we all have, in these days of matrimonial failure, is cold feet. Male editorial writers please note.

A lady went into a man's store to buy some ties. Said the clerk: "Now, these here ties are nice, prefur-a-ble, I'd say, to the others." And she took "the others."
